ON THE SCREEN AT THE NEW LYCEUM

SHE'S MEANEST WHEN SHE'S LOVIN' MOST— Bette Davis as "Jezebel" and Henry Fonda as her hapless lover in the romantic drama of old New Orleans coming to the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesdaq and Thursday, April 27 and 28.

Although the new Claudette Colbert-Gary Cooper comedy, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday April 25 and 26 draws a parallel between a modern man-of-the-world and the legendary ogre of the fairy tale baaks, Producer-Director Ernst Lubitsch hastens to assure movie-goers that they should not expect too close a resemblance between the ancient wife-killer and the suave actor who plays the modern "Bluebeard" in the Paramount picture.

"As every one who has read the story book knows, the ancient Bluebeard was a medieval nobleman who had seven wives, all of whom he got rid of through murder," says Lubitsch. "Then along came his beautiful eighth wife who turned the tables on him by calling out her private army.

"Gary Cooper, the 'Bluebeard' of our play has seven wives whom he puts out of the way by the modern method of divorce. Miss Colbert, in the role of a lovely young French aristocrat who becomes his eighth spouse, puts him at her mercy by using artillery as effective as that of the resourceful young lady of the legend, even though it is more subtle. She scorns him, browbeats him, makes him jealous of other men and in a thousand little ways makes him realize that, after getting rid of seven wives, he has finally met a woman who can beat him at his own game."

The famous farce of Alfred Savoir, which has been turned into a screen production of "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," is set against the glamorous background of Europe's most famed pleasure spots, continuing the trend toward a sophisticated, continental atmosphere, which has proved so popular during the past season in such pictures as "Champagne Waltz," "I Met Him in Paris" and "Angel." Cooper, in his rcle of the multi-married multi-millionaire, meets his eighth wife and nemesis on the romantic French Riviera, and their subsequent madcap honeymoon takes them to such famed resorts as Venice, the Tyrol, Prague, Vienna, Switzerland and Paris.

With Bette Davis as star, "Jezebel," pronounced by previewers to be the best picture of her highly successful fareer, will have its local showing at the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, April 27 and 28.

This is a Warner Bros. drama with its action laid in New Orleans in the early 18.50's just before the yellow fever scourge descended upon the picturesque city.

Miss Davis portrays a spoiled, utterly selfish young socialite who takes career, will have its local showing at traditions of her class and period. But she is regenerated in the end by sacrifices she makes to help her chief suitor, played by Henry Fonda.

A rival beau is played by George Brent. Other capable performers in the high class supporting cast include Margaret Lindsay, Fay Bainter, Donald Crisp, Richard Cromwell, Henry O'Neill, John Litel, Spring Byington, Janet Shaw and Margaret Early.

"Jezebel" was originally a successful stage play by Owen Davis, Sr. It was adapted for the screen by Abem Finkel and Clements Ripley and directed by William Wyler.
