

ON THE SCREEN AT THE NEW LYCEUM

The most fascinating family that ever strolled across a silver screen is holding court at the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, December 26 and 27. So run down and welcome the Charming Carletons in David O. Selznick's gay comedy romance, "The Young in Heart," starring Janet Gaynor, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Paulette Goddard, with Roland "Topper" and Billie Burke heading one of the grandest supporting cases ever assembled for a motion picture.

It's our guess you'll take every last one of these lovable frauds to your heart—and thank this reviewer for tipping you off to the finest evening's entertainment this season has produced.

Based on I. A. R. Wylie's Saturday Evening Post story, "The Gay Banditti," "The Young in Heart" tells the lovable, laughable story of the Carleton Family, who live by their wits and their charm and can boast of having been kicked out of only the best places from the Riviera to London.

There's Father "Sahib" Carleton, an ex-actor, whose family loyally supports him in the preposterous myth that he is Colonel Carleton, late of the Bengal Lancers, and the role is made to order for Roland Young. There's charming, twittering "Marmy," played to the life by Billie Burke. And there are the two children, George-Anne (Janet Gaynor, who has become engaged to a sober, wealthy young Scot, who sees through her family and says so; and Richard (Fairbanks, Jr.) who has hooked a girl rich enough to take care of the entire family for the rest of their lives.

When the story opens the "Sahib" insistence upon mixing brandy, slight of hand and poker results in their being unceremoniously evicted from their rich Riviera hunting ground. They head toward an unpromising England, leaving the aforementioned lush possibilities behind.

But something will turn up, they are certain. And something does, in the person of little Miss Fortune, whom George-Anne discovers on the train. This tiny, timid and fabulously wealthy old lady, who has emerged from a life of obscurity to spend her last days getting a glimpse of the big her bosom.

which comes on Wednesday and Thursday, December 28 and 29 to the New Lyceum Theatre. The ideal starring team of Ray Milland and Olympe Bradna, a clever and sophisticated story and smooth direction add up to one of the most satisfying and entertaining pictures of the season.

The gay plot concerns the escapades of a handsome American playboy and his vivacious French bride, both of whom are forced to keep their marriage a secret under the most trying circumstances in order to save the young man's father from bankruptcy.

The picture opens with the arrival of the newlyweds in New York, after the young man has returned from a European golf tournament with a bride as his only trophy. The groom is played by Milland, more suave than ever, and the bride by Miss Bradna, who deserves the raves she got from critics everywhere last season.

to go through with it, while she herself takes a job as maid in the apartment of her unsuspecting in-laws.

One hilarious situation follows upon the heels of another as Milland tries to lead the respectable life of an engaged man under the same roof as his lovely wife.

Events reach a roaring climax when Milland's good-natured fiancée joins in the ruse and does her best to save his family's business without marrying him. The discovery that Miss Bradna is expecting an addition to the family causes her "employers" some anxious moments until the mix-up is finally cleared.

ROCK HALL

To the Editor, Business Managers and readers of the Transcript, we wish you each a Merry Christmas.

Rock Hall Sunday School had an attendance of 154 on Sunday. The choir sang "Adeste Fideles," Rev. and Mr. Gibbon sang "Blessed Quietness." Rev. Estelle Gibbon delivered a sermon on "Divine Power."

At the evening service Mr. and Mrs. Gibbon sang "The Great Judgement Morning." Mrs. Gibbon chooses as her topic for the evening service "The Great White Throne."

Two hundred and thirty were present at Wesley Chapel Sunday School. Rev. Lynch delivered the morning sermon on "God is Love."

In the evening, the Candlelight service was held. Musical numbers included were: Quartette by Jesse Downey, Emmitt Wood, Emory Hogans, Jr., and Thomas Warner, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night" by the Junior Choir, "First Noel" by Doris Townsend, "Fair Lord Jesus" by Louise Thompson, Doris Townsend, Thomas Warner and Frank Legg, "Away In A Manger," by Audrey Parsons and Roberta Townsend. The Annual Christmas Treat will be held Tuesday night.

Two new little girls have been welcomed into our community. One to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carter, the other to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hill.

Nerves NERVINE

Dr Miles NERVINE

"Did the work" says Miss Glivar

WHY DON'T YOU TRY IT?

After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Glivar used Dr. Miles NERVINE which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

If you suffer from "Nerves," if you lie awake nights start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order.

Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

At Drug Stores 25c and $1.00.
