WHAT WILL THE NEW TAX RATE BE?

County taxpayers should not lose sight of the fact that the end of the fiscal year is near at hand. By an act of the last Legislature, the fiscal year in the county was changed so as to make it conform to the calendar year, and the tax levy for this year was accordingly made for the 8-month period beginning May 1 and ending December 31.

The County Commissioners are now working on the levy for 1921 and it is expected that they will fix the rate during the early part of December.

The budget for schools yas submitted to the Commissioners on Wednesday by Superintendent Clarence G. Cooper, and is considerably larger than the budget submitted for the current year, owing to increased salaries for teachers. The Commissioners have the power to cut down this budget, but in view of the general public sentiment in favor of increased salaries to teachers it is not believed they will be able to do much paring.

The budget for roads has not yet been submitted, but it will be before the levy is made. Under the new road law it is made the duty of the Roads Engineer to submit a budget to the Commissioners on or before the first of December, which shall contain a comprehensive statement of all proposed expenditures for roads and bridges during the coming fiscal year, and once this budget is approved it will be binding both upon the Roads Engineer and the Commissioners. It is expected that the roads budget, like the schools, will be considerably greater than the current year's appropriation.

The tax rate for the current year is $1.13 for the 8-month period, or the equivalent of $1.69½ for 12 months. In view of the inevitable increases in appropriations for schools and roads it is difficult to see how the County Commissioners can reduce the rate for the coming year, although it is not expected that it will be materially increased. While the expenses of the county have increased, the taxable basis has also increased, although not in the same ratio.

But even though the county rate for next year should go up to $2—which does not seem likely, however, at this time—the burden to be assumed by county taxpayers will not be nearly so great as the burden to be assumed by Baltimore City taxpayers. The City authorities, like the County Commissioners, have been working on their new levy, and while the rate has not been fixed, it is generally agreed that it can not be lower than $3. And as-

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce Avinculo Matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant, Josephine P. Clark. the license fees from Pimlico as a matter of right. But inasmuch as the Legislature, largely as the result of Mr. Cook's activities, has provided that the county should nevertheless receive these fees why benefit the County Commissioners for having employed and paid Mr. Cook for his services?

It has been generally known among people in close touch with county affairs, ever since the 1920 Legislature convened, that Mr. Cook was employed to look after the county's interest in this matter, but it has been regarded as a subject which the County Commissioners could not very well afford to advertise too extensively, through fear that the City delegation, lashed by the city press, might be led to put up a fight for the repeal of the law at the next session. And this is what is apt to happen if the Taxpayers' League insists upon giving the matter more publicity.

It is not an uncommon thing for municipalities to employ special legislative counsel in matters of this kind. At the 1920 session the City of Baltimore employed former Mayor Preston as its legislative counsel at Annapolis, and paid him a good fee. It was done secretly, but up to this time no taxpayer of the City has been heard to complain about it.
