THE MUSIC OF HEAVEN

Evangelist John Moses Baker Baltimore, Maryland

Music of Heaven into your life; Sweet melody from above; The voice of Jehovah speaking In tones of perfect love.

Sweet harmony of peace divine, That echoes in the soul. Open your heart's door to Jesus. Who alone can make you whole.

Gladden your life with music, The song that the angels sang To the wandering shepherds long ago. When the bells of Heaven rang.

There is something divine in music, Coming down from Heaven above Around the great white throne the Of God's redeeming love.

Through the magic halls of memory Music's melting, mystic lay. Ever leading us onward and upward To that land of perfect day.

Visitors

Several members of the alumni visited our school this week. Philip Foster and Ellis Wiggins, from CCC camps, visited on Wednesday, and Wilson Kelly, a student of Western Maryland, visited on Thursday. Senior Class Play

The play "A Full House" will be presented in the High School audiand 24, at 8 o'clock. The production this year is a farce comedy, full of fun and action. The plot is one which will hold the interest until the very end of the play. We believe that everyone will like it. At any rate we are all doing our best to make it a good evening's entretainment. The characters are as foliows: Parks, an English servant, Paul Graybeal; Susie, the maid, from Sioux City, Mary Thomas; Ottily, the bride, Jean Poist; George Howell, the bridegroom, Alvin Lucas; Miss Winnickers, the aunt, Ruth Little; Daphne, Ottily's sister. Lorraine Johnson; Ned, an only son, Robert Benjamin; King, the stranger, Spencer Murphy; Daugherty, a police sergeant, Clifton Brown; Mooney, a policeman, Alfred Gyles; Kearney, another, Raymond Jugler; Mrs. Fleming, who owns the apartment, Hope Reynolds; Vera Vernon, a show girl, Helen Taylor; Mrs. Pembrooke, from Boston, Neva

The Senior Play is an annual event and has always been well patronized by the members and friends of the school. We would very much appreciate your patronage and co-operation this year in order to make our play a big success.

Filing

The Junior Business Training class has just finished another big important unit in one's later life;

In this study we took up all the different methods of filing in the home; files in a principal's office; files in a library and files of big companies and corporations.

The class was taken into Mr. Zimmerman's office and showed his filing system. As John Keppel says, "There isn't another one like it. It's Mr. Zimmerman's own method."

For optional material pupils were to examine Mr. Zimmerman's files and the files in the library and suggest any improvements which they thought should be made.

This all proved very interesting but hard and we are making great progress in our group.
