NEWS GATHERED ON THE PENINSULA

The strike at Crisfield of crabmeat pickers centered its second week today with no sign of settlement as registrations with the State Reemployment Service from Somerset county increased noticeably.

Officials of the bureau, where those not working must register before becoming eligible for unemployment insurance, said on March 31 there were 49 applications while on Saturday there were 685.

In addition to the 600 crabpickers, whose unorganized strike began when packers ordered a reduction of 10 cents per gallon of crab meat, about 300 women are unemployed, as two garment factories closed last month for indefinite period.

A city official, who declined to be quoted, said about ninety per cent. of the working population is idle.

Working Prisoners In Wicomico

Sheriff Charles H. Truitt of Wicomcio, said Tuesday that William Wilson, Negro "floater," sentenced on March 28 to six months in the Wicomico jail for larceny of a bicycle escaped last Thursday from the county road gang.

The official said that, since the start of working prisoners on the roads nearly a year ago, there have been a few escapes but that all but one of those who fled have been "floaters," the one county resident being recaptured.

Salisbury Plans Street Improvement

A $17,406 street improvement program for Salisbury the largest here in recent years and which will affect approximately 50 streets in all sections of the city and cover 12½ miles, will begin April 18, City Engineer Clarke Gardner said this week.

To be undertaken as a Works Progress Administration project, the city's share is being furnished, the official said, from Salisbury's share of the State gasoline tax revenue amounting to $5,300 and funds remaining from street maintenance allocations by the city last year.

Retriever Trials Great Success

The Chesapeake bay retriever trials held last Saturday afternoon on the farm of R. R. M. Carpenter near Bohemia bridge, Cecil county and sponsored jointly by the Eastern Shore Chesapeake Bay Club and the Dover Field Trial Club, was a big success. Water Wings, owned by Mrs. Royce R. Spring, of Easton, Md., captured the Open All-Age stake, feature event.

Will Continue C. C. C. Camps
