

DEFERRED MEN LOSE RATING IF THEY QUIT WORK

Emergency Order Issued

Selective Service registrants qualified for military training who have been deferred as "necessary men" in defense industries will be reclassified for speedy induction into the National Armed Forces if they cease to serve in their civilian occupations, Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, deputy director of Selective Service announced, with the approval of President Roosevelt, following a conference with Secretary of War Stimson.

Lieutenant Colonel Henry C. Stannwood, State Director, has advised all Selective Service Agencies of Maryland of the following telegram received from National Selective Service System Headquarters.

"The President has proclaimed a state of national emergency. The Government of the United States is exerting every possible effort to place this Nation in a position which will insure its self-preservation. Congress has enacted the Selective Training and Service Act for the purpose of securing adequate men and has appropriated funds for the procurement of essential arms and equipment for the armed forces. Men by the hundreds of thousands have been selected and are now in training under the Selective Service Act. These men are giving their whole efforts to become strong in body, disciplined in mind, skilled and trained in the methods by which the country will be defended. These citizen soldiers have been promised that arms, supplies and equipment will be furnished by their fellow citizens who are engaged in the production of ships, airplanes, tanks, guns, and other necessary munitions and supplies. They know that other registrants have been deferred from service in the armed forces to accomplish that purpose. They demand that no citizen hesitate to do his full share in the strengthening of the defense of America. Our citizen soldiers have merged their individual desires in the common objective; the citizens who have been deferred because they are necessary in the production of defense supplies and equipment, may not refuse to do likewise.

"The basic principle upon which Selective Service operates is to keep the man on the job where he can render the greatest service to his Government. The citizen who has been deferred because of the job he is performing in the National Defense Program, cannot expect to retain the status of deferment when he ceases to work on the job for which he was deferred. The status of deferment and the responsibility to perform the necessary work are inseparable.

"Therefore, I hereby direct all agencies of the Selective Service System to take the necessary action to reconsider the reclassification of all registrants who have ceased to perform the jobs for which they were deferred, and who are, by such failure, impeding the National Defense Program."

Chopped or sliced hard boiled eggs, anchovies, and sardines, olives sliced or whole, grated carrot, sliced butter, pimentos, parsley, watercress, mint salad greens, chives, celery whole or diced tomatoes, cucumbers, lemon slices, a faint sprinkling of paprika, etc., all have their place in the garnishing of a given dish as well as in adding to the food content.

It is a good idea to keep a file of menus served certain frequent guests so that you do not give them repetitions of your favorite dish or dishes. This file could also include the dishes which guests like and dislike that they can be properly served from this standpoint. Or hit file might carry only your favorite menu combinations for quick ordering.

All half burnt candles should be saved for the country house, for emergency lighting when electricity is unexpectedly shut off by storms or any other reason.
