In sad and loving remembrance of my dear mother, Mrs. Barbara Spencer, who departed this life four months ago this month:

Your work on earth is finished,
Your course below is run,
You have gone home to heaven,
Your crown is glory won.
Gone but not forgotten,
By those who love you well,
And how much we miss you,
No tongue can ever tell.
When I look at your picture
And your dear kind face I see,
Then I know how much I miss you,
And how much you meant to me.
By her loving daughter,
Mrs. James Wilson,
nee Mary Spencer.

GLENARM.

There will be preaching at Waugh M. E. Church on Sunday at 11 o'clock. A. M. All are welcome. Sunday School at the usual hour, 10 o'clock.

FREELAND.

The warm weather is certainly making corn grow very rapidly. The way the hay fields are dotted with the little stacks indicates a good yield. Next week will be grain harvest and the prospect looks favorable for the farm.

Mr. George K. Shelly, who last Spring bought the J. H. Keeney flour mill near Middletown, has sold his farm near Bentley Springs to John Hunt for $8,000. This is one of the leading farms in that section.

Hurrah for the Fourth! The citizens at Maryland Line will celebrate the occasion tonight and the Ekloites on Monday night. The band of this village has been secured for each place.

COWENTON.

The Ladies' Aid Society was entertained on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Martin Myers.

Miss Mamie Vaughn, of Gayons, is spending some time with Mrs. Adolph Venzke.

Mrs. George Richardson is visiting her brother, Mr. George Robinson, at his home near Bel Air.

"I've got just the horse for you," said the flycatcher to a farmer who was a prospective customer. "He's five years old, sound as a bell and goes ten miles without stopping."

The farmer shook his head. "Not for me," he said, "and for me he'd go ten miles from town out and hit that horse I had to walk back two miles."

MOSES KAHN OF OLD TOWN

"The Good Maker of Kahn's Good Klothes."

COR. GAY and EAST STREETS

Just One Short Block South of Belair Market

There'll Be a "Hot Time in Old Town"
During this Sale.

MOSE has gone into his good clothing stock and cut prices down to the bare cost of production.

HE has done it for a two-fold reason—one to bring the big, high-price clothiers in the downtown section to their senses, and the other to clear his shelves and tables of all Spring goods, and to give his friends one grand, glorious feast of bargains in season.

THE sale starts at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, and it surely will be a "hot time in Old Town," while it lasts.

"MOSE" doesn't reserve a single garment in the house. Every suit and every pair of pants of his good home-made stock goes—and it goes just as he says.

"Your Good Money's Worth or Your Goods Back.
That's the Way "Mose" Does It, Boys.

A Man Who Is As Honest As The Days Are Long.

"Mose" Is a True Friend of the Masses

YES, "Mose" is a true friend of the Masses. The workingman's one hundred cents is worth as much to "Mose" as the banker's dollar.

"Mose" plays no favorites, and is not a respecter of persons. The "Boy" believes in humanity, and he believes that, naturally, everybody is honest.

It's this confidence in the people that makes him so many friends and customers and that has given him such a wonderful business.

As liberal as "Mose" is in giving to every deserving man he doesn't believe he has ever lost a dollar by it.

His customers appreciate the confidence that he reposes in them, and they stick to "Mose" and they bring their friends to him, and in that way "Mose's" business grows, and his friends and customers are all over Baltimore and in all the counties, and everywhere.

MOSES KAHN

"Mose" Doesn't Rob Peter to Pay Paul

"MOSE" doesn't cut his prices in a few odd lots of Suits and Pants, just to make a sale, and then "jack" them up on others to make himself even; but he tells you honestly that every Suit and every pair of Pants in the house goes into this sale, and every garment is "Mose's" own good make, and all this season's goods.

The list below doesn't begin to include the whole stock, but it gives you an idea of how he has "walloped" prices.

The goods are all seasonable Spring and Summer weights, and they're all new—made in our own workshop—for this season's trade.
