TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1857.

MEETING OF THE VOTERS

OF TALBOT COUNTY.

THE Democratic voters of Talbot county, and all those who stand on the conservative Platform, who cherish an ardent love for the Constitution and the Union, and who are opposed alike to the political heresies of the Know Nothings and Black Republicans are invited to attend a public meeting to be held in the Court House at Easton, on TUESDAY, the 21st day of July, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

The object of this meeting is the selection of Delegates to attend the Convention to be held in Baltimore, on the 30th day of July, and the organization of the conservative party in Talbot county. By request of the Central Committee.

DEATH OF EX-SECRETARY MARCY.—Hon. William L. Marcy, died suddenly on the 4th inst., at Balston Spa—New York. The country will receive this sad intelligence with profound sorrow, as he was one of the greatest men of the age, and the most brilliant Star in our galaxy of Statesmen. Truly a great man has fallen! He retired on the night of the 3rd, in his usual health, and was found dead in his bed the following morning. We have no room for further particulars.

HARVEST AND THE WEATHER.—The weather during the past week has been extremely unfavorable for harvesting. The heavy rains and high winds have done much damage to both the wheat and the corn crops; and in many fields, the oats are flat upon the ground. We have heard a numbers of farmers complain during the last few days of their wheat being badly scabbed.

INCIDENTS OF THE FOURTH.

THE FOURTH.—On Saturday "the 4th." business was suspend in Easton and our village nearly deserted, our citizens generally having left town for a little recreation. Some spent the day in the country with their friends, others went on Pic Nics, or fishing down the river, and some on an excursion to Cambridge. All spent the day delightfully, and returned home in fine spirits, to rehearse the most marvelous accounts of their adventures.

SUCCESSFUL FISHING.—The fishing party that went down the river with Capt. Jas. Hopkins on "the 4th," had fine luck in capturing the finny tribe. There were eleven in the party, and they caught all they could eat, beside giving some away, and each brought home a rock or two, some of which measured over two feet in length. After they had breakfasted on shore, they all seated themselves quietly while one of their number read the "Declaration of Independance," after which calls were made for speeches, and responded to by two of their number.—That was sport in earnest, worthy the GLORIOUS FOURTH.

BECALMED. — Capt. Nicols' scooner, which made an excursion trip to Cambridge on Saturday, got becalmed on her way home, which compelled the excurtionists to take the night on board, about six miles down the river, and they did not reach home till about 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. There were between twenty and thirty gentlemen and ladies on board.

THE GLORIOUS FORTH.—A party of ladies and gentlemen from this town, celebrated the 4th of July in a very happy style on board the schooner Bucephalus, Captains Nicols and Chambers, starting in the morning from Easton Point, and arriving, after a delightful sail, towards noon, at our sister-town, Cambridge.—Merry songs, accompanied by the Guitar, shortened time in a marvelous manner, and not less did the polite attentions of Captains Nicols and Chambers, crowned by a substantial dinner, contribute to the general merriment. Pleasant walks through the groves of Cambridge, beguiled away the afternoon hours, and the return in the evening, when the sun broke through the clouds, did not find anybody disinclined to enjoy the rest of the glorious day. We should not omit to state that the vessel was chartered for the trip by Mr. Jas. E. Barnett and Mr. P. Blake, of Easton, to whom much credit is due for their gallantry to the ladies of the excursion, and their polite attention to all on board, as well as for the sumptuous entertainment given the excurtionists. A PASSENGER.

SENATOR DOUGLAS SPEECH.—We invite attention to the speech delivered by Judge Douglas, at Sprinfield, Illinois, on the 12th ultimo. "High as public expectation had been raised by the sketch which has been published of this remarkable effort of one of the most powerful and original mind in the country," says the Washington Union, "that expectation will be more than realized by a careful perusal of the speech as prepared for the press by the distinguished author himself. Wherever it has been read it has produced a very deep sensation, and we fully agree with our contemporaries of the West in their unqualified commendations of its lucid statements, vigorous thoughts, and powerful arguments.

Hon. Wm. B. Reed, our minister to China, is sojourning at Old Point Comfort for a few days.

RESUSITATION OF THE WHIG PARTY.—The Richmond Whig, a Know Nothing paper of Whig antecedents, advocates the reorganization of the old Whig party.—Outside of Maryland, it considers the American party defunct, and here it is known to be corrupt to the core. All who really desire the resusitation and reorganization of the Whig party can accomplish their object most effectually by voting the Democratic ticket; thus killing off the Know Nothings, the only impediment in the way of the resurrection of the gallant old Whig organization. Let the Whigs look at this matter.

AN INTERESTING LETTER.—We invite attention to the interesting letter of Charles B. Calvert Esq. on the crops, which will be found in another column. It will be seen that he argues that the crop this year will be by no means a full one, and advises his brother farmers not be in a hurry to sell; but there is a possibility that Mr. Calvert may be mistaken in his calculations and if prices during the summer and fall should be any thing like fair, as compared with the prices of the few years past, we think that much might be risked by farmers not selling. But of this matter every farmer must be his own judge.

COLPORTEUR.

This term is of French origin. I was applied at an early day to the bearer of religious books from house to house. It was used by the historians of the great Reformation as characterizing the active christians, who carried the writings of the reformers to the abodes of the peasantry. More recently it has been used in Europe to indicate those who are diffusing the Bible and other books by sale or gift among the masses of the people. The term was first used in this country by the American Tract Society, and is still generally applied to that increasingly numerous class of laborers engaged in circulating the publication of this noble institution.

I was therefore sorry, Mr. Editor, to see your Philadelphia correspondent apply the term to the person whom he says carried around Mr. Long's book, lest persons not posted up in these matters might supposed that he was one of the Colporteurs of the Society I have the honor to represent. You will therefore permit me to say 1st, That the Colporteurs of the American Tract Society are not permitted to sell or distribute any other books than those issued by the Society!

2nd, Of the 250 millions of publications that have gone out from the Tract house there has not been one word on the subject of Slavery!

3rd, I have the assurance of the officers of the Society "that they will abide by the Constitution and publish only what is agreed to by evangelical christians all over the country. G. W. KENNEDY,

MILL DAM BROKE.—During the heavy rain on Tuesday night last, the mill dam of Capt. Jacob Wright gave way, we understand, destroying and damaging a large quantity of meal, &c., and doing much injury to his mill. This, we believe, is the third time the Captain has met with this sort of misfortune in the last few years. Gazette.

GOVERNORSHIP OF UTAH.—The appointment to this responsible position has been accepted by Col. Cummings, who will forthwith proceed to Utah and enter upon the discharge of the duties pertaining to his office. He will be supported by an effective military force, to be sent out about the middle of July. The instructions to Governor Cummings are to see that the laws of the United States be enforced and obeyed, and to exert every constitutional power to secure the administration of justice in the territory.

While nothing in the Constitution justifies a crusade and war of extermination against polygamists any more than against believers of any other faith, nor authorizes the federal government to constrain them to renounce their unlimited licentiousness and libidinous life, there can be no question as to whether the power is not vested in the U. S. government to repress all treasonable and insurrectionary movements against its authority.

Whether Young, whose rule is regarded as supreme, and whose influence is felt in every household, will tamely submit to the authority of Governor Cummings, remains yet to be seen. The Mormons number a hundred thousand souls in the territory, and still larger number in the adjoining territories The male portion of the population are well drilled in military exercise, and we apprehend that Bringham Young will not yield the sceptre he has so long swayed, as chief civil officer of the territory, over his depraved and sensual subjects, without a struggle.

In Governor Cummings we have a man fully adequate to any exigency, and feeling assured that he will take prompt and sternuous measures to quell insubordination and rebellion, and secure the due observance of law and order, we look forward with interest to his arrival in the territory.—Alleghanian.

DESCRIPTION OF A "Plug Ugly?"—The New York correspondent of the Boston Courier writes as follows.

"Have you ever seen a 'Plug Ugly?'—He is of Baltimore origin, and of the species 'Killer,' known in Philadelphia, and 'Short Boy,' of New York. You have nothing in your city which at all resembles the Plug, the Killer, or the Short Boy. The 'Plug,' or 'Pug,' as he is sometimes called, derives his name not from anything expressed in his own physiogomy. but from the effects which he produces upon the countenance of an adversary- Every time he strkes he 'plugs ugly,' and a consequence an 'ugly pug, follows. He is of limited stature, has a compressed face, close cropped hair, and is generally firm built. Alone he is a coward; but, like all bullies, is brave when there is a crowd at his back. He likes to talk vulgar when decent people are within hearing and always has a ruffianly epithet at his tongue's end. He can be enlistened in any cause for money, which he prizes only as a means of gratifying the most brutish appetites. He is usually to be found in the neighborhood of an engine or porter house, and he understands the merest wink."

The hotels of Saratoga begin to fill up. The arrivals there on Thursday were over one hundred.

MR. CALVERT'S LETTER.

RIVERSDALE, June. 5th, 1357.

To the Editors of the Baltimore Patriot:

GENTLEMEN:—In your paper of June 2d, under the caption of "Crops in Maryland and elsewhere," you say "our accounts from the different counties of Maryland are quite cheering in regard to the coming crops of grain and fruit; a fair average crop of grain may be confidently looked for." These accounts so widely differ from those which I have received from various sections, not only of Maryland but elsewhere, that I feel anxious to see the sources from which this information is derived, in order that we poor farmers, who have no daily paper of our own to keep us posted on the subject, may have something reliable to guide us in disposing of these GREAT crops. The commercial press throughout the country give us every year, a short time before harvest these glowing descriptions of the prospects ahead, and consequently great efforts are made to force the wheat crop on the market as early as possible, and as a necessary and certain consequence, when the supply is as great or greater than the demand, prices go down. Owing to the facilities of railroads and canals, the grain crops at a distance, which formerly never reached the seaboard until the the next Spring, are now also forced on the market in the Fall, to depress still further prices at that season of the year; and we invariably find, after these inflated stocks are exhausted, that the market gradually goes up. Last year the commercial press informed us that all the warehouses in the West, and even the railroads themselves were breaking down under the weight of the immense crops of grain seeking a market on the seaboard, and the accounts no doubt had the effect of putting down the prices from $2 50 $1 50 per bushel but can the commercial press tell us what has become of these immense crops, for we find the people in these very sections in a state of starvation for bread?

Now either those glowing accounts of the crops of the West were greatly exaggerated and incorrect, or they induced the farmers of that section to believe that the yield of the United States was so great that prices must go down; and laboring under that impression, every effort was made to take advantage of the early market.—Under this panic nearly the whole crop was forced on the market in the first six months, and depressed it; but the stock being now exhausted, prices are gradually but surely seeking their former standard. I would here inquire who are benefitted by a system which depresses the market at one time to inflate it at another? Certainly neither the producers or consumers of our own country, whose interest should be paramount to all others, derive any advantage from it, but, on the contrary, are greatly injured; and it can only be beneficial to a few speculators and foreigners, who seek to depress our market, that they may purchase at their own prices.—If there ever was a time when we had a right to calculate on high prices, it was from the last harvest up to the next, and for the following reasons: The whole stock of previous years had been consumed. The crop of 1856 was not equal to the crop of 1855. The exports of 1856 were greater than the exports of 1855. When the harvest of 1855 commenced, we had at least a quarter of the crop of 1854 on hand; whereas when the harvest of 1856 commenced, there was none of the old crop, and the prices of the crop of 1855 were higher than any previous year, I believe, except in 1816, when there was almost an entire destruction of the grain crops in this country. If these statements are correct, the prices of 1856 and 1857 should have ruled higher than those of 1855 and 1856, but it is a notorious fact that they have been twenty or thirty per cent. less. I was myself so well convinced that prices were depressed by a kind of high pressure system in the public press, that I endeavored to persuade some friends to hold on until the steam got a little lower in their boilers; and I have held on, and am still holding on, to get two dollars a bushel for my crop of last year. My great object in this communication is to offer the commercial press, until we get a daily agricultural press, a compromise in behalf of myself and brother farmers.

It is, that they shall, when publishing these accounts of the quality and quantity of the crops, give the names of the parties sending them the information, so that we may see whether they are sellers or buyers who give these glowing accounts on the eve of every harvest. From what I have seen, heard and read, I am induced to belive that there will not be more than a half crop generally—owing in part to the destruction, in exposed situations, the harsh winds of March, and the unprecedented ravages of the fly, within a few weeks past; and it is very questionable whether we shall make enough for the consumption of the country. Can you furnished us with the whole exports of grain and flour from this country for the last two years, and also the amount imported from Canada for the same time? because, if you can, I am disposed to think it will make those who boast that we can feed the whole world, open their eyes. The late rains have certainly improved the appearance of the wheat fields; and to a casual observer, passing over a railroad at the rate of 30 miles the hour, the prospects is better than it was a month or so ago; but let him stop and enquire, and and examine for himself, and he will find the wheat is not on the ground, and that the fly is destroying whole crops. Again, my limited experience has taught me to dred to much luxuriance at this time, for fear of the rust and the falling of the wheat and I have always found a dry May to produce better crops than a wet one. For these reasons, I have given herein the honest convictions of my own mind, and I trust they will be taken—as they are intended—as an humble effort to guard all parties against too sunguine expectations of the coming crop.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

CHARLES B. CALVERT.

The Sale of the Pennsylvania Main Line.—In the Supreme Court this morning Judge Lewis gave a decision in the injunction case relative to the sale of the main liné of State works. The decision declares that the State has a right to order the sale and that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company or any other body has a right to purchase, but the Legislature, had no right to exempt the purchasers from tonnage tax. This decision will probably prevent the sale.

R. C. Murphey, U. S. Consul at Shanghae, has resigned.

FLUTTERING.

There is a deal of flutterng in the ranks of Know-Nothingism on the subject of the next campaign. The office-holding clique who rode over the honest members of their own party to carry a delegation for Mr. Purnell, are alarmed at the signs of discontent and open disaffection, while the special Plug organ is grieveously distressed at the prospect of a union between honest, constitution loving Whigs and the Democracy. Well do these thimble-riggers know that of themselves their own sworn brotherhood is a powerless minority in the State, and that a union of those outside their bigot ranks would sweep them into their original nothingness. No wonder that with such a prospect before them, there is weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth among, those who have enjoyed the "spoils," and who dred being deprived of them in the future. The honey fogling of the Plug organ with regard to the old-line Whigs is really laughable. That precious concern says the old-line Whigs ought to go with the Know-Nothings, because the Democrats used in old times to say hard things about them. Does that Know-Nothing concern remember what Henry Winter Davis, the great Abolition Know-Nothing champion, said of the Whig party? Do the Whigs remember that Mr. Davis stigmatized them as "corrupt and rotten," so miserably degraded in their condition, he, nice gentlemen as he was, could not possibly stay any longer in their company? Did ever any Democrat so villify and abuse the old Whig party as this leader of Know-Nothingism has done? And yet, honest Whigs who respect themselves are requested by the special organs of Know-Nothingism, and the special advocates of Mr. Davis, their traducer, to go with them in preference of the constitution and the equal rights which it guarantees. If old-line Whigs can be influenced by such advocates as these, or such arguments as they offer, they will certainly deserve the appellations so bountifully bestowed upon them by Mr. Davis.

There is great dred by these Know-Nothings that Col. Groome will except the Democratic nomination, and very cunningly they try to flatter him out of it.—True, as they say, Col. Groome, was an old Whig, but always an honest and honorable one, and no Democrat ever assailed his private or political character. Col. Groome was too honest and too honorable to allow himself to be seduced from the principles of his party into the ranks of Know-Nothingism, or to be used for their selfish purposes. In the great strug-between the friends of the constitution and the abolitionists and their allies, the Know-Nothings, Col. Groome voted with the Democrats, and if Col. Groome is the nominee of the Democratic party, he will be heartily supported without any sacrifice of principle upon his part or that of the Democracy.

If, as these Know-Nothing organs say, the old Whigs party cannot be resuscitated, then there is no alternative for honorable men, such as Col. Groome, who have in olden time belonged to that party, but to go with the Democratic party in defence of the Constitution, which they have always upheld. This is understood by men of this stamp, and therefore we find all the leading men of the old Whig party, all those whose love of principle and country is superior to their love of office, or their prejudice against old opponents rallying with the Democracy, and against Know-Nothingism. No flattery, no humbug professions of the organs of Know-Nothingism, can lead the honorable and intelligent portion of the old line Whigs into their ranks. The signs of the times indicate a union of the honest and intelligent of all parties against the ignorance and rowdyism which has had temporary sway in our State.

ADVERTISING A MORAL DUTY.

Some years ago it was proposed by an American Physician that members of the Faculty should advertise their remedies and modes of treating diseases in the newspapers. It was scouted, however, by the profession generally; as infra dig.—But is there any degradation in publicity? Is it not rather the great touchstone that ties pretension and universalizes the practical banefits of all valuable inventions and discoveries? Should not a profession that aims at the mitigation of suffering and the preservation of life, make the means of obtaining these grand objects known through the channel of information most accessable to all classes and conditions, the columns of the public press? If it declines to do so, the natural inference is either that the desire of secresy arises from a sordid, monopolizing, egotistic spirit, or from a lack of faith in its own prescriptions.

Viewing the subject in this light, we may presume Professor Holloway some twenty years ago, overleaped the barriers which the profession has erected between itself and the public, and plunged fearlessly into the newspaper arena. He had discovered or rather invented, after years of research and experiments, two preparations which he believed to be specifics for nearly all the diseases of mankind, and as an indication of his confidence in them, and a proof of his philanthropic wish that, if really valuable, they should be accessible to the whole world, he advertised them wherever advertising media existed. This was the severest ordeal to which he could have submitted them—the experimentum crucis. He threw them at once, as it were, before the sick of all regions. He stated their properties, proclaimed what they would do, and staked reputation and fortune upon the issue That issue has been all that he or the world could have desired, The rich and the poor, the learned and the ignorant, physicians, statesmen, monarchs, a nation of enlightened freemen, have sanctioned, used, extolled them. They are fixed facts in medical history!

Is not this better than hiding light under a bushel? Is it not better than writting prescriptions in a dead language, and putting weights and quantities into hieroglyphics.

If anything is worth knowing it is worthy of being universally known. So thinking, Holloway proclaimed the virtues of his medicines through the press; and fortune fame and the gratitude of millions have been his reward.—N. Y. Sun.

THE PURCHASE OF MT. VERNON.

A circular, addressed to Mayors of cities and towns, Presidents of Colleges and Academies, Captains of military companies, editors of news-papers and others throughout the Union, has been sent us from Richmand, Va, invoking their co-operation with the "Ladies Mount Vernon Association" in the great and patriotic work of purchasing Mt. Vernon, the resting place of washington.

Two hundred thousand dollars is the sum required to make this purchase, which the ladies of the association contemplate raising, by voluntary contribution, previous to the 22nd of next February, the 125th anniversary of Washington's birth, and on that day dedicating it as the perpetual shine of greatness, patriotism and worth, and the Mecca of America. More than one-eighth of the required sum has been already derrived from the lectures of Hon. Edward Everett. The circular concludes by requsting the authorities of of cities and towns to bring the subject prominently before the public, on or before the coming fourth of July, or as soon thereafter as practicable, by means, of public meetings or otherwise.

We approve this proposition for the purchase of Mount Vernon. It is but a fitting homage to the memory of the illustrious "father of our country"—to his greatness and goodness—to his wisdom and valor. In the language of the circular. "Let every one feel, acknowledge and redeem the filial duty of contributing his mite to the great and glorious enterprise of hallowing the tomb of Washington, as a public trust, in the guardian custody of Virginia, his mother State, for the reverence of all America, and the homage of all the world, in all time to come."

All subscriptions from one dollar (which secures a membership) and upwards, can be forwarded, with name of donor, to Mrs. Wm. F. Ritchie, 1st Vice President, or Mr. Wm. H. McFarland, Treasurer of Ladies' Mt. Vernon Association, Richmond, Virginia

THE WHEAT CROP.—Our Maryland cotemporaries continue to speak disparagingly of the appearence of the wheat crop. The Port Tobacco Times says:

We are sorry to learn that sad havoc is being made in the wheat crops of this county by the fly, the joint-worm and chinchbug. Fields, promising a fair yield only a week ago, are now almost destroyed.

The complaint in St. Mary's county is of the army-worm. The Leonardtown Beacon says:

We conversed on Tuesday last with gentlemen from all sections of the county, and we learn that these military foragers are made said havoc of the wheat and corn crops in every part of the county.—In our Immediate section several promising wheat and corn fields have been almost totally destroyed by this new enemy within the last few days.

EDGER SNOWDEN, Esq., editor of the Alexandria Gazette, who has been recently defeated as a candidate for Congress in the district including that city, thus pleasantly returns to his editorial labors:

"To emerge from a political contest, beaten, and indeed thoroughly beaten, happens to many men; but for a plain citizen to 'rise refulgent from the stroke of the triumphant Democracy dubbed with a title, and that too a military title. is the lot certainly of but few civilians.—Hence it is that if any man went into the last canvass for Congress as simply Mister, and came out by the coutesy of the press as Colonel, he ought to make his best bow and to be thankful for the favor."

ANOTHER FREMONTER IN TROUBLE.—The Cincinnati Inquirer records a notice of the downfall of a political preacher in Ohio, a class of men who seem to be peculiarly unfortunate in judicial investigations about these days. At a recent term of the Court in Carroll county, Ohio, the Rev. Joseph Barclay was found guilty of the seduction and breach of promise of marriage to Elizabeth Sharp, and mulcted in damages to the value of $5000. The Stark County Democrat in noticing the case says:

"The defendant was a preacher of the Covenanter or Seceder faith, and was one of the leading Fremont, Kansas-shrieking preachers of Carroll county. The evidence on the trial showed that he had for some time been paying his addresses to Miss Sharp, and accomplished and highly respectable young woman of the county, that he promised to marry her, and then with the hellish machinations of a fiend, but shielded with the livery of heaven, he set about her destruction, and by prayers and great professions of righteousness, coupled with his promise of marriage, he succeeded in seducing the young lady from the path of virtue, and accomplished her ruin and deserted her

WHO ARE THE PEOPLE OF KANSAS?—The Washington Union answers this question as follows:—"The Democratic, conservative portion of the country will regard as the people of Kansas only such as are now uniting to frame a form of government in accordance with the provisions of law, and not those who are seeking to paralyze the popular will by illegal subterfuges and the quibbles of fanaticism Whatever the constitution may be—whether recognizing or excluding slavery, or silent in regard to the institution—it will be viewed as the expression of the will of the people of Kansas, as those who frame it will act under the federal constitution, and in a manner recognised by the organic law."

HURRICANE AT PORTSMOUTH, VA.—On Monday afternoon a violent hurricane passed over the western portion of Portsmouth Va., striking a small frame house on Crabb street, owned and occupied by Mr Henry Dorsay. The roof was first blown off and then the house fell. Miss Rebecca Barrett, a niece of Mrs. Dorsay, being in the lower part of the building at the time, was unhappily caught beneath the crumbling ruin, and so severely injured as to cause her death on Monday night. Miss B. was about 18 years of age.

BURNETT'S KALLISTON- For removing Tan, Sunburn, Freckles, Redness and Eruptions of the Skin, and for rendering the complexion clear and beautiful.

The following testimonial furnishes conclusive evidence of the efficacy of this famous cosmetic:—

MARLBORO', July 11, 1856.

Messrs. Joseph Burnett & Co:

GENTS.—The package of KALLISTON came to hand last evening, and I am glad to have an opportunity to state to you how much we value it. My family have used it daily for more than two years, and now they think they cannot do without it.

A single application has repeatedly removed the freckles from the face of my little boy, leaving his skin smooth and fair. And in all cases of sunburn or irritation of the skin, from whatever cause, it has thus far proved itself a perfect and very pleasant remedy.

I can, if you desire it, refer you to several cases of obstinate cutaneous disease, in which I know the KALLISTON has had a wonderfully good effect; one in particular, the daughter of Mr. P——, one of my neighbors, had suffered for many years from eruptions and painful inflamation of the skin, (probably the effect of bad vaccine virus,) leaving it in several places puckered and quite red. A few weeks ago I recommended him to your KALLISTON; he has since informed me that the effect of its use has been very marked and beneficial; that the skin has become soft and smooth, and the inflammation and redness has nearly disappeared. This is an important case, and I will tell you more about it when I see you.

I owe it to you to state that I did not believe in the efficacy of any cosmetic until I tried your KALLISTON, and I cheerfully give my testimony in its favor. Yours respectfully, JOHN M. BOYD.
