SIDE ONE

Philad. Oct 3rd 1865

My Dear Wife

I feel vexed at myself and at no one else about the Stink of the Cistern — my judgment was satisfied when I saw the brick just the wall of soft brick in before we coated the sides that it would let the water run out. I should have and should have insisted on the adoption of my plan — the only thing to be done is to have and the wall run about a foot from the present or the Cement and then carefully take down the present wall and Cement the plan as it was originally. The water in the ice house has found its way there from the Cistern. I broke the accidently Cutter from that or from the place at which the waste pipe discharges — If from the first I wish Coan to flow there to see as the ground pitch both the outer & the coated for the Cistern. If from the other the water must be let lower down the bank. I do not anticipate about the Garmony and try to have it with home observers, if they do.