ON THE SCREEN AT THE NEW LYCEUM

Henry Fonda in "I Met My Love Again"

Never before has filmdom produced an entertainment feast to equal the eye-filling, heart-gladdening, ribtickling musical extravaganza which Samuel Goldwyn has achieved in his great technicolor show "The Goldwyn Follies," which comes on Monday Tuesday and Wednesday, April 11, 12 and 13 to the New Lyceum Theatre.

For this most ambitious venture of his career, the producer, whose name is a synonym for great entertainment, has rounded up the greatest stars of stage, screen, radio, grand opera and the dance world, fitted them into one of Ben Hecht's grandest stories, and added the last and greatest musc of the late George Gershwin. "The Goldwyn Follies" more than justifies the terrific investment of money, time and effort involved and does great credit to the name which the producer has lent to an entertainment for the first time in his 25 years of picture-making. The film is historical in another sense, in that it marks Goldwyn's swing over to color films.

Wealth of Stars

From the radio world, Goldwyn has recruited Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Kenny Baker, who is already known to screen audiences, and the irrepressible comic, Phil Baker and his accordion. From the screen come the suave Adolphe Menjou, those mad,merry Ritz Brothers, who have never been funnier, Andrea Leeds, the lovely young actress who scored so heavily in "Stage Door"; and Jerombe Cowan. From grand opera, he has brought us the Metropolitan Opera's lovely star, Helen Jepson, and the talented newcomer, Charles Kullmann, both of whom make a triumphant screen debut. From the world of the dance we have the gorgeous Zorina, who proves talented as an actress as well as a dancer, and George Balanchine's famous American Ballet From musical comedy comes frantically funny Bobby Clark, who finds a perfect foil for his peculiar brand of madness in little Ella Logan. Then, of course, there is the usual dazzling aggregation of Georgeous Goldwyn Girls, supplemented by a dozen of Hollywood's loveliest and most talented tap dancers.

Sumptuous Entertainment

The story, a mad, romance-filled comedy of Hollywood, tells of a movie producer, played by Menjou, who finds he doesn't know what the public wants. So he hires a small town girl, in the person of the lovely Miss Leeds, to keep him posted and places her on his staff as "Miss Humanity." He falls in love with the girl, who in turn falls in love with a young tenor who runs a hamburger stand. The young man, played by the silver-voiced Kenny Baker, gets his big film chance and proves a sensation| Menjou menaces their romance for a while but finally relents and agrees to let young love triumph as it should.

Woven into the story are countless unforgettable production numbers, including two beautiful ballets, which prove a welcome addition to screen entertainment.

The technicolor is the most successful the screen has produced thus far and does full credit to Omar Kiam's eye-filling costumes and Richard Day's magnificent sets.

Among the many hit tunes introduced by the flim are "Love Walked In." "I Was Doing All Right," "I Love to Rhyme," "Love Is Here To Stay" and "Spring Again."

All in all, "The Goldwyn Follies" is the most sumptuous, most breath-taking and most magnificent entertainment the screen has produced. The production is released through United Artists

Bulls Are Color-Blind

Contrary to popular belief, bulls are color-blind. It's a bright, moving article that usually attracts and enrages them, and something white will do the trick as well as something red, asserts a writer in the Washington Post. The size, strength and great rage of the beast have given rise to many popular expressions, such as "seeing red" (getting mad) "take the bull by the horns" (boldly face some problem); "like a bull in a china shop"; "like waving a red flag in front of a bull"; "bull the market" (try to cause a rise in market prices).
