

TEAPOT THAT IS BOILING OVER.—The original rock in Wyoming whose shape gave the name to the Teapot Dome oil reservation, the revelations of alleged graft and crookedness by government officials in connection with which have profoundly stirred the country. Wide World Photos

FEET THAT PERFORM MANY FEATS.—James Elroy, a performer at the Olympia in London, playing a cornet with lips and feet. He lost his hands in a fire when a child, and since that time has trained his feet to take their place. He uses them to shave, dress and feed himself, and has also developed into a good rifle shot. Wide World Photos

DARING SKI-JUMPER RISKING LIFE AND LIMB.—Walter Amstutz of international fame as a ski expert giving a sensational demonstration of a difficult jump turn in

Kadel and Herbert

A DIP IN THE ATLANTIC UNDER SEMI-TROPICAL SKIES.—Gobs taking a high dive off a boom swung out from the American flagship in one of the intervals of the war game played by units of the United States fleet off Panama.

International

mid-air at Murren, Switzerland.