

FLIES, FINGERS, FOOD

Precautions that should be taken to safeguard the baby from digestive upsets during the trying heat of mid-summer are advised by Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health, as follows:

"Flies, fingers (unwashed hands) and food that is not properly handled Dr. Knox said "are three sources of danger to the young baby. The strictest cleanliness in the preparation of the baby's food; protection of the food from contamination; and protection of the baby and of his food, against flies, are three ways of safeguarding the baby against digestive upsets.

"Bottle-fed babies are more likely to suffer from digestive disturbances than are the babies who are nursed by their mothers. If mother's milk is not available, the best substitute for it is clean cow's milk diluted with water according to your doctor's directions. If you cannot get cow's milk, use UNSWEETENED evaporated milk, diluted in the same way.

"All cow's milk used for the baby's feedings should be boiled for two or three minutes before preparing the feedings. The milk should then be cooled as rapidly as possible; placed in individual bottles and kept on ice or in a very cool place until used.

"Warm each bottle as needed. Throw out any milk left in the bottle after the feeding. Clean the bottle thoroughly; sterilize it by boiling before using it again.

"Wash your hands thoroughly with soap and water before preparing or handling the baby's food.

"Protect the baby against flies. Flies pick up disease-producing germs and leave them on everything they touch—the baby's bottle, other articles that come in contact with the baby, and on the baby's face and hands. Keep flies out of the house and away from the baby's food. Screen the kitchen and the baby's sleeping room. Throw light mosquito netting over the baby's crib or carriage when he sleeps out of doors.

"Dress the baby according to temperature.

"See that the baby has plenty of sleep and rest.

"Give the baby cooled, boiled water to drink.

"Most important of all. The best way to keep your baby well is to take him to your doctor regularly. At the first sign of any digestive disturbances, call your doctor and do as he says."

GRANGE LEADERS TO MEET AT UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

NEW PRESBYTERIAN SECT EXPANDING

The Rev. H. McAllister Griffiths, editor of the Presbyterian Guardian and one of the founders of the new Presbyterian Church of America, announced Tuesday that 17 churches and 62 clergymen have joined the new church. The new churches extend from Maine to Wisconsin, he said.

"There is no need for the members of our new denomination to be too concerned over the loss of church property," he said. "For every dollar's worth of property it gets the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. will get $1,000 worth of ill will."

The new organization was formed June 11 by ministers suspended by the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., and their followers. The ministers refused to disband the Independent Board for Presbyterian Foreign Missions.

RISING SUN DROPS ANOTHER

Rising Sun Hustlers dropped their second game of last half of season to Leslie on the morning of the 4th, by the score of 3 to 1.

"Being an exact duplicate of last week's game, the Sun youngsters failed to bunch their hits, and let the runners die on the bases.

In the first inning of the game which was played on the Leslie diamond, with one away, Little on third, Lucas on second, Emrey grounded to third, Little was caught going home after the play was made at first; Reynolds then fanned, retiring the side; leaving a man on third.

Leslie scored a run in each of the following innings: 5, 6, 7, when Graham, Crouch, Benjamin, Gray, and Brandberg found McCush's (R. S. pitcher) delivery to their liking.

Again in the ninth the Sun boys plucked men on the path. Emrey doubled; Reynolds struck out, Smith took first on an error; Benjamin singled, scoring Emrey; Goodnow and McCush fanned, leaving two men to die on the bases.

Emrey and Little collected two hits apiece for the Hugglers; and Crouch and Galan were two-hit batsmen for Leslie.

McCush for the Sun and Gray for Leslie pitched good ball throughout the game.

Bay View plays at Rising Sun, Saturday, July 11, at 2:30 p. m.

MODERNIZATION LOANS

Baltimore City and every county in Maryland showed an increase in the number of modernization loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration during the two months from February 29 to April 30, according to Arthur E. Hungerford, State Director, National Emergency Council for Maryland. The total increase amounted to almost 25 per cent. This comparison is with the total of all such loans made in the preceding nineteen months.

In addition, was a growing increase month by month in the number of mortgages accepted for insurance.

In Cecil County 40 modernization loans amounting to $18,829.28 were insured up to April 30. A total of four mortgages, either for the purchase of homes or the building of homes were accepted for the insurance in the county up to March 31. They total $14,800.

The number of modernization loans for the entire State on April 30 had reached a total of 1,405 loans, amounting to $4,702,379.37.

The total number of mortgages accepted for insurance up to March 31, was 1,073, amounting to $4,828,090.

"These figures show the possibilities of modernization loans and the insuring of mortgages for the purchase or building of homes," said Henry W. Webb, State Director, Federal Housing Administration. "Through these loans a great many men throughout the State are being given work."
