RADIANT LIVING
Made Radiant By Hope
 By Rev. C. M. Griffith
Pastor Ridgely M. E. Church
 Ridgely, Md.

Men work out of darkness into light, out of failures into successes. The chemist seeking the discovery of a great achievement by working his way through an intricate maze of difficult experiments day after day and often year after year until he discovers the secret which is after.

When experiment after experiment fails to yield the coveted secret why does he persist on and on?

It is because of hope. Hope is the confidence that the object of your desire awaits you in the future.

The chemist possessing such a hope, such a confidence, can not be discouraged by the many failures of the present.

Perhaps you are not a chemist. Yet you have experimented with life. What you were seeking to find was happiness. But the results of your experiments have clouded your sky.

Perhaps they have brought on a night of despair. Yet there is a light above you. What if it is only as the light of a single star?

There are certain stars that herald the approach of day. Hope is such a star. It shines with the light of the day which is to be—the day for which you have been hoping.

"What makes your life so radiant?" I asked a man whose face was beaming with joy.

"Hope!" he declared. "Some day I shall walk with the King in the Realm of Glory!"

"But, man, you are having trouble, and your finances, you know—are gone," I hinted.

"I am living in the joy that is yet to be!" he declared triumphantly.
