THE SOCIAL WANDERER

DEAR ROAMER:

We are all getting back into routine once more, and the way to tell, is by glancing at any one's desk. Daily pour in cards—oh, no not Greetings, but the regular monthly meeting of this, or the monthly meeting of that will be held this week, or next week. Meetings, meetings, meetings! Some are intensely boring, some are interesting, some are decidedly pleasant. In the latter class, was the January meeting of Our Garden Club held on Tuesday at the home of its new President, Mrs. J. Thomas Kibler. Plans for the company year were outlined, committees appointed and the usual routine of a first meeting of the year, yet it was fun to all get together again and at the end, delactable refreshments were served.

Fans for basket-ball really turned out in full force last Saturday night, when the Armory was packed with a crowd, who saw Washington College defeat Western Maryland. As for tonight's game— well, I doubt if you can more than get in, unless you go early. Washington will play Mt. St. Mary's and quote the radio announcer, "Boy, oh boy—what a game. Anything can happen."

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Dick have returned from a three week's visit to Houston, and San Angelo, Texas. At the latter place, Mrs. Dick was matron-of-honor and Dr. Dick, an usher, in the wedding of Mr. Curtis B. Quarler, Mrs. Dick's brother, which took place there on December 29.

Another wedding of interest here took place in New York on December 30, when Mrs. Elizabeth Little Warner, of Nashville, Tenn., became the bride of Mr. Thomas Harris Smith, of Belle-Point-on-the-Wye, near Queenstown. Mr. Smith, a member of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club and a member of the board of visitors and governors of Washington College, is well known here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Hines have returned from several days visit to New York where they were guests of friends, and attended the Motor Boat Show.

Miss Mary Hynson Rogers, of Wilmington, Del., will be a week-end guest of Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hines.

Mr. W. S. Collins, who left last week to spend the winter in Florida, has returned here because of an illness and is undergoing treatment in the Kent and Queen Anne's General Hospital.

Miss Anna Frazier, of Newark, Del., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Eshman, here.

Misses Loureine Woodall, of Wilmington, Del., and Norma Scott, of Rock Hall, have been the guests of Mrs. Margaret McIntire, the past week.

One party of the week was a stag one, consequently, I can't tell you how much fun I had. But those of the male species who did go, seemed to have had an elegant time. Dr. H. C. Hughes was the host to a number of his men friends on Thursday evening, when he entertained at a buffet supper which apparently lasted far into the night. If you want more details, ask the men!

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vander Goes entertained at bridge last evening at their home on High St.

A bright spot in the near future for lovers of beautiful things old and new is the fact that Mrs. Karl Melamet in collaboration with her brother, Mr. James L. Bacchus (recently furniture buyer for W & J. Sloane, New York) plans starting an antique and gift house in the town. Although the business will not in active swing until around March first, various attractive items have already been purchased and the collection is beginning to take shape. There will be for sale very inexpensive items for gifts, bridge prizes, etc., also certain antique pieces of quality and beauty for even the most modest collector and lover of things old.

Mr. Bacchus has made connection with a very well known manufacturer of wrought iron and garden furniture —fascinating in ite beautiful designs, samples of which, will be on display in a few weeks. This furniture is obtainable in a variety of finishes, as well as some types of bamboo and rattan. I have also eyed other bits to be displayed, although I can't go into details, but that pleasure will be in store for you all later.

Mrs. Henry Kratzer and family have moved from Pomona into Chestertown for the winter months and will be established at the Wickes' Apartments.

Mrs. James G. Metcalfe returned to Chestertown yesterday after a visit of two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Louis Skinner in Bronxville, N. Y., and Mrs. J. S. Wlison in Rutherford, New Jersey.

So this is all I have to say—
If more guests come or go away
Should little Cupid shoot a dart,
Or even if a party starts;
For you, I'll save each tiny bit,
Hoping dear Roamer, t'will make a hit.

Yours for prose,

THE WANDERER

Burial Services Today
For Mrs. Henry Brown

Burial services for Mrs. Lydia C. Brown, wife of former Senator Henry Brown, who died at the home of her duaghter in Mannington, West Virginia, Wednesday morning, will be held at Chester cemetery today, Saturday at 2 p. m. Funeral services were held at Mannington on Thursday.

Mrs. Brown, who has been in failing health for some time, was with her husband spending the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Fred Burt, in Mannington, and on New Year's Day suffered a stroke of paralysis from which she never recovered. She was in her 77th year. She is survived by her husband who at one time was State Senator from Kent County, and her daughter, Mrs. Burt. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wilson, of Baltimore.

Ralph H. Usilton wil be in charge of funeral arrangements.

Speaking Gently

"Speak gently," said Uncle Eben, "but when you try it on a mule it simply confuses him."

Names of Mayflower Children

The four children of William Brewster, who came over on the Mayflower, were known as Love, Wrestling, Patience and Fear.

Justice Van Devanter's Status

At the time of Senator Hugo L. Black's appointment to the Supreme Court the legal point was raised that there was actually no vacancy, because Justice Willis Van Devanter had not resigned. As notable a constitutional lawyer as Senator William E. Borah was among those who argued in that fashion —although he later voted for confirmation. This and other objections to Black were over-ruled by the high court and the Alabama follower of President Roosevelt took his seat.

Further emphasis is now laid on the fact that Justice Van Devanter had merley retired at full salary under the recent court reform bil, by his assignment to sit as federal judge in the Southern District of New York to relieve congestion there. This came about as a result of Justice Van Devanter's direct appeal to Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes for work. In commenting on his status recently the former declared emphatically that he "did not resign" and that he is still a judge. All doubt as to that is now dissipated. Justice Van Devanter's appearance on a District Court bench here will be the frist such service by a jurist who formerly sat on the nation's highest court in the memory of court officials.—Brooklyn Eagle.

ACTIVITIES AT THE LOCAL LIBRARY

New Books Included In List

Greetings and a happy New Year to all patrons of the Chestertown Public Library!

A space in our county papers has been willingly donated for the purpose of making more generally known a few pertinent facts concerning our library. Its location? Still in the same place, the Mutual Life Insurance building, High street, across from the New Lyceum Theatre, and it still has the same sponsors—The Woman's Literary Club.

These ladies, aided by donations from the county commissioners, and interested persons in town and county, pay the rent of the room, the librarian's salary, the janitor's fee, and for al books purchased, thus necessitating a budget of six hundred dollars annually. To meet expenses is sometimes a perplexing proposition, especially when the usual donations are not forthcoming, and the rent comes due. Yet the work is freely and cheerfully carried on, making it possible for the reading public to enjoy the best and latest in literature.

Winter schedule—library hours:

2:00 P. M. - 6:00 P. M.—Tuesdays and Saurdays.

7:00 P. M. - 8:30 P. M. Saturday evenings.

Have you read—

"400 Million Customers?" Much better to read about China today than to be there. You will be entertained by the queer Chinese manners, customs, and add business methods told in this book by Carl Crow, who has carried on, for 25 years, an advertising agency in Shanghai and found the Chinese race both loving and amusing.

"The Turning Wheels," by Stuart Cloete? It has as its theme the trek of the Boers from Cape Colony northward, having been forced to migrate when the English settled in that part of Africa. The journey of a whole, though, tiny nation, in covered wagons, for a thuosand miles, braving the elements and savage Kaffirs and Zulus, makes a story of adventure, dynamic action, interspersed with romance.

You have before you a great reading experience, if you have not already read, "Northwest Passage," by Kenneth Roberts; "The Citadel," by Dr. Cronin, the fastest-selling book of the late season of 1937; "Tish Marches On," in which again Mary Roberts Reinhart tells of Tish, Aggie and Lizzie. Brisk, adventurous, ridiculous.

Mrs. Othoson Dies Near Wilmington

Funeral services fo rMrs. Rhoda Otherson will be held at Chester cemetery at 3 p. m. Sunday. Mrs. Othoson, formerly Mrs. Isaac C. Wink, of Quaker Neck died near Wilmington on Thursday following a lingering illness. She is survived by three children.

Thomas Dyott Dies In Baltimore

Thomas Dyott, formerly of Chestertown, died in Baltimore, early Friday morning.

He was a frequent visitor in Chestertown and was a nephew of Miss Nannie Bordley and the late Mrs. Isabel Toulson. His mother, Mrs. Edmond Draper, died last spring.

Burial services will be held at Chester cemetery the time of which was not known at the time of going to press.

He is survived by a brother, Howard Dyott of Dallas, Texas.

Mrs. Coleman Dies At Chesterville

Mrs. Cornelia Coleman, 83, widow, of the late Henry Coleman, died Sunday afternoon at the home of her son, Elwood Coleman, near Chesterville. She was the daughter of the late Harry G. and May W. Fennimore.

The following children survive: Mrs. Cathryn Williams, Mrs. Palmer Hemmons, of Pennsylvania; Harry Coleman, Wilmington; Merritt Coleman, near Galena, and Elwood Coleman, near Chesterville. A brother, John Fennimore, also survives.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Crumpton M. E. Church with the Rev. David Wood officiating. W. H. Good was the funeral director.

Attends Testimonial Dinner

Commodore P. G. Wilmer and party fro mthe Chester River Yacht and Country Club attended a testimonial dinner at the Miles River Yacht Club in honor of retiring Commodore Mills.

NEWS OF ROCK HALL HIGH SCHOOL

With many a begrudging look forward over the delightful holidays, our pupils have settle ddown and resumed their lessons again.

Last Tuesday Washington College made an unusual offer to the high schools in Kent County. They offered the combined plays of Julius Ceasar and MacBeth for 50c. Julius Ceasar was presented in the afternoon and MacBeth in the evening. Both plays were well attended and quite a number of Rock Hall students were able to take advantage of the remarkable offer.

The P. T. A. of the high school is certainly up and coming. They have already planned a big bake for Saturday, January 22 and have asked for donations. Everyone is responding warmly and from all prospects the bake ought to be a huge success. The money that is earned will go toward a fund being raised to buy dishes for the school.

During the holidays a shipment of reading books arrived which greatly increased the library in Mrs. Strang's room. They are a gift form last year's Senior class. The selection includes several novels and books of short stories. There are also a number of valuable books of poetry.

Nina Brice and Jane Lussier have been put in charge of distributing these books and have proved very competent managers so far. We want to express sincere thanks to the Seniors and wish they were here to enjoy them with us.

Wednesday being our school movie day, we trailed upstairs into the auditorium to see, "Black Beauty," we all knew the story of Black Beauty and so were in a position to enjoy it. In my opinion it was the best picture we have had this term.

Our privilege to sell candy in the school, being destroyed, we looked around for some other means to raise money for our athletic treasury. Finally Miss Asheley suggested the plan of selling some sort of food at noon. We followed her up as quickly as possible and have been selling soup, jello, custards, and hot dogs for a week, now. Everyone is cooperating with us and maybe this will prove as good, if not better, than the candy method.

To the many inquiring friends of Bobby Strong, a pupil in our school, we wish to remark that his condition is very much improved. He can read and receive visitors now (I know we bore him) and although he may not be back in school for awhile, they expect his complete recovery very soon.
