The Farmer.

☞ Short and practical original articles solicited for this column. ☜

What Breed of Dairy Cows are the Best for all Purposes?

This is a question often asked, but a difficult one to answer, unless by the sweeping assertion that we want them all. So far as we are able to learn, there is no one breed that, as a rule, is possessed of all the points desired. There may exist individuals in almost all of the established breeds, that possess all good qualities in a sufficient degree to answer the purpose of the ordinary farmer, but as a race, there are none that embrace all good qualities, and every farmer must be governed in his choice by his situation

If he has rich pastures, and extensive cornfields, and is near a market where the price of good beef rules high, the Durham will probably be as near perfection as any that can be obtained.

The shorthorns are great eaters. If they run to milk they give a large quantity of it. If they have a tendency to fatten, they fatten with great rapidity. They grow rapidly, and are capable of carrying an immense load of flesh. They require the best of care, and the richest of feed, and with this, they will amply repay all outlays.

But if allowed to roam in the public roads and wild pastures in summer, and kept on poor hay and mouldy corn-fodder in winter, they will invariably prove the worst scrubs, and the poorest investment that the farmer can make. The objection to them as dairy cows is, that you are not sure whether they will prove to be great milkers or great feeders, or half-and-half. The remedy is to feed liberally at all times, and if the cows are good milkers they will be very good ones, and if not, they will fatten rapidly, and can be disposed of to good advantage as beef. With a dairy of forty cows, a dozen or so of the best heifer calves should be raised each year, and ten or a dozen cows fattened each winter to be sold in the spring, when the beef commands a very high price.

If he keep Shorthorns, on the system proposed, he will not receive as much money from the cheese factory as if he kept Ayrshires or natives. But it is not for him to decide whether half a dozen or more fat cows sold every spring to the butcher, will not make up for the deficiency. On the whole, we would say, if he has high-priced land and proposes to adopt high farming, take the Shorthorn; cows solely to the production of milk and butter, take the Ayrshire or Alderney.

If the location is near a large city, where milk is the chief object, we must have the Ayrshires, as there is no race that can equal the pure Ayrshire in quantity of milk; it being generally estimated at from thirty to fifty pounds per day. Our best Ayrshire cows give sixty pounds of milk per day. A committee appointed for the purpose, testified under oath that one of Messrs. Walcot & Campbell's cows gave eighty-five pounds of milk per day, for several days in succession.

The Ayrshires have been bred exclusively for milk, and will probably yield a greater quantity for the food consumed than any other breed. On the other hand, if he proposes to sell beef and raise oxen as well as cheese and butter, we would advocate the Devon.

The Devons, as a race, are thrifty, and with good pasture, present a handsome appearance. The milk is quite rich, and produces butter of a better color than that obtained from the Durham, but the quantity is not large. They are a quick, active race, and for farm labor, the oxen can hardly be excelled. They will move the plow almost, perhaps quite, as fast as the horse. To carry out the latter system of raising cattle for beef, rather than the dairy, to the best advantage, we must adopt a higher order of feeding than when the only object is milk. We want cows that will eat a large amount of food.—This is of the veay first importance. An animal that will not eat freely should be rejected.

If there is no great demand for beef, but a large one for good butter, then the Alderney will come as near the standard as any we have. For richness of milk, they have no equal, but their diminutive size puts beef entirely out of the question; but there is no race of cattle that can surpass them in producing golden lumps of butter, and plenty of them.

A good butter-maker, with a herd of Alderneys, will produce a "fancy brand" of butter that will command a ready sale, at double the price that can be obtained for common brands. Good specimens of this stock will make from twelve to fourteen pounds of butter per week, of a peculiar yellow color, not attained by any other race. Some extra good cows have produced from eighteen to twenty pounds per week; but this stock is deficient in beef qualities. We most earnestly recommend the use of a thoroughbred bull on all dairy farms. Whether it should be an Ayrshire, Devon, Alderney, or a Shorthorn, depends very much on whether the dairyman wishes to turn off some fat cows every year to the butcher, or whether he intends to keep his cows till they are used up, and then sell them for about what they are worth for their hides. If he adopt the latter course, we should recommend the use of an Alderney or Ayrshire rather than the Shorthorn bull.—In all seasons dairy farmers are apt to have an unnecessarily large percentage of barren cows, owing to the irrational management of the male animal. In some districts it is the fashion to use yearling bulls; while to make matters worse, these weakly, immature subjects are scandalously overworked.—American Stock Journal.

Things to be Remembered

Edward Everett became overheated in testifying in a court room, went to Faneuil Hall which was cold, and sat in a draught of air until his turn came to speak. "But my hands and feet were ice, my lungs on fire. In this condition I had to spend three hours in the court-room." He died in less than a week from thus checking the perspiration. It was enough to kill any man.

Professor Mitchell, while in a state of perspiration in yellow fever, the certain sign of recovery, left his bed, went into another room, became chilled in a moment, and died the same night.

If, while in perspiration, or warmer than usual from exercise, or in a heated room, there is a sudden exposure to chill, cold air, or raw, damp atmosphere or a draught, whether at a window or door, or street corner the inevitable result is violent and instantaneous closing of the pores of the skin, by which waste and impure matter which was making its way out of the system is compelled to seek an exit through some weaker part. To illustrate: A lady was about getting into a small boat to cross the Delaware, but wishing first to get an orange, she ran to the bank of the river, and on her return to the boat found herself much heated, for it was in summer, but there was a little wind on the water, and her clothes soon felt cold, which produced a cold which settled on her lungs, and within the year she died of consumption.

A Boston ship owner, while on the deck of one of his vessels, thought he would lend a hand to some emergency, and pulling off his coat, worked with a will until he perspired freely, when he sat down to rest awhile, enjoying the delicious breeze from the sea.—On attempting to rise he found himself unable, and was so stiff in his joints that he had to be carried home and put to bed, which he did not leave until the end of two months, when he was barely able to hobble down to the wharf on crutches.

Multitudes of women lose health every year, in one or more ways, by heating themselves in a warm kitchen until weary, and then throwing themselves on a bed or sofa, without covering, and perhaps changing the dress for a common one, as soon as they enter the house after shopping. The rule should be invariably to go at once into a warm room, and keep on all the clothing for at least ten minutes, until the forehead is perfectly dry. In all weathers, if you have to walk or ride on an occasion, do the riding first.

Bradley's Patent Enamel Paint,
The Most Economical, Beautiful and Durable.

These Paints are composed of PURE WHITE-LEAD, ZINC and LINSEED OIL, with other materials which add greatly to the durability, elasticity, beauty and strength of the Paint. The whole are chemically combined, so that the pigments are held in permanent solution, thus forming a new compound which dries upon the surface and adheres firmly to it, thus forming a smooth, glossy, firm, elastic and durable Paint. The Oil, which is the real life of the Paint, cannot leave it and be absorbed by the substance to which it is applied, as it does in paints mixed in the ordinary way, and thus leave the pigment dead and brittle, to wash and rub off in a few months, or at fartherest in three or four years. This Paint is unaffected by changes of temperature, is perfectly impervious to the action of water, is well adapted to all classes of work, and is in every way a better Paint for either INSIDE or OUTSIDE WORK or BOAT PAINTING, than any other Paint known to the trade, and will last at least THREE TIMES AS LONG AS THE BEST LEAD AND OIL MIXED IN THE ORDINARY WAY.

MILL PROPERTY FOR SALE.
I OFFER at private sale all that property known as Easton Steam Mills & Dwelling, on the same lot of ground, at the North end of Easton, with all necessary OUT-BUILDINGS; with good well and pump, and good garden. The DWELLING has 8 rooms, and in a most pleasant location.—Also, good new STABLE, with 11 stalls, hay loft, &c The MILL is a brick building; 40 horse engine; 2 run of best burrs, 48 inches diameter; will make 25 bbls. Flour in 12 hours, and grind at the same time 100 bushels Corn.
Also, 1 PAGE CIRCULAR SAW-MILL, run by a separate engine. Also, a MACHINE SHOP, with engine to run it. The boiler is about 75 horse power, and runs all the above named machinery at the same time, and only requires 45 lbs. of steam.—The flour mill has a new gearing of best style and manufactory.
TERMS EASY. The above is the best stand in the county for merchant mills, Easton having a population of 2000, and the adjacent country being rich and populous. My reason for wanting to sell is, I am too old to attend to the business, and wish to retire for awhile, having plenty to live on without the mills. Any mill man knows it takes work to attend to a place likethis. I also return thanks for the patronage I have received at the hands of the people of Talbot county, and so long as I own the mills I will do my best to please my customers.—

THE GREAT CAUSE
of Human Misery
Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope. Price 6 cents.
A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.
The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without medicines, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.
Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps.
Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents.

THE RADIANT.
RADIANT is the name of the new FIREPLACE STOVE, just improved and patented by Librant McDowell, of Philadelphia.
CALL AND SEE IT.
The improvement consists in shields to prevent the smoking of the windows when kindling fires; also in the damper, so that all the heat may be thrown above or below at pleasure, or distributed between the upper and lower room, when desired.
This is the neatest and most economical stove yet invented.
A general assortment of Grates, Cook Stoves, Parlor Stoves, Radiators, Ranges, Furnises, &c, always on hand, at city prices.
Also, constantly on hand, a full line of Tin Ware, Stove Fixings, and House Furnishing goods.
The public are invited to call and examine my stock before purchasing.
