Mr. and Mrs. John Goshell celebrated their Fourth of July reunion together on their farm one mile from Maryland Lane. They were surprised by a reunion that had been planned by their children, this being the first time the whole family have been together for seven years. It was a great day for all. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Goshell, Mr. Robert Baily and family, of New Freedom, Pa.; Mr. Wm. Street and family, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goshell, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. Jesse Goshell and family; Mr. Milford Fletcher and family, of Maryland Line. The oldest and most settled people made lots of noise, but kept under a large tree. At night the children had a fine display of fireworks. Mrs. John Goshell kept close to a rocking chair, but claims to be a judge of ice cream. The only sad thought of the reunion of seven years ago is the loss by death of a daughter, Anna Hempt.

GLYNDON.

Mrs. H. Hack and sons, of Baltimore, have closed their home and reopened their home at Glyndon for the summer. Homer A. Rodeheaver, former trombonist, and song leader for Billy Sunday, entertained a large crowd at Emory Grove camp on Sunday. This was the second of the pre-camp services which are held at the grove on Sunday afternoons preliminary to the opening next month. Rev. Dr. William H. Morgan, pastor of First M. E. Church will preach next Sunday.

Mrs. Anderson, of Baltimore, has been a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert Dew.

A reception was given by the members of Glyndon M. E. Church to Rev. and Mrs. U. S. A. Heavener, who have recently returned from their honeymoon trip in Virginia. A musical program was given under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Wales. Mr. Robert Dew, on behalf of the congregation, presented the couple with several pieces of silver.

ARMACOST.

The farmers of this section are about through harvesting their wheat, which is only half a crop, it being destroyed by the fly.

It is time the farmers were getting together to save a little of the middleman's profit if they want to keep on farming. How about making arrangements with some fertilizer company to buy at wholesale price and purchase a threshing machine. If 20 farmers raise 300 bushels each, threshing at 10 cents a bushel would be $600. At that rate it would soon pay for itself.

The road is now open to Hampstead. If the Baltimore county end was resurfaced it would be an ideal road from White House to Hampstead.

Mr. Kenneth Rhoten is spending some time in Hampstead.

Dr. E. M. Wheeler, of Baltimore, is spending his vacation in this vicinity.

CEDAR GROVE.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Foster had as guests on Sunday last Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Nicol, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Foster; Misses Eva and Edna Foster and Master Vernon and William Foster.

The stork visited Mr. and Mrs. Guy K. Stiffler and left a little girl.

We are glad to see the surveyor at work on the Mt. Carmel road, upon which improvements have so long been badly needed.

The majority of our farmers are through cutting wheat. Threshing will now be the order of the day, some already being done. Our city folks who are accustomed to having the bread delivered to their door and are prone to prattle at the high prices the farmer receives for his produce never pause to think of the labor and cost to the farmer of producing the wheat. By what method of arithmetical calculation they get the large balance on the credit side of the farmer we fail to understand.

PARKTON.
