FROM THE NEW YORK EVENING POSTA

the recovery of their independence in the name cessful, and the prize was ordered in. of His Serene Highness the Prince of Orange. This official notice is signed by Marsdam and Van Hogendorf, in the name of the provincial government established at the Hague. The people are called upon to support and secure their independence, by voluntary contributions of personal and pecuniary services—to which the principal cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Leyden, Haarlem, Delft, &c. have responded, by declaring themselves free, re-establishing their old Regencies, and among the people, troops were found they joined the people in de- dates are to the 25th of November .- The artiallied troops had penetrated as far as Amersforf, from whence a detachment of four hundred (Barbadoes) and are headed thus, " Hail! They were received with open arms, imagine the nature of their contents. and marched forward to a fort at " Halfway Haarlem," garrisoned by French troops, who had sent as usual for its supplies, but the people refused to give them, unless they also hoisted the flag of Holland; with this answer, the officers had returned to the admiral, and no doubt the condition would be cheerfully complied with, so soon as the officers of the fleet were acquainted with the change that had taken place in the government of their country.

The New Government of Amsterdam was composed of Messrs. Von Boetzelaar, Onder revolution having taken place in the very heart | volt among the people of France itself, and in sight. NEW-YORK, Feb. 3. Intelligence had reached Albany, that Gen. Wilkinson's army at French Mills, were on the eve of marching for Sackett's Harbor.

From the Plattsburgh Republican of Jan. 29. Major General Wilkinson arrived in town from the Southward on Wednesday last. He has taken up his quarters in this village."

The Sceptre, the ship from which admiral Cockburn is said to have changed his flag, on account of her being hogged, or broken down, was built in 1803, and has probably been in service long enough to be called an old vessel. The Victorious, said to be ashore at Fisher's Island, was built in 1808, and took the Rivoli, a French 80 gun ship, up the Adriatic, in February 1812, after a terrible action, in which capt. Talbot was severely wounded.

Victorious is supposed to have laid her bones.

ral Cockburn's ship the Sceptre. Capt. Connelly received this information from captain Swain, capt, Coffin, and 4 other American captains, who landed at New London on Saturday evening, from on board the Sceptre. One of these captains was prize-master of a brig which had been captured by the privateer Yankee, and recaptured by the squadron.

On Monday, the British squadron off New London, exclusive of the ship on shore, consisted of three 74's and one frigate.

NEW LONDON, Feb. 2. In consequence of the great increase of the enemy's force off our harbour, Commodore Decatur removed his squadron up the Thames, on Thursday last.

Race, grounded near the west end of Fisher's Island, where she remained till yesterday, when | patriotism. she was got off. During this time the wind blew off shore and moderately, to which the enemy owe the fortunate circumstance of sav. ing the ship. She went on at the top of the tide, and had immediate assistance from the blockading squadron. The spot where she sent on shore is free of rocks. It is said she came to relieve Com. Hardy, but has probably returned to Halifax for repairs.

The ship mentioned in our last as the Victorious, is the Albion, capt. Devonshire. We have no confidence in the reports of a dash at the Orpheus frigate by the President.

It is stated to have taken place the day after Com. Rodgers sailed. The prize sent in by the President, refutes this story. Two deserters from the Ramilies, came to town on Monday. They belonged to a watering party on Fisher's Island, & escaped from thence in a skiff.

Nathan Bellows, of North Groton, on the 24th ult. committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn. He was a man of good property and fair character, and remarkably steady in his daily deportment. The cause of this dreadful step is unknown.

On the 8th, fell in with the ship Louisitania, and received the following particulars from Mr. R. Johnson, late passenger on board the ship John O'Gaunt, who lost the Queen's convoy Dec. 2, in a heavy gale of wind :-- "On the 4th they saw a frigate, which they supposed to one belonging to the convoy-on approaching her she made the signal, Dutch inverted Jack at the fore, to call in all detached ships of the convoy; she proved to be the French frigate La Clorinde, capt. Dennis Legarde, having escaped from Brest with some other frigates about the 1st Dec. During Mr. Johnson's stay on board the frigate, she succeeded in capturing the following vessels-Blenden Hall, Aurora, Louisitania, and Superb, all of which she burnt or scuttled, except the Louisitania; Lagarde asserting it was his strict orders so to do; on the 6th, the prisoners were all put on board the Louisitania, and the command given to capt. R. Johnson, with the official paper, as a cartel. Capt. Lagarde obliged capt. J. to pledge himself to lye to with the ship's head to S.E. until 8 P. M. on the 6th, when the frigate took a N.W. direction. On the 8th they fell in with the Louisitania as mentioned before and supplied her with several necessary articles. It appeared evident from questions that capt Lagarde put to lance. eapt Johnson that the former was in possession of the Signal instructions of the Convoy.
