The question of the regulations for the sale of milk from Kent County to the Philadelphia markets continually presents a problem to the shippers and until those markets adopt a policy that can be guaranteed over a period of years local shippers will continually be faced with the problem of meeting changes that are both expensive and troublesome. It is very apparent that local shippers must first determine whether or not the Philadelphia buyers want and need the milk from this section. If the answer is yes, then they may be induced to have the health department of that State adopt the standards that can be depended to stay in effect for a period of years. If the answer is no, then it would probably be wise to look for some other market because the burden will always be on the seller. More and more of Kent County milk is being shipped to Greensboro for canning purposes due to regulations being changed in the Philadelphia markets and the inability of local farmers to meet the expense of these changes. Kent herds are clean of T. B. infection and the work of eradicating Bangs disease is going forward. With a milder climate than that of other shippers to the Philadelphia market and a fertile agriculutral section, Kent dairymen can produce milk that should bring a premium in the raw milk market and not have to be condensed into a product that offers a lower price for the raw milk. Dairying is not a new industry in this section as Kent County herds have been supplying milk to city markets for a long period of years. It is sufficient effort on the part of farmers to produce milk without having to continually fight to sell their product and although health and milk run hand in hand the health officials can more efficiently carry out the duties of their office if they would show efforts of cooperating with milk producers rather than carry on a high-handed dictatorial attitude. One would think from an address by a representative of milk buyers at a recent dairy meeting here that prospect were brighter for Kent dairymen but time has proved the reverse.

Washington Players To Present "Outward Bound"

The Washington College Players, under the direction of Professor J. H. Coberley, will present the thrilling modern play "Outward Bound" in William Smith Hall on the evening of Friday, April 8. It is the second major production of the Players during the present season, and will be the most lavishly staged of the recent productions of the collegiate group. When produced commercially, it starred, during its first run, such famous actors of Alfred Lunt and Leslie Howard. The setting of the play is a ship at sea, and the thrills of the play are supernatural, depending for their effect on the psychology of the mysterious.

The cast will be headed by the most experienced of the Washington Players, including Miss Doris Unruh, Miss Helen Loskamp, Mr. Charles Benham and others.

Old Timer Comments On Politics

Dear Mr. Editor:

I don't know whether the boys just aint talkin when I'm around or whether there aint no politiks talkin goin on but something has happened cause I haven't heard no real politikal gossip this week except for a little joking which don't make no sense. It may be just a breathing spell, it may be people is tired of it, but I think it hasn't got down to no real workable basis whereby people kin take it seriously. Corse weather en crops has jumped into hold people's attention en I guess it it is a good thing cause it is the best way to make a living. Only very few people make a living out of politiks an the rest just get all hot en bothered. I do hear the big boys made a raid on the Eastern Shore this week as the whole crowd who wants to be governer was here on Monday cept the newest candidate named Kennedy from Baltimore who seys he is goin to make the State safe for business men. I'm just wonderin what effect these big boys is goin to have on the people with their promises to do this en that cause I don't believe they have forgotten that $2.00 tag business partickler at this time when people are paying about $10.00 for them. I hear a lot about doing away with this tax en that tax en cutting down taxes but I ain't heard nobody explain just how they are goin to do it. In a lot of years of listening if all promises of cutting down on taxes were carried out the tax rate would be minus en we could live on what the boys would be payin us instead of having to dig deeper every year to meet some new tax. Another thing that might start the talkin again about the big boys is when they get ready to make public their running mates. There is a lot of jockying goin on cause nobody wants to make no mistake but I hear there will be at least two full State tickets in the field. Who will be lucky or unlucky enough to be picked will either get or turn away a lot of votes. I do hear that the counties are goin to be the turnin point in the election of Governor en if the county leaders are smart enough to get together en figure it out they got a good chance to be ace high with promises of favors from whoever is elected Governor en also to get a lot of places on the State ticket. Corse I don't know a lot but with not much talkin goin on I have had time to do a lot of thinkin this week which helps cut down on the tobakker bill cause when everybodys talkin you gotter do a lot of chewin en so expert marksmanship to get enybody to pay eny attention to you but when you are just sittin quiet like en thinkin it sure lasts a long time.

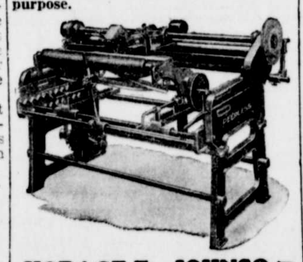

UNCLE JAKE.

P. S. Every bodys askin every body else what's going on en if you know enything don't forget that I like to listen.

Bulls Are Color-Blind

Contrary to popular belief, bulls are color-blind. It's a bright, moving article that usually attracts and enrages them, and something white will do the trick as well as something red, asserts a writer in the Washington Post. The size, strength and great rage of the beast have given rise to many popular expressions, such as "seeing red" (getting mad) "take the bull by the horns" (boldly face some problem); "like a bull in a china shop"; "like waving a red flag in front of a bull"; "bull the market" (try to cause a rise in market prices).

The Dominican Republic

The Dominican republic has both historic and scenic attractions. Ciudad Trujillo, formerly Santo Domingo, is the oldest European settlement in this hemisphere, having been founded by Bartolome, a brother of Christopher Columbus, in 1496.

Spices in Four Groups

Spices may be divided into four groups: roots, buds or flowers, fruits and barks. Ginger is a root spice. Cloves and saffron are bud and flower spices. Pepper represents the fruit. Cinnamon and cassia both are barks.

First to Say "I Came," Etc.

Julius Caesar in a letter to Amantius, announcing his victory over Pharnaces at Zela in Pontus, 47 B. C., was the first to say "I came, I saw, I conquered." In Latin it was "Veni, Vidi, Vici."

Discovered Sugar Crystals

Sugar crystals were discovered, according to tradition, by a Sixth century Mesopotamian medicine man while brewing a curative potion from sugar cane.

HELP KIDNEYS
To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Firemen Answer Midnight Alarm

Firemen were called out at midnight Wednesday to extinguished a fire in a dump across the river from Chestertown. The pil e of debris was in full blaze and nearby residents were afraid of sparks which were driven by a strong south east wind. The fire was extinguished with water carried on the truck.

Local firemen answered their third alarm this week Friday afternoon at the time of going to press when they were called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Nicklin in Quaker Neck to help control a field fire.
