TO MARJORIE

Well Marjorie dear, we're here to-night to greet you with acclaim,
And hope the joys we wish for you will e'er remain the same
As when in future years you'll meet with life's illusive way,
Which sure will bear you to the goal—a happy wedding day
This RING which we present to you will e'er remind you when
Your sire had won your mother's love-the prize for which all men
Are ever mindful of the peace that thrills a youthful life,
When it has found supreme delight in a kind and loving wife.
So Marjorie to wear ,this ring of course,
Of course to you must be a prize to you must be a prize,
A jewel which in memory you will always idolize.
A mother's love, a father's joy attend this precious gift
And trust the tribute ever will your aspiraions lift.
Of this your sixteenth birthday, dear, of course you'll ne'er forget
The friends who have assembled here and this your amulet
Keep it through life-hold it supreme of all things on the earth;
A talisman reminding you of her who gave you birth.

THOSE FALL COLDS

Here are some suggesions from Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health as to ways of warding off between-season colds.

Number One: Keep comfortably warm. Avoid sudden chilling. Dress according to the weather—don't bother about the calendar. When the cold, chilly days come, don't feel that you are coddling yourself when you wear a sweater, or a top coat or a warm comfortable wrap. If you are caught in a drenching rain, change as soon as possible to warm, dry clothes, and dry shoes and stockings. If you are a householder, don't wait until freezing weather comes to start your fires. Keep your rooms at a moderate temperature.

Number Two: Eat nourishing food. Avoid rich mixtures. Eat your meals at regular hours. Include milk or other dairy products and plenty of fruit in your diet. Don't forget to drink several glasses of water every day.

Number Three: Don't go where people are coughing or sneezing.

Number Four: If, in spite of all reasonable precautions—you find yourself coming down with a cold, don't fight it. Give in to it. Go to bed, eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and stay in bed until you are sure you are better, or until your doctor says you may get up. Don't wait until you are seriously ill to send for your doctor. Send for him promptly, follow his advice and you will be less likely to have unfavorable after-effects than you will if you let your cold drag on.

ON THE SCREEN AT THE NEW LYCEUM

Sylvia Sidney and Joel McCrea in Samuel Goldwyn's production of "Dead End," released through United Artists.

Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett wil lbe seen for the first time in Technicolor in "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1938," the spectacular musical comedy which comes on Monday and Tuesday, November 1 and 2 to the New Lyceum Theatre.

Offering a glimpse of next year's fashions in girls, gags, gowns, love, songs and dances, this merry store of Manhattan centers around the romance of New York's leading couturier, played by Baxter, and a charming debutante, played by Joan, who jilts a millionaire (Alan Mowbray) on her wedding day to become a mannequin.

Also featured in the cast are Helen Vinson, as Baxter's selfish, stagestruck wife; Mischa Auer, as a penniless Russian prince; Jerome Cowan as the shady theatrical producer who stars Helen in a flop show that it takes Baxter'se last cent to back; and those goregous Walter Wanger Models, "the most photographed girls in the world."

Other prominent names are Marjorie Gateson, Alma Kruger, Dorothy McNulty, Polly Rowles and an imposing lineup of internationally famous stage and nightclub entertainers.

The film introduces several tuneful new song hits, including "That Old Feeling," "Lovely One" and "Red Hot Heat."

"Walter Wagner's Vogues of 1938" was directed by Irving Cummings for release through Unit Artists.

Twenty-four hours of throbbing life in a city street, paved with riches and poverty, comedy and tragedy, romance and heart-aches, thunders across the screen in Samuel Goldwyn's production of "Dead End," which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, November 3 and 4.

Sylvia Sidney and Joel McCrea are starred at the head of a great cast in this powerful human story based on the stage hit by Sidney Kingsley as produced by Norman Bel Geddes, which set records in its Broadway run and then was cheered from Coast to Coast.

Miss Sidney has her greatest role as Drina, the girl who valiantly fought a losing battle to keep her little brother Tommy from the gangster's fate ahead of him and to raise them both out of the slums.

Great Cast

McCrea is seen as Dave, the poor architect she loved, who dreamed of tearing down all the tenements in the world, and loved the beautiful Kay, played by Wendy Barrie, who had found a way out of the slums into penthouse luxury.

Humphrey Bogart plays "Baby Face Martin," the killer, drawn back from his gangland haunts to the slum where he was spawned, by an irresistible yearning to see his mother and his boyhood sweetheart, Fancey, once more—who faced the cold steel of the G-men's bullets, all to find that his mother hated the very sight of him and that Francey had taken life the easiest way.

Claire Trevor plays Francy, Allen Jenipines is seen as Hunk, "Baby Face's" henchman, and Billy Halop, Gabriel Dell, Hobby Jordan, Huntz Hall, Leo Gorcey and Bernard Punsley the Dead End kids from the original New York stage cast, are seen again in their unforgettable characterizaions of Tommy, "T. B.," "Angel," "Dippy," "Spit," and Milty. Others prominent in the cast are Marjorie Main, Charles Peck, Minor Watson, James Burke, Ward Bond and Elizabeth Risdon. William Wyler directed "Dead End" from Lillian Hellman's screen-play.

The sets, chief of which is the "dead end" slum street, where he fashionable apartmnets brush against the tenements of the waterfront, were designed by Richard Day. The costumes were created by Omar Kiam. The photography is credited to Gregg Toland.

"Dead End" is released through United Artists.

M. K. Jerome and Jack Scholl, who wrote the popular ditty "Little Buckeroo," recently turned their hands to "seat" songs with college flavor for Warner Bros.' "Over the Goal," the collegiate comedy that shows on Friday and Saturday, November 5 and 6 at the New Lyceum Theatre.

Johnnie "Scat" Davis, formerly with Fred Waring's Pennsylvanias and now on studio contract, sings two of their numbers in the new picture. One is called "As Easy as Rollin' Off a Log," and the other, "Scattin' with Mr. Bear."

Johnnie also does a bit of trumpeting in "Over the Goal," as he did in the recently- released "Varsity Show" with Waring and Dick Powell. In the new picture are William Hopper and June Travis as romantic leads, Gordon Oliver, Willard Parker and other favorites, including the Southern California football team.

Gene Autry, by his unparalleled popularity in the western film field, has won for himself the title "Public Cowboy No. 1." In honor of this distinction, Republic has named his latest photoplay with this cognomen. "Public Cowboy No. 1" will show on Friday and Saturday, November 5 and 6 at The New Lyceum Theatre.

NEWS OF ROCK HALL HIGH SCHOOL

Again Rock Hall has found victory in both soccer and fieldball games. Traveling to Galena our boys defeated their opponents. Three goals by Bobby Strong and one by Christopher Grant rolled up the score to 8-0. Our girls also pulled through at a 17-1 victory with goals made by Mae enthusiastic is sometimes slightly confused. To prove it: Miss Willis, during a strenuous Math class, asked one Mench, Blanche Dowling, and Nita Lussier. The wind prevented much action and caused many fumbled passes. Last week's game against Chestertown has been postponed until the following Thursday 28th.

Class officers have been chosen to control the Senior and Junior classes. They are as follows: Seniors, Walter Parsons, pres. Dorothy Anne Skirven, treasurer, Blanche Dowling, Secretary. Juniors, Betty Lussier, Pres., Ida Whaland, treas. and Betty Shriely, sec,

Gold belt buckles can be seen flashing at many a Junior's waist this week as the order has just arrived. Rings, pins, and bracelets, also ordered, have been delayed and will probably arrive during the following week.

The Freshman class although very struggling youngster, "What is interest?" Imagine her amazement when he whipped out, "R2" without any hesitation.

This recalls the boner recently recently revealed in Mr. Ayres' Physics class. The question was, What is put in a cylinder to keep the brake from riding the wheel? Instead of answering, a small spring, Dorothy A. Skirven, whose thoughts were elsewhere wrote down, a caisson.

The date of the Senior plays is Thursday, November 18th. They are revealing the date this far in advance so that you won't plan anything else for that night and will be able to attend.

Tuesday's fieldball game, being the deciding contest for the county championship, was full fo thrills and fast-moving action. Rock Hall emerged the victor after putting Millington on the defensive for almost the whole game. The most exciting moment came when our goalkeeper, in a successful attempt to block 2 field goals, got 4 penalty shots called against her. Only 1 went through for a count, (to our immense relief). The final score was 15-3 and the Rock Hall girls hold the county championship for the third consecutive year. The Rock Hall boys soccer team also won their game, 4-0, and thus puts them in position to make their deciding battle against Chesterown. We are all keyed up waiing for Tuesday, November 2, when the boys county championship will be decided.

THOSE WHO REMAIN

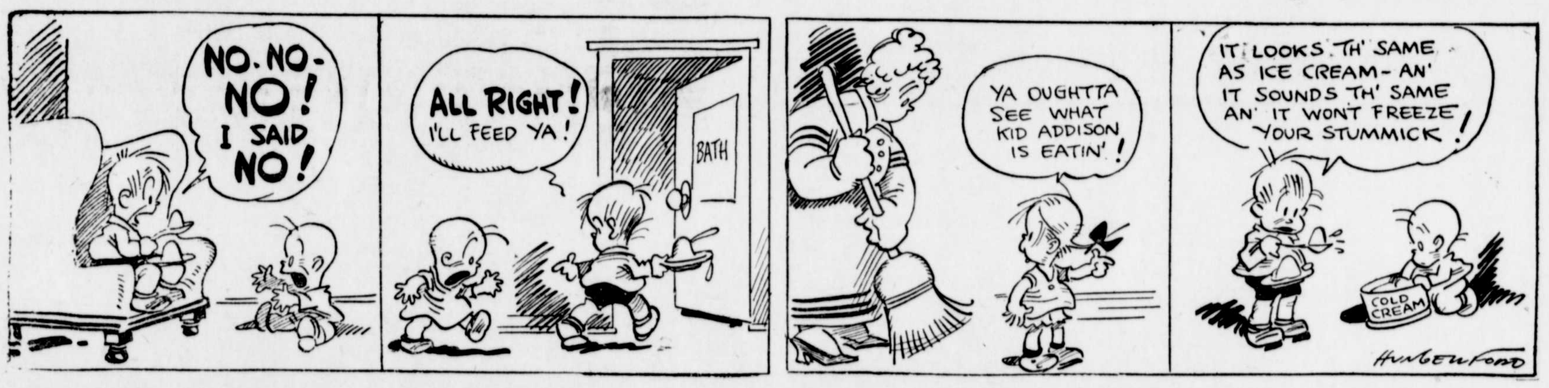

When death visits a nome, the first concern is to perform the last service to the loved one in a becoming manner. What ever is done must express all the reverance and affection that is felt at such a time. But in addition to this a further responsibilty rests upon the funeral director. It is his privilege and duty to lessen as far as lies with in his power, the burdens laid upon those who remain. By countless little acts of thoughtfulness he can make the way easier for them.

We consider this part of our work as important as any other. Our highest aim is to have our patrons look upon us as trusted friends, ready and anxious to render sympathetic assistance to those who remain behind.

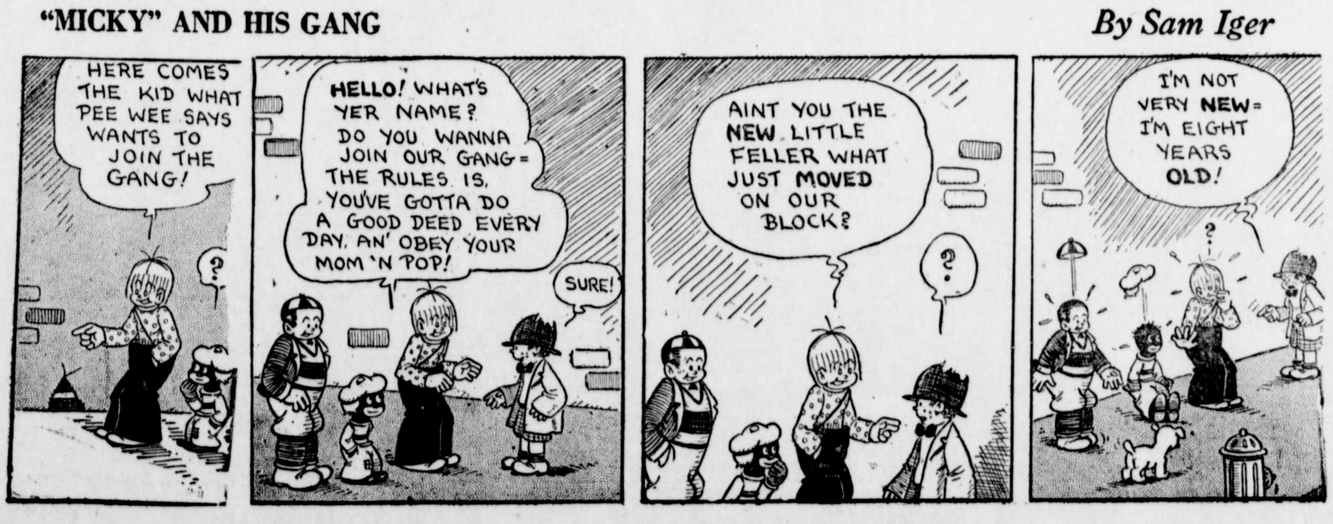

B. R. FELLOWS,
Funeral Director.
