NOW AND THEN

NOW AND THEN
A VAGABOND SONG

By Bliss Carmen

There is something in the autumn that is native to my blood—
Touch of manner, hint of mood;
And my heart is like a rhyme,
With the yellow and the purple and the crimson keeping time.

The scarlets of the maples can shape
me like a cry
Of bugles going by.
And my lonely spirits thrills
To see the frosty asters like a smoke upon the hills.

There is something in October sets the gypsey blood astir.
We must rise and follow her
When from every hill of flame
She calls and calls each vagabond by name.

Goodby summer, Goodby. When the eastern storm began to blow one knew that she had gone. Not many years ago Melba sang it on the Victrolor. "Goodby summer", and at the end of the song her lovely voice ended with a sob.

September has come with her Labor day which is regarded as a rest day, but perhaps one of the most strenuous of all in the race for pleasure and amusement.

Then the school bell rings which tells the teacher and the pupils that they must go to work.

And the college opens and the students from the schools and college are seen on the streets sunbrowned from their out door life, during vacation.

Yes Summer is over, and the housewife is busy canning and preserving. The grapes are hanging in purple clusters on the vines, and the ripened fruit is being gathered. It will always be remembered, this summer of 1937 as a season of abundant rains and harvests, and taking it altogether a very pleasant one.

The old building which occupied the space where the new fire house it to be built, has had several locations in our memory. As we remember it first it occupied the south west part of the present college campus. Here for years it stood, the home of Mr. White. A good pasturing had Mr. White's old horse those days, feeding on the luscious grass of the Campus. But finally the college bought the land so the house had to be moved, and has stood by the Ford Garage for a long time. But now it has been demolished, and the new building will soon take its place.

How the College has grown! Not so long ago in Dr. Titsworth time the new Athletic Field was added, then the other buildings north of the Campus and now the Flat Iron has been bought. Soon other buildings will be erected, making this one College on the Eastern Shore, one of which to be proud.

Flint, Michigan, a very progressive town, the home of many automobile factories disposes of its garbage in the old fashioned way. The city buys quantities of hogs. These are carefully selected, and then vaccinated. All house holders are warned not to put any other trash in their garbage, which is taken out and fed to the hogs. Of course they need careful watching. If any seem sick they are at once removed, and they really lose very few of them. Of course they have vast open spaces in which to raise them and they find that it is a profitable business.

THE SKIES

The heavens have been more beautiful than usual this summer. Great white cumulous clouds are seen piled up in the sky their whiteness making the blueness more noticeable by contrast. Then in the early evening the stars have been very bright, their rays, especially Jupiter the evening star, seeming to reach down to us. One is reminded of that sweet story. "The Childs Dream of a Star," written by Charles Dickens when the star is shining. And the comet, too, though few saw it with the naked eye, added many to the list of star gazers.

Below is one stanze of that matchless poem of Shelly's, The Cloud.

THE CLOUD

I bring fresh showers for the thirsting flowers,
From the seas and streams:
I bear light shade for the leavse when laid
In their noontied dreams.
From my wings are shaken the dews that waken
The sweet birds every one
When rocked to rest on their mother's breast,
As she dances in the sun,
I wield the flail of the lashing hail,
And whiten the green plain under
And then again I dissolve in rain;
And laugh as I pass in thunder.

Language Spoken in Afghanistan

The language spoken in Afghanistan is Pashto or Pakhto (there are several other pronunciations in various tribes). It is a Hindu-Persian language written in Arabic characters, with three letters peculiar to Pashto. Persian is spoken by educated Afghans.

Scientists Always Busy

Our country can probably boast of no more courageous a set of heroes than her gallant men who bend over her laboratory test tubes, says Hygeia, the Health Magazine. The sword of science is at constant duel with the physical demons that plague mankind.

Roman Floors Good

Near Holy Bones street in Leicester, England, the cellars of some of the houses have mosaic floors dating from Roman times, while at Aldborough, Yorkshire, a Roman mosaic pavement can be seen in the floor of a local resort.

Volcanic countries have some advantage over other countries and one of them is the hot springs. It is easy to go to them to cook a fish caught in a neighboring stream, or to boil eggs, while the washer women go to them, loaded with the week's washing, to plunge it in the boiling water.

Reykjavik the capital of Iceland has her name because it means smoky city. In those high northern latitude the need of coal is imperative, and the smoke meeting the icy winds falls, making it any thing but agreeable to the inhabitants. Now the Icelanders have decided to tap these geysers and hot springs, and use them to heat the huoses and shools. Already the work has begun on the schools and they hope to have it fininshed before long. Then perhaps they will have to change the name of their city.

An American is penetrating Ethiopia, a privilege that is allowed to few outside of the Italians. What strikes him most of all is that the country is still unconquered. There is a great deal of skirmshing going all the time, and Italian air planes are hovering above to spy out the land and drop their bombs where they see the Ethiopians intrenched.

Maud Adams, the one time popular actress, is still going strong, not as an actress, for the years have added pounds to her figure, but in teaching others to follow in her artistic steps.

Just now, she is engaged at Stephens College, Columbus, Mo. She is only to teach there two months, and gets 10,000 dollars for that time besides her living expenses.

Then she goes to some other institution to receive another stipend.

Dr. Charles Sharp is going to establish a school this fall for men and women over 70 years. He says that the learning capacity by no means is less as one grows older if they keep their minds active. One man of 90 years has taken up French this winter.

Dr. Sharp himself is 78 years old, and he finds his learning capacity still good. This school begins at 1 p. m. and closes at 5 p. m. We are anxious to know the number who attend this school.

ISSUE RULES FOR OYSTER PACKERS

Rigid Packing Regulations Assure Clean Product

In preparation for the oyster season, notices were sent in August, from the State Department of Health, to packers and others engaged in the oyster business in Maryland calling their attention to requirements which must be met in order that their products may conform to State and Federal regulations, and their establishments may be duly certified.

In explanation, Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, said that the sanitary supervision of the oyster industry is under the charge of the Bureau of Food and Drugs, of which Mr. A. L. Sullivan is Chief. "After due inspection by representatives of that Bureau", Dr. Riley continued, "certificates are issued by the State Department of Health to concerns that are equipped and operated in compliance with State and Federal regulations.

"The cretificates must be renewed annually. They may be withdrawn at any time for failure to conform to the sanitary requirements. Early application for renewal is requested, in order that inspections may be made without avoidable delay. Approximately 230 firms met the requirements and were granted certificates during the season of 1936-1937".

Emphasis was placed upon the following requirements in the notices sent to the oyster concerns:

SHUCKING, packing and storage rooms must be maintained in a clean condition.

UTENSILS, tanks, blowers, etc., must be thoroughly cleaned daily. Someone must be held responsible for the supervision of this cleaning.

HOT WATER, in ample quantities must be available at all times when establishments are operating. Water should be piped to tanks and blowers and not delivered by rubber hose.

SHUCKING BUCKETS must be of sanitary construction. A substantially made galvanized oyster bucket or pail which cannot be nested on the benches is satisfactory.

PACKING ROOMS must be free from surplus material so that they can be washed down and cleaned daily.

IF PLANTS are operated during the fly season, the oysters must be protected from contamination. Screening will probably be found necessary.

Attention of those who re-pack oysters was also directed to the need for a more satisfactory type of returnable container. The use of a standard milk can and of other cans of sanitary construction is permissible. If returnable cans are used, they must be washed and then sterilized with live steam. The cleaned cans must be stored in such a way that they will not be contaminated.

Cheese is known abroad by its vintage, the same as wine. There are good cheese years and ordinary.

Dr. Miles NERVINE "Did the work" says Miss Gilvar
WHY DON'T YOU . TRY IT?

After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Gilvar used Dr. Miles Nervine which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

If you suffer from "Nerves." If you lie awake nights, start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order.

Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

At Drug Stores 25c and $1.00.
