ON THE SCREEN AT THE NEW LYCEUM

It's puppy love all right, when Betty Field can't make up her mind between the boy friend at her right and the one in her arms. Jackie Cooper is her ardent suitor, and the scene is from Paramount's "Seventeen," scheduled to show on Wednesday and Thursday, March 20 and 21 at the New Lyceum Theatre.

For once a new angle is discovered to the Civil War in "The Man from Dakota", which comes to the New Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday, March 18 and 19 without the customary North vs. South and family-divided-against-itself theme. Instead, the leading characters are two Yankee prisoners of war who escape the Confederate prison camp at Belle Island, and a Russian girl who joins them as a fugitive after she has killed a Confederate officer who mistreated her. And the result is one of the fastestmoving, most hair-raising melodramas of the past year.

Wallace Beery is the escaped Yankee sergeant who wants only to keep his stomach filled and head West; John Howard is his young and idealistic superior officer bent on regaining the Union lines, and Dolores Del Rio makes an impressive return to the screen as the Russian girl, Jenny. All three enter into the spirit of the MacKinlay Kantor story with a verve and sincerity which makes for thrilling entertainment, while memorable supporting characterizations are given by such familiar figures as Donald Meek, Robert Barrat, Addison Richards, Frederick Burton, William Haade and John Wray.

Leslie Fenton, directing, has achieved a pace which provides all the excitement of the best Westerns, and Edward Chodorow, producing, has kept a nice balance of artistic effect and red-blooded drama.

Americans who have never forgotten "Seventeen," Booth Tarkington's epic of young love, are certain never to forget Paramount's new screen version of the novel, which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, March 20 and 21, starring Jackie Cooper and Betty Field.

On the screen—as in the novel—"Seventeen" says all there is no say about that wonderful age when childhood is definitely over and manhood not quite begun, and says it eloquently and with bounding humor. Credit for the triumph must be shared by Tarkington for his human, believable story, and the Cooper-Field team for their lively, finely-drawn performances.

"Seventeen" concerns itself with the romantic experiences of every adolescent, but particularly of one Willie Baxter, a self-assertive, blundering, impressionable young man, played with his usual spirit by Cooper. The object of his affection—and cause of his torment—is a sophisticated charmer of seventeen, Lola Pratt, played by the witty, energetic Miss Field, who continues with Cooper a partnership commenced so successfully in "What a Life."

Willie, who's ceased to become a boy, realizes how complete a change he has undergone, when the charming, oh,so-grown-up Lola arrives from Chicago for a short visit in his indiana home town. The blade falls hopelessly in love with the seventeen-year-old woman of the world, and with the young lady's constant help proceeds to make a complete fool out of himself in the thorough, delightful way that only a seventeen-year-old can!

WHAT WOMEN LOOK FOR

• Every woman who buys furniture for her home knows how much real quality manufacturing adds to comfort.

What do you look for first in a davenport or an overstuffed chair? Deep, well-made cushioning and plenty of enclosed inner springs.

Now I figure you spend more time in your car than you do on your sofa, and you deserve at least as much care spent on making you comfortable. That's why I like to show ladies the seat cushions in the Ford V-8.

If you compare Ford cushions with those in other low-price cars, you'll find Ford doesn't skimp on comfort. There are six full rows of luxury-type inner springs! And there's no false front on a Ford cushion to fool you about its depth.

Other things that add to the comfort of the Ford V-8 are a long 123-inch springbase—double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers—and a stabilized chassis that doesn't dip, bob or weave on the road. It's amazing what a difference these features make in a long day's drive. You'll be fresher when you get there, in a Ford!
