Cecil County Christian Mission

March 2-7, 1941.

The Council of Churches of Cecil County launched this Mission last April in Elkton, when Dr. Dan A. Poling spoke to a large gathering of representative members of the Protestant churches of the county. During the year, outstanding speakers have been brought to the County in the interest of this Mission.

March 2-7, 1941, marks the period when visiting teams of ministers present the "Christian Message" to our people. We are indeed fortunate in the speakers we have secured for the three Mass Meetings to be held during the week.

The first of these meetings will be held on Sunday eve., March 2, at 7:30 o'clock, at the West Nottingham Presbyterian Church, with Dr. Elmer G. Honrighausen of Princeton Seminary as the guest speaker. Dr. Honrighausen is recognized as one of the leaders of the National Christian Mission, and launched the Mission in Washington, D. C., last February. He joins the National Team for a two weeks stay on the West Coast after leaving here on Monday.

The second meeting will be held in the Methodist Church of Elkton on Wednesday, March 5th at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. H. P. Fox of Salisbury, Maryland will be the guest speaker. Dr. Fox is a world traveler and lecturer, as well as a recognized leader in the Methodist denomination. He is vice-president of the Council of Churches of Maryland and Delaware. He is a very forceable speaker.

The third mass meeting will be held in Perryville, Md., at the Methodist Church on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The speaker for this occasion will be Dr. W. G. Purdy, pastor of the First-Central Presbyterian Church of Wilmington, Del.

To all of these meetings the people of Cecil County are most cordially invited.

On Tuesday, March 4th, a team of ministers, consisting of Dr. J. Herrick Darling, Dr. Oliver J. Collins, and Dr. Carey M. Young will speak to the High Schools of the County on the theme "The place of religion in the life of Youth". These men are recognized as outstanding youth speakers, and we are indeed fortunate to have them in our High Schools as a preliminary service for the coming of the Mission Team. We appreciate the hearty co-operation given by the Principals in making these services possible.

On Thursday evening, the Kiwanis Club of Elkton will be addressed by Dr. John W. Harms of Baltimore and the Lions Club of Rising Sun by Rev. I. Irving Insley of North East. These men will speak on the theme "The Christian approach to good citizenship". The Rotary Club of Elkton will be addressed by a visiting minister at a later date.

The Church has a vital part to play in building up the moral and spiritual life of our people. Our Christian Mission in Cecil county is the program of United Protestantism to meet this need. We ask the prayer, presence and co-operation of the christian citizens of our county to make this Mission a great success.

Dr. S. J. Venable, chairman.
Cecil Co. Mission Com.

GRADUATES AS FIRST AID INSTRUCTOR

Mrs. Lillian M. Stubbs, of Chesapeake City, has graduated as an instructor of first aid, having completed a course conducted by the Wilmington, Del., Red Cross Chapter, under the direction of Prof. John L. Mulherin, M.D., of the American National Red Cross, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Stubbs will instruct students on first aid in the near future.

MUSHROOM CAPITAL OF AMERICA

Two large signs are to be erected by the Kennett Square Chamber of Commerce, one at each entrance, east and west, of the borough. These signs will announce Kennett Square, Pa., as the "mushroom capital of America". They will also say that America's largest consolidated school is in Kennett Square and will give directions to reach the business section.

REAL ESTATE SALES

DIVISION SUPERVISION PROMOTED

George M. Smith, assistant supervisor of the Maryland Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Perryville, has been promoted to supervisor and gone to Toledo, Ohio. He will serve under Mr. David Smucker, who left a year ago for Fort Wayne, Indiana, as assistant engineer, and who several months ago was promoted to division engineer, with headquarters in Toledo.

Mr. S. C. Deener, of New York, has been named assistant superintendent of this division.

Methodist Aid For War Stricken Countries

Methodist of our community will cooperate in the denomination's emergency crusade when offering plates in 43,194 Methodist congregations will be passed March 2 in a nation-wide effort to raise a million dollars to meet war-caused needs. "Methodism's Day of Compassion", as this Sunday has been named, is the first Sunday in Lent.

Several other denominations all over the nation are using the same day for war relief offerings. The local minister has explained to Methodists here the three types of appeal that are budgeted in their Good Samaritan program:

One quarter million dollars is to be allotted to the religious and social well-being of young men in army camps and navy yards. Methodist chaplains within these camps will be aided with literature and equipment as needed from the fund. Churches nearby will be helped to meet their enlarged responsibilities in ministering attractively to unusual numbers of youth during the critical hours of "leave". In some cases this fund will provide general Methodism's share in creating interdenominational social and religious centers to sustain and build character.

A second quarter million dollars will be devoted to assist the mother church in England in temporarily easing some of the frightful situations involved in 500 bombed and partionally destroyed churches. Also, in the south and east of England there are parishes so dangerously located that almost the entire congregations have evacuated, leaving unprovided for the pastors who are staying to minister to those who remain. Other urgent needs grow out of the necessity of rescuing such British Methodist missionary personnel and projects as are in danger.

The remaining one-half million dollars will continue and supplement the Methodist overseas relief now in progress; feeding, clothing and sheltering non-combatant war victims.

Since war conditions make added demands on all regular missionary and philanthropic funds, both the national and local leaders of this campaign emphasize that this is an emergency offering and must not be allowed to block the flow of giving to the regular world service activities of the church or the result will be the creation of new and equally serious problems.

The national movement is being led by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, retired, of Washington, D. C., who is supported by the Methodist Emergency Commission, a group of bishops and representative Methodist laymen and ministers from all the six jurisdictions of the church. Dr. Orien W. Fifer is executive secretary, and Dr. Elmer T. Clark, formerly of Nashville, Tennessee, is handling the promotion.

Historical Mural For Elkton Postoffice

On Saturday, March 1st, Alexander Clayton, winner of the national contest, will install the historical mural in Elkton's new postoffice building.

In June, 1938, the section of Fine Arts, Public Building Administration, Federal Works Agency, selected the new Elkton Federal building to have the prize winning mural in a nationwide contest that was conducted in order that artists might compete in submitting a painting appropriate to the surroundings of the city or town involved. It was originally intended that the winning murals should be on display in Washington, and from there be placed on display in the large cities of European countries, but the outbreak of the war abroad caused the Fine Arts department to abandon these plans.

Mr. Alexander Clayton's winning mural was a typical Chesapeake Bay fishing scene, but due to the fact that the painting was hardly applicable to the vicinity of Elkton, the mural was rejected by Postmaster J. Mercer Terrell, with the consent of the Fine Arts division of the Public Buildings Administration. The subject of the new mural is the "Arrival of the Post", and the mural was very highly praised in a recent issue of one of Washington's large daily papers.

"The Arrival of the Post", depicts the historic town of Elkton, in 1780, just after the Revolutionary war period in its Colonial setting around what is familiarly known to native Elktonians as "Fountain Inn". The painting shows a method of carrying the mail during that period and Elkton was situated on what was known as the King's Highway and later named the "Old Post Road". The subject of the mural was given to the artist by the late Joshua Clayton, of Elkton, and J. Mercer Terrell, who met with the artist at Mr. Clayton's home, two weeks prior to his death, last year. The determining facts that decided the Department to select Elkton, to represent the State of Maryland in this contest is that it was one of the communities having a new Federal building at that time and one of the most expensive; another factor was the receipts of the office which have increased nearly eight times since the year 1910, when they were less than $10,000. Since the appointment of John Sears as postmaster at Elkton, in 1780, about twenty-five postmasters have served up to and including the present postmaster J. Mercer Terrell.

In the collision that resulted, both drivers escaped injury, but the machines were badly damaged, This is the second accident of the Kincaid truck within a week.

PROM WEEK-END AT TOME

With more than fifty girls from New York, Baltimore, Washington, and the prominent preparatory schools of the East joining in the festivities, the annual Prom week-end at the Tome School, Port Deposit, opened Friday afternoon with a tea dance in the lobby of the School Inn. In the evening the students and their guests gathered in the elaborately decorated dining-hall for the formal Prom which is one of the highlights of the winter social season.

Following the basketball game and swimming meet on Saturday, the climax of the week-end was the play given by th Tome boys in the Little Theatre on the upper Quad of the campus. Burton Lewis, Jr., son of Brig. Gen. Burton O. Lewis of Washington, D. C., was one of the principal actors and took the only girl's part.

A concert by the Tome Glee Club brought the evening's entertainment to a close.

Ex-Governor Nice Dies

Former-Gov. Harry W. Nice of Maryland died at 5 a. m. Tuesday of a heart attack while visiting friends in Richmond. He was 63 years old.

Governor and Mrs. Nice were en roue from Florida to Baltimore by automobile.

Surviving besides his wife are a son, Harry W. Nice, Jr., of Baltimore, and a sister, Miss Mary I. Nice, also of Baltimore.

Nice, third Republican governor in Maryland's history, served a four-year term ending in 1939. He sought reelection but was defeated by the incumbnt, Herbert R. O'Conor.

After resuming his law practise in Baltimore, Nice attempted a political comeback, opposing U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe in last fall's election. Radcliffe won by a wide margin and Nice announced subsequently that he probably never would be a candidate for public office again.

He suffered a heart attack Dec. 5 last year—his sixty-third birthday—and spent several weeks in a Baltimore hospital.

WEST NOTTINGHAM DOWNS BEACOM COLLEGE

West Nottingham Academy's basketball team continued on the crest of a victory wave last week, defeating a strong Beacom College team from Wilmington by a 33 to 22 count on Thursday and swamping the Academy Alumni on Saturday, 47-15. In both games, which were played in the Field House at Colora, Bob Hart, Maroon center, was high scorer. He netted seven double-deckers on each occasion.

The Maroon, with twelve victories in fourteen starts, need only to defeat Franklin and Marshall Academy and Valley Forge Military Academy to have the best record in the school's history. Earlier in the campaign Russell Faber's dribblers topped Franklin and Marshall in a fast game at Colora, 23 to 20, while Valley Forge was conquered on their own floor at Wayne, Pa., by a 25-21 count.

West Nottingham winds up the season with the Cadets with a game to be played on the Armory floor at Elkton, Md., Saturday afternoon, March 1. It will be a double bill, with the junior varsity outfits of the two schools meeting in a preliminary game that will start at 1:45.
