KENT COUNTY WILL GET FUND FOR SLAG ROAD REPAIRS

Senator Brice Secures Promise From State Roads Official

An official of the State Roads Commission assured Senator Arthur Brice this week that Kent County will receive a fund of $16,000 for the improvement of the present slag road system in this county.

The County Commissioners were notified last fall that the money had been allotted but until this week a definite agreement as to the use of this money for improvement of the present slag road system could not be reached.

The 50 miles of slag roads built in the county ten years ago need to be maintained with top dressing of a more permanent construction if they are to continue to carry traffic. An example of this top dressing is the road from the concrete to Quaker Neck Wharf.

The cost of this improvement is approximately $1600 a mile and the money will be sufficient to improve 10 miles.

TO RELEASE BEETLE PARASITES HERE TO FIGHT MENACE

Study Being Made Of Station Locations In County

Two officials of the State Department of Agriculutre were in Kent County this week locating the sections where the grub of Japanese beetle are prevalent in preparation for the releasing parasites to combat these insect pests.

The parasites are a wasp or fly which kills the beetle and have proved to be very effective in Japan.

The parasites will be released in all parts of the county, particulraly in the upper part where the beetle has been most prevalent. The sections most affected have been from Blacks station north including Millington, Massey, Golts and Georgetown. A few beetles have been found in Chestertown and Betterton.

Beetle Traps To Be Erected

Through the cooperation of towns, the County Commissioners, and the State and Federal departments of agriculture, beetle traps will be located in the county. This cooperative plan is worked out whereby the State and Federal government furnish the bait and traps and the local communities service the trap.

The towns of Chestertown and Millington have agreed to the proposal and it is being considered at Betterton and Galena. In farm communities the traps will be serviced by those residing on the properties due to the distances between the traps.

EDITORIAL

IN LAST WEEK'S issue the report of the annual election of officers of the Kent and Queen Annes General hospital was published without comment on our part due to the fact that the report was received at this office just before going to press. The facts concerning the meeting is that the Board at the annual election of officers elected Mr. J. Thomas Kibler to succeeed Mr. R. Oliver Wright as president of the Board. Mr. Wright has held that office since the hospital was opened and during that time the hospital has materially reduced its financial obligations and has each year increased its service to the public. Mr. Kibler, the newly elected president, has proved his ability to carry on the work by having served as president of other civic organizations that have also progressed both financially and from a point of community service. This community is indeed fortunate to have two such men who have been both able and willing to give of their time and effort to promote this civic enterprise which has proved itself one of the outstanding community assets. A special meeting called by Mr. Kibler on Thursday of this week for the purpose of discussing hospital affairs. The meeting was a very harmonious affair and it was the unanimous wish that Miss Elizabeth Wright reconsider her resignation as superintendant and that Mr. R. Oliver Wright and Mr. R. Hynson Rogers reconsider their resignation as members of the Board. In the meantime the hospital is functioning as before under the direction of Miss Wright as Superintendent as her resignation does not take effect until May 15th. Her work at the hospital has received the praise of the community and all who have served the hospital in an official capacity she took charge when the institution was opened and has ably filled the position since that time.

GRAND JURY URGES CURB ON LIQUOR SALE TO MINORS

Circuit Court Recesses Thursday Until Monday

The April term of the Circuit Court for Kent County convened on Monday o fthis week with Judges Thomas J. Keating and Owen Knotts on the Judge Keating charged the Grand bench.

Jury which immediately retired and completed its work Wednesday afternoon bringing in the following report.

To the Honorable Judges of the Circuit Court for Kent County, April term of 1938.

We, the Grand Jurors of Kent County have solemnly considered all cases brought before us by the officers of Kent County; we have diligently considerd the evidence as presented by 46 witnesses and on the face of this testimony have found 15 presentments and 15 true bills.

We have interviewed the Sheriff and find the general conditions in the county to be good with the exception of the sale of intoxicating drinks to minors which still exists to be a rather large extent. We recommend a more thorough investigation by the State Liquor Board in the granting of licenses in the County.

It has also been called to our attention the fact that minors are being employed in places dispensing beer and are serving same to the public, this being strictly against the law, should be investigated by the officers and an end be put to these practices.

We called the County Commissioners before this body, explained to them the condition of the second floor of the jail and lack of shower bath on the first floor. The Commissioners viewed with favor these suggestions and gave the assurance same would be attended to in the immediate future.

The jail was found to be in a sanitary and satisfactory condition with the exception of the aforegoing conditions.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Court, Clerk of the Circuit Court and his deputy, Sheriff, States Attorney and all other officers for their courtesy in assisting us in our duties.

SHORE TO EXHIBIT AT LIVESTOCK SHOW

To Supply Half Of Aberdeen-Angus Show Cattle

The Eastern Shore will be exceptionally well represented in the Third Annual Maryland Aberdeen-Angus Show and Sale. This event will take place Monday, May 2, at the Frederick, Maryland Fair Grounds. Of the 51 Aberdeen-Angus breeding cattle, 45 females and six bulls, presented for the public's inspection and appraisal, 28 females and three bulls come out of three outstanding Eastern Shore herds.

The Andelot Stock Farm herd, Worton, Maryland, will have a consignment of 14 females and one bull; Bennett's Point Farm, Queenstown, Md., are supplying seven females and one ull. The Wickwire Farm herd, Earleville, Maryland, was drawn upon for seven females and one bull. These three Eastern Shore Aberdeen-Angus Breeding establishments are deserving of much praise for the sale management was discriminating to the "NTH" degree in their selection of entries. This being the third annual event sponsored by the Association, it means that the going gets tougher each year. The folks on the Eastern Shore may well be proud of the accomplishments of these three herds.

The consignments from these three Eastern Shore herds will compete for prizes against the consignments offered by four other Maryland herds in a show at 10 o'clock in the morning. Mr. George Portius will place the awards on the animals and for the benefit of interested spectators and buyers will discuss his placings. This feature will be well worth your time and consideration, for Mr. Portius of Dunwalk Farm, Far Hills, N. J., is a man of wide experience. He has judged several major shows and furthermore has fitted and exhibited such outstanding herds as the famous herd of Judge S. C. Fullerton, Miami, Oklahoma, and the St. Albans herd of Pacific, Missouri.

At one o'clock in the afternoon, Col. Fred Reppert will bang the gavel down on the auctioneer's block and these 51 Aberdeen-Angus breeding cattle will be sold to the highest bidder. The Maryland Association has made an enviable record in previous sales and the management confidently feels that the offering excels all previous ones in blood lines, type and individuality. It takes a consignment of exceptional merit to make good their slogan, "Come to Maryland for Quality."
