Shoes 114,000 Horses And Quits

Mr. W. E. Ringgold, one of the few remaining old time blacksmiths shod his last horse Wednesday and although he will continue at his blacksmith trade he will shoe no more horses. Horseshoeing day from now on at his shop will be Tuesdays with Mr. Marion Parsons doing the shoeing.

Mr. Ringgold started his trade as a boy on Kent Island in 1880 and has been shoeing horses ever since. For the past 45 years he has been in Chestertown, 25 of which he worked with the late Henry DeFord. During the horse and buggy days he shod 28 horses one day and during the 57 years has averaged 2000 horses a year making a total of 114,000 horses or enough to make a single horse team reaching from Chestertown to New York. In shoeing these horses 3,500,000 nails weighing 16 tons were used requiring 17,500,000 blows of his hammer. How many flies were shooed during this period cannot be exactly determined although it is estimated that it exceeds by three the number of dollars in the national debt. This includes flies shooed by both Mr. Ringgold and the horses being shoed; bob-tailed horses only figured at fifty percent. Further estimates show that he has side-stepped parried and dodged 23,000 kicks which makes him superior to Gene Tunney in defensive tactics.

Charles T. Jarvis Dies In Wilmington

Charles T. Jarvis, age 51 years, died at his home 2900 West St., Wilmington, Del., on February 9th 1938, after an illness of 19 months due to a heart condition. He was the son of the late John H. and Susan Jarvis and was born near Galena, Md.

When a young man he went to Altona, Pa., to serve his trade with the P. B. & W. R. R. returning to Delaware in 1911. He married Miss Maud Cosden, of Middletown, Del., and went to Water Valley, Miss., where he resumed his duties with the Railroad Company as an air brake machinist. In 1915 he moved to Wilmington, Del., where he has been employed by the P. B. & W. R. R. for the past 23 years. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Maud C. Jarvis and one daughter, Miss Mabel Jarvis, four brothers, Messrs. Harry, Cornelius, and John Jarvis, all of Kent County, Md., and Wm. O. Jarvis, of East Orange, N. J., two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Vansant and Mrs. Mae Stradley, of Chestertown, Md.

Funeral services took place from his late residence on Sunday, Feb. 13th, 1938, with Interment at Galena, Md.

NEWS OF ROCK HALL HIGH SCHOOL

The past week has been one of numerous activities. Everywhere you look you are apt to see students standing on their heads, dashing fifty yards, and throwing the ball for all their might. Of course all of the antics are not for fun, but to earn those attractive gold, silver and bronze badges to be awarded this year.

The various games and relays have not been started yet, but we expect to be pretty well under way by next week.

The Senior class has been diligently practicing their "Aunt Minnie From Minnesota", and if we get half the fun out of it that they seem to, our evening will be well spent.

Our classes become more interesting every week. The latest effort to make school work less of a drudgery is found in Miss Willis' Problems class. They have started a scrap book on current events. They take clippings from the New York Times, and from what I gather it is quite an honor to be allowed to make the arrangements.

The last P. T. A. meeting was quite a success. Mrs. Watson, president of the Kent P. T. A., was the guest speaker. She gave quite an interesting talk and also recited a poem. Arrangements were made for the purchase of the school set of dishes.

Band practice went on as usual this Tuesday and we have several new members now. A violin and a trumpet have been added to the orchestra and one of the town boys came up to help us out.

Our next social event will probably be the big card party to be held February 24th. I don't know who we can credit as sponsoring it. You see, each class has taken over a portion of the party and will do its best to make that part a success. For instance, the Seniors have to provide the ice cream (lucky class, I'll bet they all get sick), the Juniors bring the cake, while the Sophomores must dig up prizes. As yet the Freshmen have not been obliged, but we always look to them to sell most of the tickets.

WAYNE JOHNSON TO SPEAK AT THE FIRE COMPANY BANQUET

Prominent New York Attorney Owns Property Here

It was announced this week by the banquet committee that Mr. Wayne Johnson has accepted an invitation to be the guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company which will be held in the new fire house on Tuesday evening, March 1st.

Mr. Johnson, a prominent New York Attorney has recently purchased the Catlin estate, now known as Churn Creek Farms, and is making it one of the show places on the Eastern Shore.

In addition to Mr. Johnson other speakers on the program include:

Mr. W. G. Smyth, toastmaster.

Mayor Philip G. Wilmer, who will talk of the work of the active men.

Mr. Stephen R. Collins, who will speak of the work of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Rev. C. L. Atwater, Chaplain of the company, will represent the associate members on the program.

FARM PROGRAM CHECKS DUE TODAY

600 Kent County Farms Comply In Program

Kent County farmers are eagerly awaiting their checks for complying with the 1937 agricultural conservation program which will total more than $100,000 for this country.

The first shipment of checks, which are now due, includes approximately two-thirds of the total and the remainder is expected to follow shortly.

The Federal farm program was complied with on 600 Kent County farms by leaving out acreage on certain crops and replacing it with soil building crops. The checks were due March 1st but due to the tremendous detail work the date was set back to the 15th. The County Agents office has received no official notice of a further delay and is expecting the checks in each mail.

The release of $100,000 in Kent County is eagerly awaited this year due to the fact that it has not been a good crop year. The failure of the tomato and corn crops hsa created a condition whereby additional cash is needed to meet obligations incurred in the growing of these crops.

As soon as the conservation checks are received they will be distributed through the County Agent's office.

PROTEST STOPPING TRAIN SERVICE

Large Delegation Attends Hearing

A delegation representing practically every community in Queen Anne's county crowded the meeting room of the Public Service Commission at Baltimore on Thursday to register an emphatic protest to the petition of the Pennsylvania railroad for abandonment of passenger service on the Baltimore and Eastern line from Queen Anne to Love Point and the Centreville branch from Centreville to Massey.

The railroad presented statistics of earnings and number of passengers for various months. Some of their figures were questioned by the delegation, such as figures for the B. & E. in months when Chesapeake Bay was frozen over and for the Centreville branch in the lightest revenue months of the year.

Senator Roe and Allan B. Lane fired the hottest broadsides for the county forces. They scored the railroad for poor service and inadequate schedules, cited losses that would accrue to the county for discontinuance of passenger service, produced figures showing the amount of milk and other commodities feeding revenue in the Centreville branch and generally swept the decks clear of the railroad's arguments.

Senator Wilson pointed out the inconvenience to hatcheries and to other business enterprises should the railroad have its way.

Mrs. W. C. Peregoy Dies In Baltimore

Mrs. Rosa H. Peregoy, 85, wife of William C. Peregoy, died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Melvin, in Baltimore, following an illness of a few days. She is survived by her husband and two children, Mrs. Melvin and Mr. Milton Peregoy, of Philadelphia.

The remains were brought to Chestertown Friday morning and services were held at the Methodist Episcopal Church at 10.30 a. m., Rev. Paul E. Reynolds officiating. Interment was made in Chester cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs Jacob F. Thompson, George W. French, Robert Moffett, Charles S. Smith, Julian Coleman and Rev. W. A. Melvin.

DELAWARE TO PLAY IN ARMORY HERE

Washington Loses By One Point To Maryland

Basket ball fans are promised another treat this week when Delaware will play Washington in the Chestertown Armory tonight, Saturday. Washington won over Delaware in a game earlier in the season.

In what was probably the most interesting game played here this season, Washington lost to the University of Maryland Wednesday night by a one point margin 42 to 43.

At half time Maryland led by one point and each team scored 24 points in the second half. It was anybodys game up until the final whistle. Within three minutes of the end of the game Washington was leading 40 to 39 but Johnson for Maryland sank two goals to lead 43 to 40. Smith for Washington heaved one through from the center of the floor to reduce the lead to 1 point.

Zebrowski lead the scoring for Washington with 14 points and Smith and Kardash each scored 10.
