EASTON, MD.
TUESDAY MORNING, APR. 6, 1858

Business Notices.

The large circulation of the Star renders it one of the best advertising mediums on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

Advertisements must be handed in on Saturday morning to insure insertion in the next issue.

Newspaper Agents in the cities must send the cash with advertisements, or they will not be inserted.

Persons wishing to subscribe to, or advertise in the Star, must address us direct, as we have no agents, and those at a distance must accompany their orders with the cash.

Erratum.—The outside of this morning's paper is erroneously dated "April 5th" instead of 6th, as it should have been.—The error was not detected until after nearly the whole edition had been worked off.

LECOMPTON IN CONGRESS.

By reference to the proceedings of Congress, which will be found in another column, it will be seen that the Senate bill for the admission of Kansas was defeated in the House on Thursday last, by a vote of 120 to 112, and that the bill passed with the Crittenden amendment. This result was brought about by an open coalition of Black Republicans, Native Americans, and renegate Douglas Democrats; the Know Nothing representatives from Maryland, Messrs. Davis, Harris, and Ricaud acting and voting with the abolitionists! Knowing his antecedents, we expected this of Mr. Davis, but we had reason to hope better things of Messrs. Ricaud and Harris. Birds of a feather, it seems, will flock together, and the South have nothing to hope from the enemies of democracy, no matter under what flag they sail. On a direct vote in the House to reject the Lecompton constitution, it will be seen that the Republicans were defeated by a vote of 137 to 95. This is a significant fact, and augurs that the State may yet be admitted with the Lecompton constitution. The substitute offered by Mr. Montgomery, of Pennsylvania, which passed, is substantially the same as the amendment offered in the Senate by Mr. Crittenden, and is particularly obnoxious to Democrats, because it provides for a direct intervention in the affairs of Kansas by Congress, and is repugnant both to the Kansas-Nebraska bill and the Cincinnati platform. It will be seen that on Friday, the Senate refused to concur in the amendment passed by the House, and we suppose a committee of conference will be appointed, and if the House declines to recede from the amendment, the bill will be defeated, and the Kansas question kept open till after the next Presidential contest, by which means the abolitionists hope to get possession of the government. If such a result should follow, the whole responsibility of the thing will rest on the Southern Americans in the present Congress who have aided in the defeat of the Lecompton constitution, a measure they indirectly supported, by voting for Mr. Montgomery's amendment. The direct issue was peace or a further agitation of the slavery question, and our American Representatives have voted for the agitation! While all praise is due to those who have endeavored to give peace to the country, the severest condemnation should be visited on those that have opposed it.

THE EAGLE AND REFORM.

The Cambridge Eagle appears disposed to ignore the interests of the Eastern Shore in its anxiety for another constitutional convention. Will the Eagle please inform the benighted people North of the Choptank, what reforms it proposes to engraft on the constitution of the State, by the proposed convention? Does it propose to turn out all the Clerks and Registers in the counties, and elect new ones? Does it advocate an elective or an appointed Judiciary? Does it propose that we shall have one judge or more in the circuit courts? Is it for an increase or reduction of the salaries of public officers? Does it propose to increase the representation of Baltimore city and reduce that of the counties. in the Legislature, or does it desire to enlarge the Legislature so as to give an increase of representation to Baltimore city? Does it propose to abridge the right of universal suffrage, and require a property qualification for voters, or will it abide by the constitution as it is, respecting the elective franchise? Does it expect a convention to interfere with the liberty of conscience and the press, or is satisfied with present guarantees on these subjects?—What does it propose to do with the slavery question? Does it expect the convention to liberate the slaves, and enslave the free negroes, or, does it go for gradual emancipation? How does it propose to deal with Eastern Shore interests in a convention to be composed largely of Western Shoreman? What guarantee can it give that our rights will be better secured than they are by the present constitution? Those who cry out so lustily for a reform of the constitution, ought certainly to inform the people what reforms they propose to give them. Come, Mr. Eagle, let us hear your views in response to the above interrogatories. Give us such a disquisition on the philosophy of government as we we have a right to expect from a great reformer. The "excitable little town of Easton" will wait with breathless suspense to hear your profound remedies for the "radical defects in our constitution and form of government."

THE REFORM CONVENTION.

Wednesday, the 25th day of May, is the day appointed for the people to vote for or against the Reform Convention.—The law calling the convention appropriates ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS for defraying the expenses of the convention, but it is thought that sum will be wholy insufficient. Where is the necessity for squandering this sum on a convention at this time? It would have been far better to have appropriated the money towards paying in part the Eastern Shore claim.—Let the people, who condemn this extravagant waste of the public money, vote against the convention, and thereby retain the money in the treasury, to pay the honest debts of the State. When they are satisfied, if the State has a surplus, she can dispose of it as she may see fit.

Defeat of the Senate Kansas Bill in the House and the passage of the bill with the Montgomery amendment.—Precisely at 1 o'clock on Thursday, Mr. Stephens moved to take up the Senate Kansas Bill in the House.

The bill was then read once, when Mr. Giddings objected to a second reading under the rule.

The question occurred shall the bill be rejected.

Mr. stephens demanded the yeas and nays.—The bill was not rejected—yeas, 95, nays 137. The bill was then read a second time,

Mr. Stephens said he would not now discuss the bill, having understood that a substitute was to be submitted. He gave way to Mr. Montgomery, who offered the Crittenden substitute as amended by the anti-Lecompton democratic conference, proposing to admit Kansas into the Union and refer the Lecompton constitution to a vote of the people, and in the event of its rejection, a convention to be called to frame a new constitution, the State to have one representative in the House of Representatives till the next federal census.

Mr. Montgomery said he had no remarks to make. The substitute was its best interpreter He had furnished copies to the members, and was ready to supply others.

Mr. Quitman effered a substitute for the substitute, the same as the Senate bill, with the omisssion of the declaratory clause that the people have a right at all times to alter or amend their constitution in such a manner as they think proper.

Mr Humphrey Marshall wished to amend the original senate bill by striking out the same clause proposed to be omitted in Mr. Quitman's substitute.

Mr. Stephens refused to yield the floor for that purpose, and demanded the previous question.

Mr. Marshall wanted Mr. Stephen's refusal to be borne in mind and entered on the record.

The question was then taken on Mr. Quitman's substitute, which was negatived—yeas 72, nays 160.

The question was then called upon Mr. Mongomery's substitute, which was adopted—yeas 120, nays 112.

The announcement was greeted with applause from the gentlemen's gallery.

Mr. Keitt moved that it be cleared, and insisted on the enforcement of the rule.

Much confusion prevailed. The Speaker reminded the applauders that they were not in the gallery of a theatre, and said if the indecorum was repeated the galleries should be cleared.

A voice;—"Except the ladies."

Another.—Certainly."

The House then proceeded to vote on the Senate bill as amended by Mr. Montgomery's substitute, which was passed—yeas 120, nays 112.

The House then immediately adjourned.

Washigton, April 2,

SENATE.

The Kansas bill from the House was taken up and the amendments read

Mr. Green, without further explanation, said he would submit his motion to disagree, to the direct vote of the Senate.

Mr. Bigler took the floor.

He said the amendment involved a clear violation of the democratic principle of non-intervention, hence he would vote against it.

Mr. Douglas made an appeal to all parties to unite and pass this amended bill as a ready way to settle all difficulties.

Mr. Pugh explained the reason why he would reject the amendment.

Mr. Green's motion was then put and carried; yeas 32, nays 23, and thus the Senate decided to disagree to the House amendment.

The nays were as follows:—Messrs, Bell, Broderick, Cameron, Chandler, Clark, Collamer, Crittendon, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Hale, Hamlin, Harlan, King. Seward, Simmons, Stuart, Trumbull, Wade and Wilson.

Those absent were Messrs. Bates. Davis, Durkee, Henderson, Reid, Sumner and Toombs.

Mr. Douglas made an ineffectual attempt to take up the Minnesota bill.

After several calling of the yeas and nays, the bill was brought before the Senate.

Mr. Mason moved an adjournment to Monday, which prevailed.

EASTERN SHORE CONVENTION.

To the People of the Eastern Shore.

Fellow Citizens:—Believing that the rights of the Eastern Shore are more seriously endangered than at any previous period since the days of the Revolution, the undersigned, citizens of the Eastern Shore of Maryland, earnestly invoke your attendance at a Mass Convention, to be held at Easton, on Wednesday and Thursday, the 14th and 15th of April.

For nearly twenty years, our very lifeblood has been drawn from us in the shape of direct taxes. In opposition to our wishes and efforts, an enormous public debt was incurred for the construction of a magnificent system of public works, on the Western Shore, which had the effect to build up a great Emporium of wealth and power upon the Western Shore, without any commensurate benefit to our own. With a firm conviction of the diversity of interests which the Geographical position of the two Shores must ever occasion, our consent to the last of these appropriations was only yielded in consideration of a compact between the two divisions of the State, whereby the sum of one million of dollars was to be appropriated and held sacred by the State, for internal improvements upon the Eastern Shore, and the faith of the State was solemnly pledged that that sum should be so expended upon this Shore.

Whilst the Western Shore exacted the prompt payment of her portion of this appropriation, we forbore to demand from the State the fulfilment of her plighted faith, until she had recovered from her own difficulties. Relying implicitly upon her good faith, and desiring to sustain her honor, we stood by her in that dark hour, when the cry of opposition to taxation was raised on the Western Shore; and when the State was so doubtful of her own right to impose this tax, that she prohibited the courts from enquiring into its constitutionality. The history of the world can furnish no other example of equal endurance, for the benefit of others, by a free people, from a mere sentiment of honor.

For two successive Legislatures, by the unannimous voice of our Eastern Shore Representatives, we have now claimed from the State the redemption of her obligation; and we have been spurned like mendicants from the doors of the Legislative Halls by the influence of the very power to whose growth we have so largely contributed. But even this is not sufficient to satisfy the spirit of injustice and oppression. Since our claim is provided for by the present constitution, and our present power in the Legislature, has proved nearly sufficient to secure its payment, the constitution itself must be changed.

It has been boldly asserted that the State has a right to repudiate an obligation to her own citizens, because they have no legal power to enforce it; and that where an obligation is repudiated by a change in the constitution, the Legislature has no power to fulfil it.

The fiat has gone forth—Before another regular session of the Legislature, the constitution is to be changed. Our representation, which is yet large enough to be troublesome to the Western Shore, is to be reduced still lower, whilst that of the Western Shore is to be still further increased; and then our bondage will be complete.

In view of these impending dangers, we invoke all the citizens of the Shore, who concur in the views herein set forth, to lay aside their party differences, and to assemble in convention for the adoption of such measures as will secure an immediate settlement of our claim.

Let us present a united opposition to the evils with which we are now so seriously threatened, and which can only be averted by prompt and determined resistance.

The Constitution.—It gives us great pleasure to lay before our readers the following letter from the Hon. James A. Stewart on the Easton Shore question.—It will speak for itself.

Washington 23d March. 1858.

To B. M. Bowdle, H. H. Goldsborough, Wm. B. Clark, Sam'l Hambleton, and others, Esqrs.:

Gentlemen:—I have just received yours' of the 15th inst., requesting the use of my name in the proposed call of a Convention on our shore, to consider the most judicious measures to secure and perpetuate the best interests of our people. I wish it were agreeable for the citizens of the different counties of our Shore, more frequently to meet and confer together upon our local affairs. Under such circumstances, no doubt a more fraternal feeling would be encouraged, and better results attained without at all conflicting with any legitimate claims of others. If we do not attend to and carefully look after our own business, it is not probable others will do it for us.

If a proper spirit is mantained on the Shore, in place of being often referred to as a mere convenient adjunct to other sections a more liberal and respectful deference will be paid to our just represetations. All that we desire is, firmly to insist upon our fair demands, and being urged in a true patriotic temper, certainly they will be met in a corresponding temper, on the part of our fellow citizens elsewere. I can see no earthly objecton to the proposed Convention, and if my name will be of any service in the promotion of the just interests of our Shore, you are at full liberty to make use of it—I have been so situated, that I am not so well posted as many of you in regard to the bearing and tendency of recent measures affecting our interests, or the merits of the question immediately under consideration, but I am sure I cannot be going astray when I am concurring with fellow citizens of so much experience, wisdom, and public spirit, in our section. I have rarely seen any public measure command such universal assent, and its temporary defeat attended with so much chagrin,

With my most respectful regards,
truly your ob't servant.
JAMES A STEWART.

Copartnership:—It may interest our brethren of the press to know that Dr. J. C Ayer of Lowell, (Cherry Pectoral and Cathartic Pills,) has associated with him his brother Frederick Ayers, Esq., long and favorably known as a leading merchant of the West. Mr. Ayer will conduct the widely extended business of the firm, which now reaches to the commercial nations of both hemispheres, while the Doctor will devote himself to the scientific investigators and pursuits.

MONEY SAVED? HOW?

Some people hoard it away in old stockings, others again, like the man in New Haven, keeps it twenty years on the promise to pay of a bank, and loose the interest upon it while running the risk of losing the principal. The best plan to save it, and the safest means of adding to its value is to invest $10, 5, or 2½ in S. Swan & Co's legalized lottery, which draws every Saturday at Augusta, Ga., It comprehends a magnificent capital prize of $60,000, entitling the fortunate holder to the whole amount of the prize or a half, or a quarter as the ticket purchased may entitle him.

Special Notices.

MNSQUITOES.—An antidote for the poison of musquitoes bees, wasps, and other annoying insects has been found in Burnett's Kalliston, prepared by Messrs. Burnett & Co. This preparation contains peculiar property, which instantly naturalizes the poison and allays the inflammation caused by bites and stings of insects.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.

The following letter, from a well-known Architect of Montreal, speaks volumes in favor of the Oxygenated Bitters, as a medicine for those whose occupations are of a sedentary nature.

Montreal, Nov. 26, 1854.

Gentlemen:—I am happy to be able to send you my testimony in favor of the Oxygenated Bitters, and intended to have done it before this, but have been prevented by professional engagements.

I feel great pleasure in recommending it to all suffering from indigestion, sick-headache, acidity, or any derangement of the stomach, from which I have suffered very severely upwards of twenty years From the recommendation of one of my friends, I was induced to try one bottle, and find myself so much benefitted by its use, that I do not think it necessary to continue it any further.

You may use this, Gentlemen, as you think proper, and permit me to remain,

Yours very truly,
JOHN ATKINSON.
