a hard fight. The best accounts say the reinforcement of Gen. Drummond made it a fight to be regretted—terrible indeed the slaughter. Gen. Riall and aids, and one of Gen. D's aids, are taken prisoners and will be here to-night. Gens. Brown and Scott wounded, not dangerous; they are with the army, on their way to Erie fort. Many brave fellows are laid low, and will live forever in story.—The army advanced a small distance to-day—looked on the battle ground; the enemy were on the heights, we could not advance.

We burnt the bridge at Chippewa and have retired. Perverse have been the winds, so that M'Arthur's men could not get down, as all the transports are here, and the wind is W. 2000 men would be invaluable; and it is feared the enemy will be here sooner than we wish. I hope it is not so. They have never been harder fought, and I suspect feel too sore to move immediately upon us.

BALTIMORE: THURSDAY, August 4.

As we look with fond anxiety to every thing that can be rationally construed into a symptom of returning peace, we consider the arrival of a Minister from Holland as having an appearance that way—We go on the principle, that the present government of that country is now so intimately connected with England, that it would not take so important a step without the concurrence of the English Minister—But, as these diplomatic measures are extremely fallacious, the people of America will not be put off their guard, but continue to be every way prepared to meet the enemy—more especially, whilst he continues to send strong reinforcements to his army in this country, and whilst he is shamefully continuing his most atrocious mode of warfare on our coast, and in our rivers, from Eastport to the Potomack.

The following article we first perceived in a Philadelphia paper, then in a New York paper, and it seems to be travelling to the Eastward, to be retailed in all the publications of a certain description, which seem to delight in promoting mischief and discord—Here it is:

Worthy of Notice.—The following paragraph is extracted from a letter to a gentleman in Philadelphia, dated at BALTIMORE, the 24th ult.

"The alarm here is not as apparent as on the Potomac or Patuxent, yet the Demos are in great trepidation. The neighboring militia, to the number of 2000, are expected in a few days—the whole City force is ordered to parade once a week, and to keep themselves ready for an immediate call. To avoid militia duty, and escape from danger, it is an absolute fact, that a large number of foreigners, chiefly Irishmen, have reported themselves to the Marshal as Aliens, and received his certificate to that effect; alledging, that if found in arms against their King, they may be punished for treason! Among this number several old Citizens of Baltimore are included; some of them men of property, who have been exercising the privilege of VOTING for these 15 years!"

Upon application to the Marshal of this District, he declared, that, in the last six months, not more than 30 persons had reported themselves as Aliens, and these were workmen and mechanics, who had come lately to look for employment in the factories lately set up in Baltimore and its neighborhood; and, that he knew of no men of property reporting themselves to get clear of military duty.

Whether this nefarious fabrication originated in Baltimore, according to its date, or was invented in Philadelphia, where it made its first appearence in print, we cannot tell—The Philadelphia publisher could give a shrewd guess at the author—We hope the Gentleman does not reside in this city, because it would aggravate his guilt—Whoever he may be, he must now be afraid of discovery; perhaps, ashamed of his conduct—Meanwhile, we shall observe, whether the papers which have so industriously and so maliciously given circulation to the falsehood, will be bold enough, and honest enough, to publish this statement of facts.

Commodore Perry arrived in this city on Tuesday evening in the Steam-boat, on his way to Washington—We understand that this gallant Officer is appointed to the command of the Java, launched last Monday at Fell's Point.

From the Merchants' Coffee House Books.

THE ENEMY COMING UP.

An express arrived this morning from Annapolis, to prevent vessels leaving this river for the bay. We understand that the enemy's (small) fleet are within sight of Annapolis; they advance by night and lie to all day.

Extract of a letter to the Collector of the Port of Baltimore, dated Annapolis, August 2, 1814.

"Captain Atkinson, who commands a pilot boat schr. from Baltimore, has just reported here, that a British frigate and brig, and 2 small schrs are coming up the Bay; were at Sharp's Island at 12 o'clock this day, their barges then in chase of a schr."
