GORDY TO RUN FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Official Announcemnt Due After January 1st

An announcement this week stated that William T. Gordy will definately announce his candidacy for Governor of Maryland after January 1st.

Mr. Gordy, present comptroller of Maryland, has been o potental candidate for that office although he had not officially stated his intentions to run for the Governorship. He is an Eastern Shoreman and lives in Salisbury where he is actively engaged in business. This prveious announcement assures four candidates in the field, three others, Mayor Howard W. Jackson, of Baltimore, Herbert O'Connor, Attorney General of Maryland who also lives in Baltimore, Langsdale Sasscer, State Senator from Prince George County and president of the Maryland Senate. This line-up makes two Baltimore City candidates and two county candidates. With the primaries yet eight months off three is plenty of time for most anything to happen. Whether some of the present candidates will withdraw and possible seek another place on the ticket remains to be seen.

As I am unable to hold a pen I take this means of thanking my friends who may have remembered me by cards or otherwise.

Renovation work at the Chestertown armroy is being rushed to completion so that the remainder of the home basket ball games of Washington College can be held there.

The next home game will be with Western Maryland on January 8th and it is hoped that the interior work on the building will be finished at that time. The work, with exception of the roof is being done by A. N. Stavely & Son.

The new concrete floor in the basement to replace the present dirt floor will be a great improvement and will provide a great deal of additional space for military activities.

FARMERS TO MEET IN BALTIMORE

Annual Gathering Includes All Branches Of Agriculture

Every phase of Maryland's farming industry is expected to be represented when more than 1,000 farmers and members of their families come to Baltimore for the wtenty-second annual convention of the Maryland Farm Bureau and the Maryland Agricultural Society, January 12, 13, and 14. Arrangements for the meeting were completed at a meeting of the Board of directors held recently, according to C. E. Wise, Jr., secretary of the Farm Bureau organization.

A different arrangement of the meetings has been made for this year's gathering. Previously group organizations affiliated with the Farm Bureau have held their meetings in the mornings with general sessions held in the afternoon of Wednesday and Thursday of convention week. This year group meetings will be held on Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to sessions of the Farm Bureau, with a banquet on Thursday evening and business sessions Friday morning.

Corn, potatoes, vegetables and baby chicks will be included in the display and competing for prizes sa best representatives of Maryland's crops.

KENT RECEIVES HEALTH AWARD

One Of Six Maryland Counties Honored

Certificates of merit—all in Class "A"—have been awarded to the State and Baltimore City Departments of Health, the Health Week Committee of Baltimore City, and to the Departments of Health of Cecil, Kent, Montgomery, Prince George's and Wicomico Counties, for activities in connection with this year's observance of Negro Health Week, by the National Negro Health Week Committee of the United States Public Health Service, according to an announcement received by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, from Dr. Roscoe Brown, Chairman of the Health Week Committee.

Negro Health Week, Dr. Riley said, serves as the starting point for yearround activities and occupies a very important part in the public health program. In many of the colored communities in the State there has been a marked improvement in both personal and neighborhood standards of living as a result of the emphasis placed year after year on the essentials of personal and community hygiene.

This year's schedule included public meetings in churches and schools with all representative groups participating; child health conferences; the medical examination of school children; clinics for immunization against diphtheria, for protection against typhoid, and for vaccination against smallpox; chest clinics with special refernce to tuberculosis; venereal disease clinics; health education exercises and poster contests in the schools; community clean-up and sanitation campaigns. There were also cleanliness and neatness improvement contests in some of the rural schools.

Through these activities, under the direction of Dr. DuPuy and the county health nurses, a great deal of affactive work has been accomplished along the line of cleanliness and health in the negro communities. This work proves to be of county-wide importance due to the fact that the negro population furnishes most of the labor in the county both inside and outside the homes and cleanliness and health among this class can well be considered outstanding health work.

TO OPEN PHIL ROAD DURING JANUARY

The date of January 15th has been set for the opening of the new dual highway from Havre de Grace to Baltimore. This highway, which was built with Federal and State funds has been under construction for the past three years. It will be known as the Governor Nice Highway and signs to that effect will be placed so as to remind one of the fact but to Marylanders it will no doubt be refered to as the Philadelphia Road.

This highway, started during the administration of the late Governor Albert C. Ritchie is an example of modern road construction with the north and south bound concrete strips separated by a wide dirt strip which will be planted in grass.

Washington College took the short end of a 48 to 35 score against Witenberg College, of Springfield, Ohio, in the first home basket ball game of the season last Saturday night which was played in the Washington College gymnasium. During the first half the vsiitors had things pretty much their own way and ended the half 34 to 17. Washington was unable to stop the outside shooting nor to break through the guard of the visitors. Coach Kibler tried a number of combinations and not until the second half did the local team start clicking and during that half held their opponents to 14 points and scored 18.
