ON THE SCREEN AT THE NEW LYCEUM

JUST HOMEFOLKS—(left to right) Abner, Elviry and Cicero Weaver, top-ranking entertainers, who first introduced the Ozark mountain music to the world. They're making their first screen appearance in "Swing Your Lady," which comes to the New Lyceum on Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5.

A thrilling and soul-stirring picture of America's struggle against England during the War of 1812 is presented by Cecil B. DeMille in his latest historical epic, "The Buccaneer," which comes on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, February 28, March 1 and 2, with Fredric March in the title role.

It is a mighty panorama of a crucial period in history, showing the burning of Washington, the Louisiana of he picturesque Creole days, and the defense of New Orleans by General Jackson.

Pirate Becomes Hero

March is seen as a pirate who turns out to be a hero when he realizes that his adopted country, the United States, is in ranger of destruction. His sweetheart, Margot Grahame, a New Orleans belle, stimulates his patriotism by insisting that he become respectable be fore their marriage.

Although he helps Jackson win the Battle of New Orleans, he loses both his respectability and his sweetheart when the secret gets out that his men destroyed the American merchant ship "Corinthian," on which Margot's sister and many other prominent citizens were passengers.

With Jackson's aid, March escapes and goes into exile on his flagship, "Raven." Franciska Gaal, the only survivor of the 'Corinthian," whom he has made his maid-of-all-work, goes with him, and on the dcek of the ship he realizes for the first time that she is the girl he really loves.

In the supporting cast are Adkim Tamiroff, Ian Keith, and Walter Brennan.

DeMille spared no effort to make this production an overwhelming spectacle in keeping with the heart-stirring theme of the infant republic fighting for its life during the crucial days of the War of 1812. History on a glorious broad canvas, heroes and heroines of gigantic stature, and mass scenes of unparalleled splendor and brilliance unite to make "The Buccaneer" the greatest production of DeMille's incomparable career.

"Swing Your Lady," a Warner Bros. farce-comedy dealing with life among the hillbillies of the Ozarks, will have its first local showing on Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5 at the New Lyceum Theatre.

The story has to do with a champion wrestler and his entourage who get stranded in a hill hamlet. The wrestler, to get them out, has to take on a match with a local "ground-scuffler," and this battle is said to be one of the funniest things thrown on a screen this season.

It's more or less on the level, too, because the wrestling champ is none other than Nat Pendleton, the actor who at one time held the Olympic heavyweight title, and the hillbilly is Dan'l Boone Savage, the picturesque, bewhiskered strong man well known in the current grunt and groan racket.

Humphrey Bogart plays Pendleton's manager, Frank McHugh is his trainer, Penny Singleton is Bogart's heart interest, Louise Zazenda is a lady blacksmith, and the famed vaudeville team of the Weaver Brothers and Elviry are hillbillies.

Hawthorn Tree Hard, Tough

The hawthorn tree, 10 to 30 feet high, has little commercial value, although the wood, which is hard and tough, is sometimes used for making wooden articles such as mallets and tool handles.
