PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY TO CONTINUE PASSENGER TRAIN SERVICE

Abandon Plan To Eliminate Passenger Train On The Chestertown Branch

LOCAL PROTESTS SHOW NEED OF SERVICE

According to a statment made by officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad, on a visit to the Transcript Office this week, the plan to eliminate passenger service to Chestertown has been abandoned and better service will be given the public in the future.

Several weeks ago announcement was made by railroad officials that an application would be made to the Public Service Commission to discontinue the passenger train on the Massey-Chestertown run due to the fact that lack of patronage did not justify the expense of operation.

This announcement brought a protest from leading citizens and organizations in this community in view of the fact that the elimination of this train would not only effect passenger service but would present a serious problem in the handling of parcel post and milk from this large dairy section. At the present time all milk from this part of Kent County goes out on that train. The handling of parcel post probably presented the greatest problem due to the large shipment of baby chicks from the Bramble and Truslow Poultry Farms.

The railroad officials stated this week that their investigation convinced them of the fact that a passenger train schedule over this branch was an asset to this community. The present service includes one passenger train in the morning and out in the afternoon.

Would Discontinue Centreville Branch

Appearing on page four of this issue is a notice from the Public Servcie Commission of the application of the Pennsylvania railroad to discontinue passenger service between Massey and Centreville. Should this train be discontinued the Chestertown branch would make a direct run to Townshend without any wait over at Massey.

It is understood that protests against the change will be made by residents of Queen Annes County.

FARM BUREAU GETS TAX PROGRAM

Advocates Certain State Legislation

Organized farmers of the State are ready to lead in the fight for the adoption of the proposed amendment to Maryland's Constitution which will permit a graduated income tax rather than the flat tax adopted by the recent Legislautre. This move of the organized farmers was made in the closing session of the annual meeting of the Maryland Farm Bureau in Baltimore last week, when voting delegates from 21 farm bureau units adopted their program for 1938.

Farmers are also proposed to price maintenance as provided by the Miller-Tydings Act and the Maryland State Law which is commonly called the "fair trade act," and stated so in their declaration of policies. The farm group also went on record as opposed to wage and hour legislation which would place wage rates above parity prices of farm products, according to their resolutions.

The undertaking of improvement in marketing facilities for Maryland growers of vegetable crops is also included in the 1938 program of the organized farmers. Dissatisfied with space alloted for present markets, the Mayrland group will also urge more strict grade regulations for the protection of Maryland markets for vegetable crops.

Other actions of the farm bureau delegates approved activities of the Farm Credit Administration, urged a national farm program, pledged support to conservation of Maryland's natural resourcse, urged further development of cooperative business organizations of farmers, outlined a program of their recommendations to State authorities for farm to market roads, and commended the work of the University of Maryland.

Harry H. Nuttle of Denton was again chosen president of the organization and with Vice-president P. C. Turner of Parkton and Secretary C. E. Wise, Jr., of Baltimore, will have charge of directing the program outlined at the business session of delegates.

GOLDSBOROUGH STATES POSITION ON LUDLOW ACT

Favors Boycot On Japanese Products

The following speech, made by Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough on Monday states his position on the Far East situation and the Ludlow resolution:

Mr. Goldsborough. Mr. Speaker, on October 7, 1937, I received the following telegram from the Philadelphia Inquirer:

Hon. T. Alan Goldsborough,
House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.:

If pronouncements of United States and League of Nations condemning Japan as aggressor in Far East war prove ineffectual, would you favor or oppose our cooperating with League either in sanctions or active intervention?

Philadelphia Inquirer.

I immediately answered as follows:

The Philadelphia Inquirer,
Philadelphia, Pa.:

Your telegram received. We supposedly got into the last war to save democracy. We actually got into the last war to save Wall Street. We should immediately prohibit and stop all loans to and commerical transactions of all kinds, public and private, with Japan, the moral effect of which would be to compel the countries signatory to the League of Nations to adopt the same course. The war would end practically at once without further action by any nation.

T. Alan Goldsborough.
House of Representatives of the United States, First Maryland District.

Last night I had a rather extended talk with Secretary of State Hull, and I am constrained to think that the cause of peace will not be promoted by the passage of the resolution.

I served in the House of Representatives with Secretary of State Hull for many years and have a profound respect for his sound judgment, his humanitarianism, and his sincere desire to promote peace.

In my opinion, by far the most important pulic issue in the world today is the preservation of peace.

Civilization itself depends upon the solution of international problems by peaceful means.

I am absolutely opposed to the use will continue to do everything I can to preserve peaceful relations between the United States and other countries.

I am absolutely opposed to the use of the armed forces of the United States to protect the property of those who have invested in foreign lands because of the profit they expect to derive from these investments. Those making the investments should take the risk, and I would not sacrific the life of a single American boy to save the property rights of a foreign investor.

KENT DOGS ARE ON EXHIBIT AT SHOW

Baltimore Show Held This Week-End

An announcement from Mrs. Myrtle M. Loud, of Hawthorne Kennels, Betterton, Maryland, states that twelve of her string of prize winnnig Boston Terriers will be exhibited at the coming show of the Maryland Kennel Club at Baltimore on January 28 and 29. Four of her Bostons will also be exhibited at the Westminster Kennel Club show in Madison Square Garden in February and at Boston and New Haven during the same month.

One of the most outstanding sporting events held during the month of January is the Silver Anniversary Dog Show of the Maryland Kennel Club. This Show is being held at the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore, on January 28th and 29th, and bids fair to outdo any of the previous shows held by the Club.

Being the Silver Anniversary Show, the Premium Lists, which have just been mailed, are printed on silver paper and the cash prizes at the Show will be distributed in silver dollars in attractive silver bags. These are only some of the novelties which are being used to carry out the idea of the Silver Anniversary.

Second—George Thoms, of Broad Neck, made an average of 565 lbs. milk and 28.6 lbs. fat on five grade Guernseys.

Third—Churn Creek Farms of Worton made an average of 583 lbs. milk and 28.5 lbs. fat on 56 Pure Bred Guernseys.

Fifth—Harvey Freeman of Galena, made an average of 764 lbs. milk and 25.4 lbs. fat on 20 Grade and Purebred Holsteins.

The ten high individual cows ranked in fat production as follows:

First—Howard S. Leaverton's Pauline, a purebred Holstein milked 1370 lbs. milk testing 4.6% making 63 lbs. fat.

Second—Howard S. Leaverton's Great, a purebred Holstein milked 1783 lbs. milk testing 3.5% making 62.4 lbs. fat.

Third—Howard S. Leaverton's No. 160, a purebred Holstein milked 1320 lbs. milk testing 4.4% making 58.1 lbs. fat.

Fourth—Howard S. Leavreton's No. 78, a purebred Holstein milked 1646 lbs. milk testing 3.4% making 55.9 lbs. fat.

The above report was made by Wilbur H. Morris, tester in charge. The Dairy Herd Improvement Association is the best means of proving our dairy cow and bull and offers a real evidence of the animals' worth to its owner. The individual cow, as well as herd records, are compiled and kept on file in the Bureau of Dairy Industry in Washington in such a way that continuous testing of all cows in the herd for a period of years will give each animal, grade or purebred, a pedigree of its ancestry and production of those ancesters.

In order that Kent Dairymen might see the "mcahine" in action the Kent Association is planning a tour of its members and other dairymen interested, to Washington on February 1st, going by way Matapeake and returning the same day.

A Guide will be furnished to show the group through the spacious South Building of the Department of Agriculture where the Dairy Bureau is housed.

Any interested in making this Tour should get in touch with the County Extnesion office or Howard S. Leaverton, President of Kent Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

WASHINGTON WINS TWO LOSES ONE

To Play Loyola In Baltimore Tonight

During the past seven days Washington College won two and lost one game. In the game last Saturday night with Mt. S.t Mary's the local five lead at half time 22 to 15 after completely outplaying Mt. St. Marys, last year's champs. In the second half, the Washington five had difficulty sinking their shots caging only five field goals out of 35 shots for the basket. With Pfund on the sidelines due to illness and Smith recuperating Coach Kibzler was without able replacements which ha da strong bearing on the game. The Mounts were superior in physical strength and this told the story in the second half similar to the football game between these two colleges last fall. In the second half the Mounts outscored Washingby 12 points to gain a lead at the final whistle of 5 points. Savage lead the scoring for the visitors with 15 points and Kardash, Washington's miniature blue streak maintained his former pace to score 10 points.

Defeats Delaware And P. M. C.

The defeat Sautrday night did not start a slump following former wins as on Tuesday night the local five easily won over Delaware 55 to 95 and Wednesday brought home a 56 to 45 victory from P. M. C.

Play Loyola Tonight

Washington wil play Loyola in Baltimore tonight, Saturday. This game always draws a large number of local fans as the basket ball rivalry has been very keen between these two schools for a number of years.

In the State legaue games Washington has won 2 and lost one. The game tonight is a league contest.

SEAL SALES HERE SHOW INCREASE

Total Above That Of Last Year

The sale of Christmas Seals in the various counties of Maryland is progressing very well in all but a few counties, it was reported by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, the organization which, with the affiliated county groups, has been conducting the sale in order to raise funds for continuing the war on tuberculosis.

The latest figures available for the present sale are those of the week-ending January 8, 1938. Comparing these figures with the itotals raised up to the corresponding date of last year's sale (January 9, 1937) it is found that the majority of the counties show a gain for this year. Six counties show gains exceeding one hundred dollars while twelve counties, although their gains are not as large, have improved their totals to date.

The receipts from Kent County show an increase over last year, the receipts this year being $405.44 as compared to $362.92 last year. This county stands fifteenth in the state in total receipts.
