

IS A PATIENT AT CHURCH HOME AND INFIRMARY.

County Commissioner John W. Grace, who was operated on recently, and whose condition is reported as improving.

TOWSON AT A GLANCE

 Miss Elizabeth Caples was the guest of Miss Ann Frankenkfeld here.
 Mr. Franklin Cole, of New York, spent the week with his parents here.
 Miss Lou Parks will entertain a party for her friends at her home this evening.
 Butts, of Pittsburg, is the guest of her sister here.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merryman and daughter, Charlotte, of Sparrows Point, are visiting Miss Lou Parks.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. E. Treadwell, of Norfolk, Va., are spending the holidays with their parents at the county seat.

—Mr. John Frankenkfeld and father are spending Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reckord, of Cockeysville.

—Mr. Edward Rutter's Christmas dinner was assured when he won a 30-pound gobbler at the hotel here one evening this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. Clarence Craumer and Mr. Craumer's mother, Mrs. Louise M. Craumer are spending Christmas with friends in Hamilton.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Bourke, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dunphy, Jr., are spending Christmas at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dunphy here.

—Seven hundred and sixty-three people viewed The Jeffersonian's community Christmas tree and realistic garden this week. They appreciated it, and so will you. Come! We'll be mighty glad to see you, and don't forget to bring the youngsters along.

—Mrs. Kolb, who conducts the Court Lunch Room here, while rounding the corner of Washington and Chesapeake avenues on Thursday afternoon crashed into a trolley pole in front of the Court Drug Store, smashing the radiator of her car.

—While speeding along Pennsylvania avenue between the York Road and Washington avenue, the rear wheel on the auto delivery wagon of Held's Bakery came off, and had it not been for the skill of the driver in bringing the vehicle to a stop quickly a serious accident might have happened.

—On Tuesday, Judge Duncan signed an order in the Circuit Court here requiring Louis Friedman to pay his wife, Mrs. Pollie Friedman, $20 a week alimony and a counsel fee of $50 pending the settlement of Mrs. Friedman's bill of complaint for alimony filed on Monday. Mr. Friedman is also restrained from disposing of his property or withdrawing money from the Reisterstown Savings Bank.

—The sensational charges and the technical arrest of Police Marshall Carter, of Baltimore City, concerning stolen autos, is linked, it is understood, with the expose of evidence placed before the city grand jury recently.

—Yes indeed, folks, Towson is really going to have a new railroad depot. The old "hen house" that stood beside the tracks of the Maryland & Pennsylvania Railroad was put on rollers this week and moved to make room for the foundation for the new structure. By, my, what an appropriate Christmas gift for the town.

—The Christmas entertainment of the Pine Grove Public School, of which Miss Irene Bell, of Towson, is principal, was held on Wednesday evening last. Mr. Logie Bennett, editor of The Jeffersonian, was on the program, he giving a "chalk talk" which lasted about 20 minutes. The balance of the evening was spent with recitations and singing by the children.

—Mrs. Chenoweth, rural mail carrier out of the Towson postoffice, had a narrow escape from serious injury and possible death when her automobile skidded on the sleety roadbed of Burke avenue, at the foot of the hill at Eudowood Sanitarium and slid over the side of the road near the culvert and down the bank. As it was, Mrs. Chenoweth suffered nothing but shock.

—Christmas greeting cards were received at The Jeffersonian office this week from Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Hatch, Black & Co., Dill & Collins Co., Eloy-Rydstrom Co., Inc., Mr. Calvin E. Hubbard, Mr. Water D. Hess, and E. Hubbard, Mr. Water D. Hess, and very attractive in design and vivid in color. Let us extend our hearty thanks for same.

—After having battled with the Kaiser's best soldiers on the fields of France, and dodged shot and shell as a member of Uncle Sam's fighting forces for months, and coming home without a scratch, J. Carl Weimaster, a member of The Jeffersonian staff, became a victim of Dan Cupid's arrow this morning (Christmas) at the Towson M. E. Parsonage, the Rev. Richard G. Koontz performing the ceremony that united him and Miss Margaret Perego, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perego, in wedlock. Carl had been gathering information on married life for some months, but no one dreamed that he intended to "cross the bridge of sighs" so soon, but the "big was up" yesterday (Friday) when Ed Bowen, another member of The Jeffersonian staff, spied Carl leading over the marriage license desk in the Clerk's Office at Towson, and after scribbling on the big book, hand two-dollar bill, Ed knew then that all was up; that in the near future and sure enough he did. After a week's honeymoon through Pennsylvania the couple will reside at the Weimaster home on N. Fairmount avenue, Towson.

—The proposed reorganization of the various executive departments of the government will, it is estimated, save a million dollars per day.

—The prisoners in the Maryland Penitentiary may make policeman's and firemen's uniforms now since contract labor there has been abandoned.

—Having run into the automobile of Rev. H. M. Hancock, of New York City, George Carbone, a truck driver, was severely thrashed by the parson.

—A large barn, corn crib, and hay barn on the farm of Thos. L. Montgomery, about 5 miles from Elkton, was destroyed by fire one night this week.

—The English government is making an actual move toward the conciliation of Ireland.

—While interceding for another, a parish priest was shot dead in Cork, Ireland, by a policeman.

—Two men entered the dining room of the Hotel Astor, New York, and held up the guests dining there.

—Alex. Pierce Jackson, Judge of the Cecil County Orphans Court, died of Bright's disease on Wednesday last.

—Postmaster General Baileston has again urged that the postage on first class letters be reduced to one cent.

—The big woolen mills of the North entered into an agreement to cut wages 25 per cent, effective January 1st.
