

JULY ROTOGRAVURE SECTION

Readers of The Midland Journal like our State Farmer Section, the all-rotogravure agricultural monthly magazine section—Many of them have assured us of this fact. And, best of all, assert many of them, are the scores of pictures which our State Farmer Section always presents.

Answering their demand for even still more pictures, the July State Farmer Section is going them one better next week presenting an especially extensive display of photographs featuring the Del-Md-Va. peninsula.

For instance, on the back page next week, you will find a thrilling photograph of Chesapeake Bay log canoes, a type of sail boat peculiar to the section around Easton, Md., as they sail over the waves in an exciting race.

Another well illustrated article will be that by George H. Dacy, well known agricultural writer, who will tell in figures, facts and photographs why the Eastern Shore is truly America's truck garden.

Perhaps it's only fair to our women readers that they be advised in advance that complete instructions will be provided for them on how to crochet a smart "straw" hat for themselves. The hat isn't really a "straw," but is made of crepe paper at a cost of only 15 cents. Other style suggestions for smart summer wear, recipes for some delightful sandwiches, pictures of the recent world-wide conference of farm women at Washington, D. C., are among the other decidedly worthwhile features which women readers can look forward to in the big, two-page rotogravure women's section next week.

You'll certainly enjoy Pete Getty's column of home farm philosophy, Dick Wood's outdoor life article and other regular features carried on page 4 of our State Farmer Section next week.

NOTES ON THE JAPANESE BEETLE

Householders and farmers in the Japanese Beetle infested area of Cecil County are advised to take immediate steps to combat the beetle. Delayed control is not effective. Once the beetles have covered a plant it is almost impossible to protect it. Plants should be covered with spray shortly after the beetles begin emergence and kept covered.

Japanese Beetles are now emerging by the thousands in Elkton and vicinity. Beetles will continue to increase in abundance, over a period of several weeks, until they reach their greatest numbers, around July 20.

Judging from its ravages in other areas, the Japanese beetle, in time, will probably be one of the most serious insect problems with which the people of the county have ever had to contend. It is an imported insect coming from Japan to this country in 1916 and was first found near River-ton, New Jersey. It feeds on more than 200 plants and is a destroyer of foliage and fruit. Apple, peach, grape, and cherry, as well as many vegetable and ornamental trees and shrubs are greedily devoured.

Control of the Japanese Beetle is difficult due to the wide range of plants upon which it feeds. Relief from damage may be had by following several simple control practices. Spraying in conjunction with trapping, jarring, soil treatment, and carefully selected planting plans are effective for control.

Sprays of hydrated lime, 1 pound in three gallons of water, will protect grapes, small fruits and the foliage of tree fruits. This spray is readily available, and non-poisonous. Ornamental shrubs and shade trees may be protected by spraying with common arsenate of lead, 3 pounds; and wheat flour, 2 pounds in 50 gallons of water. Pyrethrum soap sprays are effective for killing beetles on flowers and tender foliage.

A lawn may be made immune to injury, for a period of five years, by treating with arsenate of lead, 15 pounds to 1000 sq. ft. of lawn.

Traps are efficient for catching large numbers of beetles. The jarring of heavily infested trees and shrubs, early in the morning, over sheets spread on the ground is also an excellent way to collect beetles.

The most effective way to control the beetle is to avoid its damages by the selection and painting of those plants that are not attached. This is not always practical or profitable, however, it should always be given careful consideration.

Details on control may be had by communicating with the County Agricultural Agent.

CLUB HOUSE AT CASCADE

The Club House at the State Military Reservation, Cascade, Maryland, located in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, at an elevation of fifteen hundred feet, will open on and after July 6th, 1936.

Originally erected for the accommodation of the families of members of the Maryland National Guard the Club House is situated on the banks of a mountain lake. It is built along the lines of a mountain lodge, with fifteen bedrooms, a large dining room, a large lounge, and spacious porches. The facilities, heretofore reserved for members of the Maryland National Guard and their families, will be made available to the public this season at nominal rates. Splendid bathing and boating facilities are available to guests and the summer resorts of Pen Mar and Blue Ridge Summit are within five minutes riding distance. Waynesboro, Pa., is only five miles distant. The Military Reservation proper comprises an area of seven hundred and fifty acres, situated in a valley between two mountains. All the facilities of the Military Reservation are available to guests. The Club House will be operated on the American Plan only, and as there are only a limited number of rooms reservations should be made in advance by writing Mrs. Mabel R. McComas, Hostess, Club House, State Military Reservation, Cascade, Md.

P. R. R. RETIRES MARYLAND DIVISION VETERANS

On July 1 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company placed on the honor roll William C. Peehly, operator-clerk, who lives at Elkton, was born at Elkton, and entered the service as a warehouseman at Elkton Sept. 1, 1889, and was promoted to a telegraph operator October 1, 1890. His service covers over 46 years.

William H. Rollison, elevator operator, who lives at Oxford, Pa., was born in Harford County, Md., and entered the service as a laborer on February 15, 1899. He left the service February 17, 1899; re-entering as a freight brakeman on October 7, 1899; and was promoted to passenger brakeman, November 29, 1903. His service extended 37 years.

DEATHS

BRUNO MACK

Bruno Mack, 45 years old, superintendent of the Rosehill farm, near Earleville, died Monday while attempting to get his boat ready to take his wife and Mrs. Edward Page of Philadelphia, wife of the owner of the Rosehill farm, sailing on the Sassafras River. Corner Stanley D. Jeffers of Elkton, after making an investigation, deemed an inquest unnecessary and gave a certificate of death from heart failure.

CURTIS M. JONES

Curtis M. Jones, of near Elkton, where he formerly conducted a concrete block business, died June 19 as the result of a kick by a horse, suffering a fracture of the skull.

Mr. Jones was the only son of the late Oliver W. and Sarah Jane Biddle Jones, and was born in Upper Elk Neck February 8, 1874, his life being spent there and in Elkton until he moved to his farm west of Elkton.

Surviving are his wife, who was Miss Rebecca Heath; a daughter, Harriet, wife of Ralph George, and five grandchildren; three sisters—Mrs. Della Rementer, of Wilmington; Mrs. Carrie Pearce and Mrs. Alfred Simmons, of Elkton. Interment was made Friday in Elkton cemetery.

GEORGE T. REYNOLDS

George T. Reynolds, aged 86 years, died June 24, at his home in North East. Funeral services were held Saturday in North East M. E. Church, of which the deceased had long been a member, and interment made in North East cemetery.

He is survived by five children: Mrs. Viola Kennedy, Prospect Park, Pa.; Mrs. John Baker, Chester, Pa.; Mrs. Elizabeth Reeder, Crumby, Pa.; Mrs. Groom Clark, Millville, N. J.; and William Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds is also survived by two brothers, Sylvester Reynolds, North East, and Frank Reynolds, Principio Furnace, and two sisters, Mrs. Martha J. Seaton, North East, and Mrs. Mary Parsons, Yeadon, Pa.

DR. R. B. ELDERDICE

Dr. Robert Breckinridge Elderdice, 39, who completed ten months' service in Company B, One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Regiment, Pennsylvania Infantry, in the Civil War, before his seventeenth birthday, died at his home in McKnightstown, Pa., Sunday night of infirmities of age. He had practiced medicine for sixty-nine years.

He was a native of Port Deposit, Cecil County, Maryland, and was a son of the late James M. and Nancy S. Breckinridge Elderdice. Surviving are two daughters, a sister and three brothers.

At his own request, Dr. Elderdice was interred in the Soldiers' National Cemetery, Gettysburg, Wednesday. He was buried with military honors.

T. J. HADDOCK

Thomas J. Haddock, retired contractor, died Sunday at his home, 207 West Fourteenth Street, Wilmington, Del., after an illness of five months.

Mr. Haddock had been in business for himself for a quarter of a century. A native of Wilmington, he was a son of the late Samuel and Louisa Haddock. His early life was spent in Cecil county, near Zion. His wife, Mrs. Edna K. Haddock; a sister, Miss L. A. Haddock; and a nephew, W. Albert Haddock of Wilmington, survive.

The funeral took place from the home Wednesday at 3 p. m., with the Right Rev. Phillip Cook, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware, officiating. Interment was at Riverside Cemetery.

MIRACLE HOUSE OPENS

The Miracle House at Claiborne was opened for the seventeenth season on June 22, when nearly one hundred children left Baltimore for the Eastern Shore.

Many of these children are contact cases of tuberculosis, and need to have their small bodies built up so that any infections they might receive can be overcome. The children are of both sexes, and are from six to twelve years of age.

According to William B. Matthews, managing director of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, this season should be one of the most successful in the history of the Miracle House. He said, "All of the children have been very carefully selected in order to insure those needing the treatment the most of getting it. Our purpose is to prevent tuberculosis and those who attend have shown that they are in need of this care."

The children left Baltimore in the morning for Annapolis where they boarded the ferry for Claiborne. A holiday spirit was noticeable for a summer in quest of health.

Also the people who marry for money may repent at leisure.

COLORA

The many friends of Rev. W. Ernest Greenfield were sorry to learn of his death, which occurred the past week at his home in Perryville. Mr. Greenfield was pastor of Mt. Pleasant M. E. Church, Colora, for six years, it being his first appointment. The family resided in this town quite awhile.

There was a very large attendance at the Children's Day exercises at Mt. Pleasant M. E. Church Sunday evening.

Several from this community have been attending the Firemen's Carnival in North East.

Samuel W. Fitzgerald and family are enjoying a new car.

Some repairs have been made to the barn on the Freeman farm, near West Nottingham.

Samuel Walker lately moved from near Port Deposit to the tenant house on the farm of S. W. Fitzgerald.

Raymond Eberly, West Nottingham, has a fine new bicycle.

Some from Colora vicinity attended a kitchen shower at the Dinsmore home, Harrisville, an evening last week.

Mrs. Frederick Mount, of Philadelphia, is spending some time with Miss Bertha Tyson.

Mrs. G. O. Bechtel, of Galesburg, Illinois, is at her summer home at West Nottingham.

Mrs. W. N. Wilson spent a few days in Philadelphia.

Miss Dorothy McKeever, of Elsmere, Del., is visiting Miss Annie Smeltzer.

William Kirk was the over-night guest of J. Fred Reburn, West Nottingham.

Martin Biesch and Street E. Riley, Jr., were in Baltimore Monday.

Miss Emma Muldoon, of Philadelphia, and her mother Mrs. Letitia Muldoon, Oxford, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Muldoon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Caldwell and sister Miss Caldwell, were shoppers in Oxford.

Robert Giesler, Baltimore, visited his home folks, the John Blackburns. The Young People's Group of the Nazarene Church, Bel Air, attended the revival service at Porters Grove Nazarene Church Monday evening.

Blanche, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones of West Nottingham, returned to her home the past week from Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where she underwent a second operation.

Samuel Devonshire has been very seriously ill of double pneumonia.

Mrs. M. Agnes Reese is recovering from her recent illness.

Mrs. Amanda Jones Burkins, Widow of Vincent Burkins, died at her home in Dublin, Harford county, Wednesday, June 24, aged 82 years. She had been ill for two years. She leaves four sons and two daughters; Lawson Burkins, of Cedars, Harford county; George and Thomas Burkins, of Wilmington; John Burkins, of Colora; Mrs. Ella Dick, of Carsons Run, Harford county; Mrs. May Adams, at home. Funeral services in charge of Rev. Diehl, were held at her late home at 1 o'clock Saturday, interment in Dublin Cemetery.

WOODLAWN

Miss Mary H. Riley, who spent the winter in Reading, Pa., is visiting the William E. Rea family.

Miss Virginia R. Barnes was a Saturday to Monday guest of Miss Virginia Smithson, of West Nottingham.

Mrs. R. G. Terry is visiting friends at Chatham, Pa. Miss Minnie Meek, Supt. of Rush Hospital, Philada., and friend Miss Winnie Shoop, R. N., spent the week-end with the former's sister, Mrs. Florry McNeil.

FELL FROM WORK TRAIN

David Greer, 28 years old, a temporary employee of the Philadelphia Electric Company, was instantly killed on Thursday morning last, when a gasoline locomotive on the small railroad at Shure's Landing passed over his chest.

Just how the accident happened is not known. Greer was riding on the flat car upon which was a crane, the car being pushed by the "dinky" engine, when he fell between the end of the car and the engine, and was crushed to death.

An investigation was made by D. Paul McNabb, State's Attorney, and Magistrate Edward Holloway, of Darlington, declared that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Greer is survived by his wife and one child.

It is a difficult task to fathom a shallow mind.

The less some men have to say the more words they use in saying it.

The difference between amateur and professional sport seems to depend entirely on who gets the money.

Excerpts from A Lecture on

Christian Science

Entitled

Christian Science: The Science of Reality

by Hon. William E. Brown, C.S.B. of Los Angeles, California

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

I think that we shall all agree that the ultimate goal of all education, study, and research is to acquire the ability to discriminate between the real and the unreal, or that which is true and that which is untrue; in positive words, to become conscious of reality.

Weary with fruitless search for the truth concerning human existence, confused and troubled, mortals have felt as did Pope, who wrote of mortal man:

"Chaos of thought and passion, all confused,
 Great lord of all things, yet a prey to all;
 Sole Judge of truth, in endless error hurled,—
 The glory, jest, and riddle of the world!"

The Bible sums up this condition by declaring that "the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God."

In addition to wondering what it is all about, a tendency of mortals is to be afraid—afraid about many things: the weather, their food, their clothes, their business, their children, and their health. Then if occasionally they have a few minutes of peace they are apt to wonder what is wrong with them and immediately proceed to find something about which to worry.

After a few years of wonder, worry, and disappointment, mortals try to console themselves with the belief that they may receive happiness and reward in a post-mortem experience. But, when the time for this expected happiness and joy is apparently drawing nigh, every endeavor is made to postpone this experience.

To this miserable and apparently hopeless situation come the glad tidings of Christian Science to those who are listening for Truth, giving them the ability to solve these perplexing problems and assuring them that they may attain, here and now, the mission of this text and to show mortals how to apply this truth in the destruction of sin, disease, and death. This, indeed, is the mission of the Christian Science textbook, to set forth and explain the words and works of the Master. It does not attempt to teach a new religious doctrine nor to improve and change in any way the teachings of Christ Jesus. It is a spiritual search-light on the Scriptures, making plain the spiritual import of the Master's teachings and stressing the point that his way is the only way.

With clear and convincing logic Mrs. Eddy points out that the seeming cause of all sickness is fear, ignorance, or sin, and then she offers humanity her demonstrable remedy, Christian Science. This Science teaches mortals how to overcome fear, ignorance, and sin through an understanding of infinite Love, intelligence, and law.

It is important to note that the healing which occurs under Christian Science treatment is entirely different in nature and quality from that of any other kind; it does not employ hypnotism, suggestion, or the human will in any way. These agencies are directly opposed to the practice of Christian Science, and Christian Science frees the patient from their pernicious influence. It is also important to know that this hysteresis and suggestion claim to heal physical ills regardless of the moral status of the patient, the Christian Science practitioner cannot heal his patient without improving him spiritually and morally. Moreover, it imparts to the patient the ability to preserve his own sense of harmony through spiritual thinking and living.

The Practicability of the Bible We owe everlasting gratitude to Christian Science for many things, and among them is the fact that Mrs. Eddy has given us a method whereby each one of us can prove that the teachings of the Bible are in every way practicable and usable in all the affairs of everyday life.

It has been generally conceded that if the teachings of Christ Jesus were practicable, the affairs of earth would be very much improved. Whenever this question arises the materialists and so-called hard-headed, common-sense individuals dismiss it with the statement that while these teachings are beautiful and idealistic, they are entirely impracticable, and that the world must look to other sources for the remedy for world evils. Concerning this, Mrs. Eddy writes on page 9 of her work entitled "Unity of Good": "The talent and genius of the centuries have wrongly reckoned. They have not based upon revelation their arguments and conclusions as to the source and resources of being—its combinations, phenomena, and outcome,—but have built instead upon the sand of human reason. They have not accepted the simple teaching and life of Jesus as the only true solution of the perplexing problem of human existence."
