

THE SOCIAL WANDERER

DEAR ROAMER:

This is the day and age of games—indoor and outdoor. The cute little game of politics, so popular at the moment, I have often wondered whether it was indoor or outdoor. It clothes church suppers, it invokes half the radio programs, it inspires parades, and so far into the night is the game played. And so, for the next few weeks, make up your mind that you at least will be exposed to it whether you like it or not.

Meantime the committee under the capable chairmanship of Mrs. Jesse D. Maxwell is going ahead with elaborate plans for the Country Fair to be held November 17, 18, 19. The first meeting got off to a start with a luncheon held at the home of Mrs. Maxwell on Thursday.

There is to be a Harvest Queen with her court the opening night of the Fair, at which time she will be crowned. The Queen and court are to be voted upon by YOU. Can you imagine more fun? I think it is most novel and will certainly draw a crowd.

Little pink dodgers headlined "The Snoper" arrived in the mail this week announcing in the clearest manner the fact that the Bill Usilton's are staging a treasure hunt Friday night. Of course by the time you read this, it will be over, but if we will that we did on the last one the evening will be a howling success. I'll tell you about it next week.

Commander and Mrs. Hugh M. Branham, U. S. Navy, of Sunny Brook Farm near Chestertown have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Jocelyn to Charles Otis Vandervoort, son of Captain and Mrs. B. F. Vandervoort.

RECORD CROWD AT LYNCH HORSE SHOW LAST SUNDAY

Sixty Horses Compete In First Annual Event

The first annual horse show of the Middle Kent Hunt Club, held on the Hanson Farm at Lynch Station was considered a great success by both the sponsors and spectators. Twelve hundred spectators saw sixty-four horses put through their paces with enough spills to afford plenty of thrills.

Two of the outstanding among the girl riders were Misses Nancy Shakespeare and Marion Grieb who can well be considered among the outstanding riders in the State. The grand champion winner was awarded to Cassis Bell, owned and ridden by Davidson Coleman, of Massey.

Rev. Chamberlaine Dies At Centreville

Victim of a heart attack which first began to be felt on Monday afternoon the Rev. Alward Chamberlaine, rector of St. Paul's Church in Centreville died unexpectedly at the rectory Tuesday evening about 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Chamberlaine was in his sixty-eighth year.

He conducted services as usual on Sunday and was apparently in good health. On Monday afternoon he began to feel pain and took to his bed early that evening as the ailment became more serious until death ensued.

Appointed rector of St. Paul's on January 1, 1924, Rev. Mr. Chamberlaine had planned to retire in November next, and had been resigning church offices with that in view. Among these posts was that of President of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Easton, a position just below that of the Bishop, which he had filled.

VOTERS TO DECIDE ON REFERENDUM FOR CECIL JUDGE

Would Provide Additional Judge For This Circuit

On November 8, 1933 there will be submitted to the voters of Maryland a proposed Constitutional Amendment adding one Circuit Court Judge in the Second Judicial Circuit. Such judge is required to be a resident of Cecil County. The Cecil County Bar Association respectfully submits for your consideration this brief statement of facts and figures from which it will clearly appear that you are asked to support a measure that is reasonable, necessary and fair.

In the Second Circuit there are five Counties: Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Talbot and Caroline. There are 1919 judges in this Circuit. Since 1919, none of these judges have been residents of Cecil County. Cecil County however is the largest County in the Circuit. Its population is nearly double that of the three other Counties, and is seven thousand more than the next largest County.

Cecil County is far to the north of the rest of the Circuit, and fifty miles from the nearest Judge. There is no public transportation between these points and parties desiring to see a judge must drive a hundred miles.

Not only is Cecil County much larger than any of the other Counties, but by reason of its situation and circumstances, the business of its Court is far greater than that of any of the others.

Some reasons why its Court has more business are these: It is close to the great centers of population around Wilmington, Philadelphia, Chester County and the three settled parts of both Delaware and Pennsylvania. Each club has raised ten dollars ($10.00) toward linen for hospital and donated to supper at Mrs. Maxwell's in August.

The Home Ground Improvement, the Home Management, the Home Demonstration Agent. A demonstration on Grooming was given by Mrs. Foster Smith.

The following officers for the county were elected: President, Mrs. Florence Workman, Betterton.

Vice President, Mrs. D. C. Kelley, Kennedyville. Secretary, Mrs. Elmer Newsome, Quaker Neck.

Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Miller, Kennedyville. Pianist, Mrs. Walter Coleman, Rock Hall.

Chairman named for the various committees: Home Furnishing, Mrs. Ben Robinson, Still Pond.

Home Ground Improvement, Mrs. Nelson Watson, Quaker Neck. Cultural, Mrs. Richard Redding, Galems.

Music, Mrs. Howard Toulson, Still Pond. College Week for Women, Mrs. Frank Skirven, Fairlee.

Membership, Mrs. Lambert Plummer, Flatland. Hospital, Mrs. Richard Fellows, Betterton.

Finance, Mrs. Alan Urie, Rock Hall. Home Management, Mrs. Carson Greenwood, Still Pond.

Homemakers Club Elect Officers For Coming Year

Home Ground Improvement—the committee decided to have individual flower shows in the spring, rather than one county-wide Flower Show. The council also sponsored a Home Ground Contest, one for Town and one for Farm. There were eighteen entries.

The results were: For Farm Grounds—Mrs. W. T. Brice, Jr., first place, award a willow tree; Mrs. Mary O. Morris, second place, award red peony root; Mrs. Edward Heppburn, third place, award tulip bulbs.

For Town Grounds—Mrs. Earl Thompson, first place, award a willow tree; Mrs. Wm. Crow, second place, award red peony roots; Mrs. Laurie Hackett, third place, award gardenia rambling rose.

The Ten Point program for Home Ground Improvement includes: General Arrangement, Driveways and Walkways, Use of Trees, Foundation Plantings, Boundary Treatment, Screen Planting, Entrance Feature, Architectural Features, Special Development, and Use of Color.

Certificates were awarded to the following for completing one or more points: Farms—Mrs. Henry Watson, for lawn; Mrs. T. Brice, Jr., for screen plantings; Mrs. Edward Heppburn, for entrance and flower garden; Mrs. Wm. S. Ford, for foundation plantings; Mrs. Mary O. Morris, for screen plantings; Mrs. Thomas Brockson, for screen plantings.

Town—Mrs. Earl Thompson, for General Arrangement and Pool; Mrs. Wm. Crow, for Flower Garden; Mrs. Ben Robinson, for Lawn and Driveway; Mrs. Kennard Jones, for General Arrangement; Mrs. Garson Greenwood for Lawn and Screen plantings; Mrs. Laurie Hackett, for General Arrangement; Mrs. Mayme Satterfield, General Arrangement; Mrs. Julia Carter, General Arrangement.

Mrs. Earl Thompson reported Home Ground Improvement relative to Kent and Queen Anne General Hospital. Each club makes a monthly donation of fruit, vegetables, and canned goods, and has kept the Hospital supplied with potatoes. Each club has raised ten dollars ($10.00) toward linen for hospital and donated to supper at Mrs. Maxwell's in August.
