For President JAMES M. COX. For Vice-President FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

Where's that Factory Site Commission? A "Red" is one who hasn't read enough.

Priests will not come down until profiteers are knocked down. Cox, Smith and Benson will carry the election here hands down.

Bryan is holding out remarkably well in his political speech strike. The coal barons seem determined to keep the home fires yearning.

The hand that rocks the cradle will now proceed to rock the candidates. You don't have to get your portrait painted nowadays in order to be "done in oil."

Campaign fund managers are finding out that money sometimes talks too much. The Republicans are now sorry that they picked Harding as their candidate.

With the shortage of vans it is no longer "cheaper to move than pay rent." The doughboys did not invent the treat-rough policy. The laundries began it.

Bryan says he is a Democrat still, but on the subject of Cox he is a still Democrat. Women's gowns are designed by men, but thank goodness men don't have to wear them.

The middleman seems to be the principal reason why it's hard to make both ends meet. Gen. Obregon has won the Mexican Presidential election, and all is over but the shooting.

Baltimore county women will help keep Baltimore county in the Democratic column. Usually it is the man who howls the loudest about free speech that has nothing worth saying.

A full gasoline tank for the work-ingman might prove helpful to the party that adopted it. Lord Mayor MacSweeney has attracted more attention than all the other starving people of Europe.

Both parties are apprehensive lest the hand that rocks the cradle will be the hand that rocks the boat. In the continual war between capital and labor it is easy to see which side the public is on. The outside.

There is one certain fact, and that is that Ohio will provide the next President of the United States. Armed bandits held up the diners in a New York luncheon. In Baltimore City they aren't armed.

Maybe Blakeney can find some consolation in the fact that he is not the first man to lead a forlorn hope. The ladies are hereby reminded that when they go to vote in November there will be positively no alterations, approvals or exchanges.

Thousands of men will acknowledge that credit is becoming normal. They never could borrow a dollar and can't now. It's O. K. for a candidate to throw his hat into the ring, but it shouldn't be necessary for him to pass it around.

Cox and Harding have decided to conduct their campaign by speeches, but candidates in Chicago have decided to stick to the "pen." We bet that many a faithful husband washed up the supper dishes on Tuesday night while his wife wended her way to the polls to register.

Republicans are gloating over the Maine election. They seem to forget that the decisive "Main" election is scheduled for November 2. If it were not too late the Republicans might have a chance by displacing Harding for that landlorn in Chicago who has reduced his rents 10 per cent.

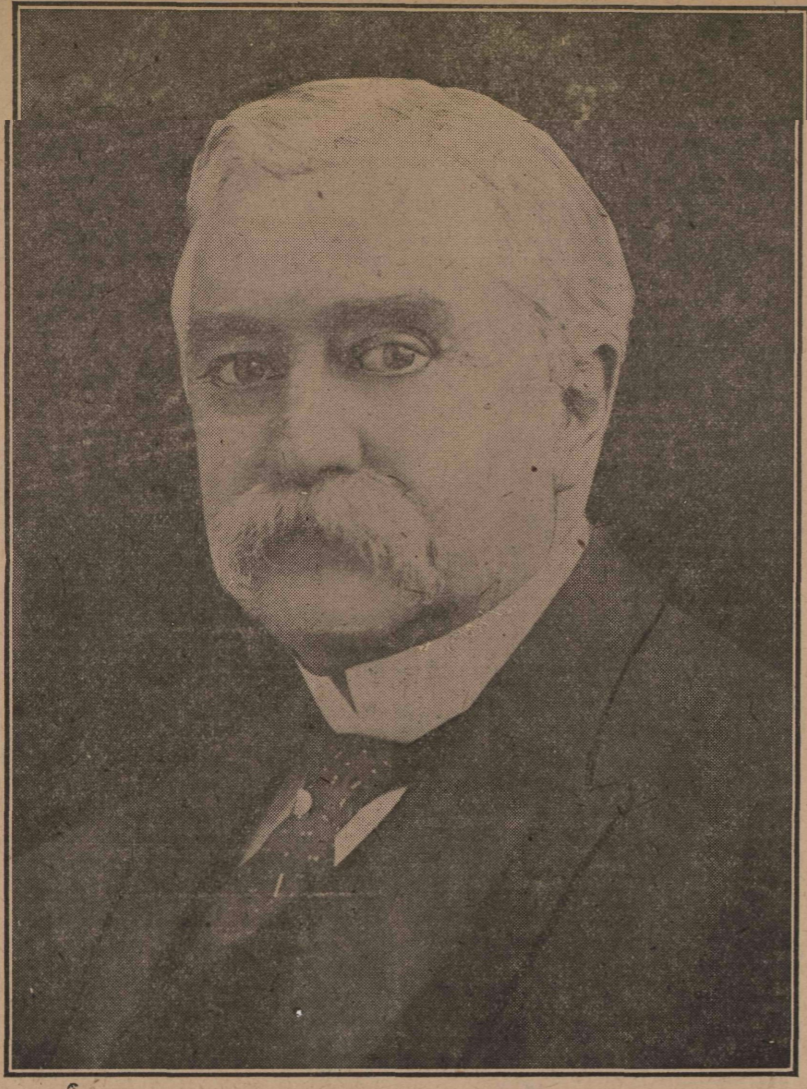

One reason why a hunger striker always draws more public sympathy is that he is about the only striker whose strike doesn't cut off someone else's food and comfort. In accord with the eternal fitness of things, the first female jury ever summoned in the United States was called on to decide a case involving a talking machine.

Not until Governor Cox stated that fifteen million dollars was sought to secure a White House for Senator Harding did we realize the seriousness of the housing problem. We are wondering when the School Board will erect an addition to the Towson High School. The crowded condition of the county seat's high school should demand its immediate attention.

Ninety-three cents of every dollar you pay as Federal taxes goes to help pay the expenses for past and future wars. A vote for Cox, Smith and Benson means a vote for the League of Nations, and the League of Nations means an end to gigantic wars. Senator Harding has assured the workmen that he never said a dollar a day was enough for him. He has assured the farmer that he never said a dollar a bushel was enough for wheat. The barbers are now waiting to be assured that he never said a dollar was enough for a hair cut.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS OVERSHADOWS ALL OTHER ISSUES. As the end of the campaign approaches the issue as to whether or not the United States should join the League of Nations predominates over all others. Despite the efforts of the Republican candidates and campaign managers it will not down, and it is clearly becoming more embarrassing to Senator Harding every day.

BALTIMORE COUNTY WILL NOT GO BACK ON HIM

United States Senator John Walter Smith, candidate for re-election to the "Upper" House at Washington.

Senators Borah and Johnson have threatened to desert him because he would not declare himself in favor of "scrapping" the League, while Ex-President Taft and President pro-tem Republicans have been very much disconcerted because he would not at least give some qualified support to the measure. The result is that the Republican Presidential candidate is between two fires within his own Presidential campaign.

Senator Harding's position upon the League of Nations issue is, we submit, lamentably weak and indefensible. He is in a peculiar predicament. He is being asked to speak his mind freely upon a great public question because to do so might embarrass the final solution of the question. He says, in effect, "I can not tell you just what I shall do, but elect me President and I will then consult some of the 'best minds' in the country and try to form an association of nations to promote international peace."

COX AIDS FARMERS (Continued from Page 1, Col. 3.) Important was the Federal Farm Loan Act, which lifted off burdens of debt from thousands of families. Under its provision twelve Federal Land Banks are in operation, with the result that interest rates have declined from 25 per cent. in some cases to 5 1/2 per cent. with mortgages extending up to 35 years. Another piece of beneficial legislation was the provision in the Federal Reserve Act authorizing national banks to lend money on farm mortgages and giving the farmer's paper a maturity of six months.

The Federal Aid Road Act of 1916 materialized Federal and State cooperation in building and paying for roadways, the whole program calling for an expenditure of $600,000,000, of which the Federal Government pays $209,000,000 and States, counties and municipalities $391,000,000.

assurance extending to June 1, 1920. The policy of the administration in agricultural matters is evidenced by the fact that the greater part of all the legislation on the status books of the United States which has for its purpose the development and aid of agriculture has been enacted within the last seven years.
