NEW FIRE HOUSE WILL BE READY FOR EQUIPMENT BY FEBRUARY TWELFTH

Exterior Work Practically Completed Showing Beauty Of New Building

WILL ALSO HOUSE TOWN OFFICES

According to a statement made this week by Mr. E. S. Hollinger, in charge of the construction of the new fire house in Chestertown, that building will be ready to receive the fire trucks and equipment by February 12th. This date is the deadline for the evacuation of the present fire house under an agreement with the Daughters of America, purchasers of the old building. The new building will not be completed at that date but the first floor engine-room and the recreation room on the third floor will be in readiness which will be able to care for all equipment. to care for all equipment.

The building, is not only ample for fire fighting purposes but is a monument to Chestertown.

The first floor will house all fire fighting equipment including three fire trucks, hose, hose dryers, ladders, boots, coats, oil fire fighting apparatus, etc. At one end of the building is an office for the Mayor and Council and Water Board.

The second floor include a large banquet and meeting hall, a kitchen and bunk rooms for the resident firemen.

The third floor, which is over only the front part of the building, will be the firemen's recreation room where will be installed pool tables and other recreational games. The value of this recreation room cannot be over-emphasized as it is not only a reward to the men for their fire fighting efforts but will assure a crew of fire fighters in the building at all times.

The building was financed by a $10,000 town bond issue voted favorable at a recent election, the sale of the present fire house, the help from the Fedreal Works Progress Administration which furnished the labor and part of the material, and an additional obligation assumed by the fire company.

Fire Officials To Be Elected Monday

The annual election of officers of the fire company will be held next Monday evening. Due to the sale of the fire house and the lack of a meeting room, the annual meeting will be held in the Parish House of Emmanuel P. E. Church.

Aside from the election of officers, annual reports of the various committees will be made.

DISBURSING FUNDS TO UNEMPLOYED

Few Applicants Here

The rush of applicants for benefits under the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Law having subsided in the first days of the new year the Compensation Board can look forward without uneasiness to the next rush, which will be on July 1, when the amendment covering employers of groups of four to seven becomes fully operative. Contributions under this amended section of the act are levied from January 1, 1938, but employers have until March 31 to make payment. This payment will be due the State of Maryland only—the Federal Government not being interested.

It is estimated that when the new returns come in it will be found that the total number of contributors will exceed 10,000. Under the eight or more provisions of the original act the number is now between 5,000 and 6,000.

In the beginning the Board sent out forms to all known employers without regard to the number of persons employed. Through these returns and by information supplied by the Social Security Board a fairly complete view of the field has been obtained.

Although the returns from employers who have four but no more than seven employees should bring the total to more than 10,000 there cannot be in July anything like the rush that has been witnessed in the last few days at the State Employment office in Baltimore City.

Next Monday those who reported on January 3 will be required to report again to keep their compensation claims alive. After this the pressure on the benefit division of the Board should be gradually reduced.

NOTICE

"Dr. F. A. Holden, Medical Arts. Bldg., Baltimore, Md., will not be in Chestertown during January and February. Will return March 2 from 2 to 5.

COLLEGE LECTURES TO BE RESUMED

First Of Second Series Monday

The series of public addresses by members of the Faculty of Washington College resumes on Monday, January 10, at 8 P. M., in the Assembly Room of William Smith Hall and on that date residents of the Kent and Queen Anne's communities will have an opportunity of learning all about the origin, evolution and modern development of the detective story in literature. All of the fans who worship at the shrine of Dupin Sherlock Holmes, or Lord Peter Wimsey will be certain to attend, and the general public is cordially invited, with no admission charge.

The speaker will be Dr. Gertrude V. Ingalls, Head of the Department of English at Washington College, a Yale Ph. D. and well known to Chestertown for the past nine years. She is an authority on literature in general and that of the first part of the Eighteenth Century in particular. Her avocations are Greek and Philosophy and the highbrow detective story, and she has treated local audiences to a number of scholarly and entertaining discourses in the past.

"The Literature of Escape," is the will first show how such memMonju title of Dr. Ingalls' address, and she will first show how such fictional forms as the detective and mystery story, the drama and motion picture offer avenues of escape to those who can attain their romantic adventures in no other manner. The detective story itself offers such an escape to the author as well as the reader, as Dr. Ingalls explained in an interview, and forms an ancient and fascinating type of the story-teller's art.

The speaker wil discuss the origin and early history of this sort of tale, described beginnings among the Egyptians and Phoenicians, then tracing down through Poe and Doyle to modern writers and contrasting the American with the English reader's clubs. The foibles of eminent current writers and the various modern schools will all receive attention, as well as the personality of the typical detective-story reader, an aristocrat among fictioneers.

BETTERTON GIRL SCOUTS TAKE HIKE

New Patrol Pass Initial Test

The girl scouts of Betterton decided to go on a hike December 27, 1937, and the idea was carried out by Anna Belle Owens. The girls tramped single file through the woods and when they reached the shore they chose their partners as follows:

Ruth Groves ..... Caroline Luike
Lillian Hoffner ..... Emily Brice
Mary Roe Groves .... Virginia Groves
Betty Price ..... Ethel Groves

The girls and their partners found their places, where they were taught by Howard B. Owens to build out door fires in which they were unaccustom to. They left the scout leader's home at 9:00. As they tramped through the woods, they studied different kind of trees and various plants. They camped at a place known to many scouts called the "Cedars." Howard B. Owens showed us how to stalk animals and freeze when necessary. He also taught us how to break a trail in case we ever got lost, and the eight points of the compass. At four o'clock we started home, but, pleased from the many events that happened that day.

The Thursday night following the hike, the scout meeting was held at Mrs. Elsie Newsome's home. Anna Belle Owens again took charge of the meeting and the girls found their patrol corners. All the scouts present of "The Flaming Arrow Patrol" have passed the tests in learning the five knots. The assistant patrol leaders along with the other officers held a private meeting to elect some one to write up our meetings to put in the paper. Caroline Luike and Lillian Hoffner were given the job. The meeting closed at 10.00 o'clock.

PEACE LEAGUE TO MEET HERE MONDAY

(COMMUNICATED)

Worton, Md., Jan. 4, 1938.

Editor of the Transcript:

The regular meeting of the Women's International League for Peace will be held on Monday afternoon, 2.30 p. m. at Reed Hall, Washington College, Chestertown, Md. This meeting is open to the public, and as an interesting speaker from the State Organization will be preesnt, it is hoped that many will attend.

As women, we have put across many valuable projects, here in Kent County. Starting with the communities, then state wide. So with the Peace movement. It is state-wide, nation-wide, and world-wide.

In Kent County, we have several MASTER HOME-MAKERS, women who have had National recognition as mothers. They have been successful in teaching their families how to live together in peace, and in peace with the neighbor's children. Before the New Deal, they practiced SOUL Conservation, helped by the United States Government.

After being thus recognized by the Government, and being on friendly terms with their neighbors, they now ask their Government for the right to go to the polls with their sons and daughters and vote on all questions of WAR, in this or any other county.

The Ludlow Amendment will have this right to all of the nation, if it is passed on January 10. We all know that Senator Tydings and Representative Goldsbo rough will vote as the folks back home want them to vote. A letter should go to them at once, before the American Legion Posts and other patriotic organizations can be used to set up machinery under the adjutant general for "procuring man power" by the millions.

The Better Babies Contests, sponsored about 24 or 25 years ago, showed us as mothers, and how we could make the best—better! These are the boys who would be conscripted, unless we as mothers organize for PEACE.

EVELYN HARRIS, Sec'ty.

FOX HUNTING IS THE KING OF OUT DOOR SPORTS IN KENT COUNTY NOW

Horses, Hounds and Hunters Hold Full Sway In Lower Kent Every Day Now

HUNTERS REPORT FINE SPORT

The "Sport of Kings" reigns supereme in Kent County and fox hunters are out almost daily on foot, horseback and in automobiles following the baying of the hounds. The hunting here probably surpasses that of any section as only a few minutes after the hounds are turned loose a trail is picked up and the fun starts. The method of hunting is that which has been practiced here for generations and unlike other hunting sports there is no kill. Knowing that in order to have good sport there must be a fox or two, the local hunters are very careful to look to the interest of the fox and when the pack is large and the hounds are so strung out that "Reynard" finds it difficult to double back and carry on his elusive tactics, the hunters are careful to break the hounds to prevent the kill. This practice has caused criticism from visiting huntsmen who are out for only a few days sport but this criticism has failed to change the methods here and consequently the sport goes on.

The principal centers of hunting are in the vicinity of Swan Point and Eastern Neck Island where the packs of Messrs. William J. French, Harry Nichols, Chaplain Willis, Harvey Brice, Grover Colemna, Phil Leager, Ed. Townshend, Frank Skirven, the Wilson Brothers, Wilbur Hubbard, Clifton Miller, Bill Loller and Lee Robinson keep that neighborhood continually utned to the sweet music of "Bugle Ann".

These packs hunt separately during the week and about once a week they all throw in for a community hunt when the competition is strong between these various packs.

Just how far the hound music carries has not been definately determined but the story goes that "Uncle Dave Kendall," who is living with his daughter in Cambridge, suddenly recuperated from a spell of illness when the season opened and arrived in Chestertown Wednesday. The hound music was apparently a great tonic for "Uncle Dave".

To encourage the old method of hunting on horses, which has been difficult recently due to wire fencing, a concerted paneling activity is under way and panel fences are being built on many of the farms. Just recently panels have been built on the Lusby, Carvel and Nichols farms with further construction planned.

EAGLES CLINCH BOWLING SERIES

Doves Win Ladies Series

The Eagles of the Chestertown Bowling Team have clinched the first half of the series as, although the half does not end until next week, they have a four game margin over the I. O. O. F. team and the three game match next week cannot alter the standing.

The match next week may change the standing of the other teams which lineup as follows:

	W	L
Eagles	40	11
I. O. O. F.	36	15
White Owls	34	17
Kennedyville	33	18
Wonder Bar	30	18
Asco	26	25
Tigers	24	27
Texaco	13	38
Retreads	10	41
Orioles	6	42

In the Ladies Bowling League the Doves won the first half with an eight game margin over the Blue Jays then closest contenders. The standing of that league at the half of the series is:

	W	L
Doves	33	12
Blue Jays	25	20
Eagles	18	27
Gildeers	14	31

Wesley Chapel easily lead the church league at the half mark with an eight game lead over Christ M. P. and Wesley Chapel Juniors who are tied for second place.

	W	L
Wesley Chapel	28	8
Christ M. P.	21	18
Wesley Chapel, Jr.	21	13
M. E. Rock Hall	15	21
P. E.	15	24
M. E. Town	14	25

J. Pearce Crisfield Dies In Savanna

Mr. James Alfred Pearce Crisfield died at his home in Savannah on Thursday of this week after a long illness. He was the nephew of the late Judge Alfred Pearce of this town. After his graduation at Stephen Institute Hoboken, he engaged in the gas and electric business and held an important position, in Savannah, Ga., where he married a Miss Jones of that city. Later he was transferred to Philadelphia where he lived many years until removing to Savannah again. He is survived by his widow, three sons and three daughters also by a sister. Miss Ethe Crisfield of Washington. Mrs. Wm. T. Dixon of Green Point this county is one of his daughters, whom he recently visited while on a trip to Stevens Institute where he received an honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering.

He spent a part of his early life in Chestertown at the home of his uncle Judge Pearce and during his life accumulated a number of valuable historic records of this section. Both in Philadelphia and Savannah he was a recognized authority on engineering and his death is a loss to that profession.

DATES SET FOR ANNUAL FISHING FAIR TO BE HELD AT ROCK HALL NEXT AUGUST TWENTY-SEVENTY AND TWENTY-EIGHTH

$2,500 Minimum Budget For Promotional Work Agreed Upon At The Meeting Held At Rock Hall This Week

COMPLETE BROADCAST OF EVENT OVER W F B R

3,000 visitors are expected to attend the Chesapeake Bay Fishing Fair to be held at Rock Hall next August 27th and 28th. The estimate was made by J. Hammond Brown, sports-editor of the Baltimore News-Post. "Already 250 from Pittsburg have made plans to come on a special excursion to be run by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. A party of fifty are coming from Connecticut, one hundred from fishing clubs in the Ohio valley. The Kiwanic Clubs are sponsoring the move and fifty-two clubs will send several members, adding to this the crowd from lower Pennsylvania and the State of Maryland will put the attendance at the three thousand according to Mr. Brown's estimate.

ROCK HALL ASKED TO RAISE $500. BUDGET SET AT $2,500

A minimum budget for the event was set at $2,500. To raise this amount the association expects a membership of one thousand members to raise $1,000. $500 is expected to be raised from advertisements in the Fishing Guide and nearly $1,000 from registration fee.

Rock Hall was asked to raise $500. A group of business men of that town will meet in the near future to discuss plans for raising that amount. Tentative plans call for the sale of concessions at the waterfront. Messrs. Frank Puppee, John Hersch and Eldridge Glenn have offered ground rent free for there concessions.
