WOMEN FIGHTING LIQUOR.

THE TREMENDOUS POWER OF INFLUENCE AS A WEAPON.

The Ladies' [illegible] Ohio [illegible] Praying all Day in the Streets—The Wickedest Man in the State Converted.

The women in Ohio continue their singing and praying in liquor saloons, undaunted by opposition [illegible]. Although several liquor dealers have been sued, the Ladies' Leagues say that they are not instrumental in bringing the suits; their weapons are influence and quiet persistence. The occasional surrender of a dealer in liquors encourages the women to continued effort.—In Morrow they have won to their side the landholders and business men of the town.—Public meetings have been held to inquire whether the fact that there is one liquor saloon to every eighty persons in the town has any connection with the dullness in business interests. Speakers said that capitalists, to their knowledge, had turned their backs on the town on account of the large whiskey interests, although it has a large water power and excellent facilities for transportation.—A freeholders' pledge has been extensively signed not to lease or rent any property to those dealing in intoxicating drinks. The Council has been petitioned to forbid the sale of spirituous liquors, ale, beer, or porter.—The sale of beer from the Morrow brewery has been almost stopped by the progress of the temperance movement. The brewers continue to present a bold front. The women continue their calls at the saloons.—Some of the dealers lock their doors, and others invite them to enter. One Jerold, his wife, and family [illegible] thanked them for calling. Mrs. Jerold said that she wished her husband would stop selling liquor. Mr. Shield continues firm, but is uniformly courteous. He has carried his whiskey, gin, and brandy down cellar, but persists in retailing beer and wine. The temperance pledge receives new names daily.

[illegible]

In Franklin, the temperance women are still at work. On Saturday the women went early in the morning to the saloon of Ph. Weber, and began to sing and pray. They dragged with them an old lady of ninety years who could hardly walk, and they were hardly in the saloon before three persons also put in an appearance. They remained in the saloon until 6 o'clock in the evening. Mr. and Mrs Weber quietly permitted them to go on with their songs and prayers; but in a pause Mrs. Weber told them to betake themselves away, as she wished to close the saloon; but, instead of answering the women returned a jeering, spiteful laugh.

Mrs. Weber, nevertheless, attempted to close the saloon; but Jacob Scherzer took a seat before the door. The powerful woman thereupon attempted to pull him away, and two men sprang forward, and one of them struck the woman across the head with a slungshot with such violence as to send the key flying out upon the sidewalk, so that it was long before it could be found. The woman thereupon hastened to the Marshal, but he only laughed at her, and said, "I belong to the other party," and thus Mr. Weber must, whether he would or not, suffer the praying and singing company in his saloon all day.

On Monday morning early the women returned and beseiged the Weber saloon. On Tuesday morning they again sung and prayed all day in front of the house. On Wednesday the scene was repeated. As it was cold they had a small stove, which they placed upon the sidewalk, so that they could warm themselves. There are two large mill houses in the village. The owner of one, Mr. C. Schenck, takes his wife and daughter to these places in his carriage every morning and takes them home again at night. It is rumored that all the liquor dealers in Franklin except Mr. Munger intend to quit the place.

RED PEPPER.

On Thursday the new league began their work of visiting the saloons in Moscow.—Their success may be learned from the following report of the Secretary, Mrs. Fannie Johnson:

After 11 A. M., through the rain, twenty six ladies went to Mr. Wissel's. He took each name at the door, and greeted us kindly with red pepper burning on the stove and scattered over the floor. Those who sang were obliged to get out side, but the rest stayed in with the intoxicated man and his son, who danced and responded to the prayer of a worthy sister kneeling on the steps. His wife and daughter ordered us away, and he talked very insultingly, but Mrs. [illegible], of Georgetown, [illegible] him, and [illegible] left he asked us to forgive him and he would treat us kindly hereafter. At 3:30 P. M. we went to Mr. Arn's again. Were treated kindly by both, and both were moved to tears during the prayers. They said they would not be first to quit, but would as soon be the [illegible].

In Greenfield, Scott Powell, a druggist, has been heavily fined, and he has signed the dealers' pledge. Other dealers are to be prosecuted, but the Ladies' Temperance League have nothing to do with the law. Seven of the fifteen dealers have yielded. Friday, Feb. 6, was observed as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and business houses were closed.—Committees are forming to intercede at Columbus against the repeal of the Adair law.

In Hillsboro the new tabernacle erected before Mr. Dunn's drug store has been removed in consequence of an injunction granted by Judge W. H. Safford. Meetings are held in the churches morning and evening. Mr. Dunn is the only druggist who refuses to sign the dealers' pledge. He has sued those who have been praying before his store and wants $10,000 damages. They have secured counsel and are not to be intimidated.

A CONVERT.

John C. Vanpelt, of New Vienna, O., the wickedest man in Ohio, made a complete surrender of his liquor on Wednesday in the presence of a large throng. He rolled out his whiskey barrels, held up an axe, and said to the women: "This is the axe that I had to defend myself and business, and now I am going to use it to defend you," and with the instrument that he had displayed in his window to terrify the women he knocked in the heads of his barrels and spilled the whiskey on the ground. He says it was through the love and prayers of the women that he was brought to terms.

A SHORT SERMON TO YOUNG MEN.

TEXT:—Owe no Man Anything.

Keep out of debt. Avoid it as you would war, pestilence and famine. Hate it with a perfect hatred. Abhor it with an entire and absolute abhorrence. Dig potatoes, break stones, peddle in tin ware, do anything that is honest and useful, rather than run in debt. As you value comfort, quiet, independence, keep out of debt. As you value digestion, a healthy appetite, a placid temper, a smooth pillow, sweet sleep, pleasant dreams, and happy wakings, keep out of debt. Debt is the hardest of all taskmasters, the most cruel of all oppressors. It is a mill-stone about the neck. [illegible]. It spreads a cloud over the whole firmament of man's being. It eclipses the sun; it blots out the stars, it dims and defaces the beautiful blue sky. It breaks up the harmony of nature, and turns to dissonance all the voices of her light. It drags all nobleness and all kindness out of the port and bearing of men. It takes the soul out of his laugh, and all stateliness and freedom from his walk. Come not under its accursed dominion—Pass by it as you would pass by a leper, or one smitten by the plague. Touch it not. Taste not of its fruit, for it shall turn to bitterness and ashes on your lips. Finally, I say to each and to all, but especially to young men, keep out of debt.—London Mercury.

There is a sense of fitness, durability, permanence, and moderation in winter woolens, which makes up for whatever loss we experience in surface beauty.—Silk and velvet are too costly for daily wear, it strikes us with a feeling of sorrow, to see what is rare and choice put to common uses. Care of such things argues cultivation, knowledge of their uses, and an appreciation which cannot see them abused. When you see a long silk dress or rare lace worn upon the street, it is safe to set the wearer down as not a lady born, but so new to her finery that she wants to have it on morning, noon, and night—in fact, depends upon it to show that she is a lady.—From Demorest's Monthly.

Six women are striving to be postmaster at Smithville, Georgia, and six houses go unswept.

We make up the best goods in the best manner, expecting to sell at a profit, BUT WE CANNOT STAND FOR PROFITS NOW.

A Plain Statement from J. H. Smith & Co:

We know that the flurry in the Money Market is only temporary. The harvests throughout the country have been large, and business has been conducted, as a general thing, on sound principles. It is only speculation that has brought about this state of affairs, which must soon subside, but THIS IS THE SEASON TO SELL OUR GOODS. Books, Machines, Furniture, &c., can be sold all the year round, but OUR GOODS ARE MADE FOR SPECIAL SEASONS, and so, without halting, J. H. A SWEEPING SALE AT NORTHEAST CORNER BALTIMORE AND FREDERICK STREETS.

That shall CLEAR OUR COUNTERS. This is good news to the millions of city and country, for they will gain the PROFIT FROM OUR NECESSITY; but as they have generously patronized us IN GOOD TIMES, we are willing to give up the profits NOW. We say, without exaggeration, that this is

We are content to lose money rather than carry stock until next season. Imperative necessity is laid upon us, and we must make the best of it. The Store will be open at 6.45 o'clock in the morning, and remain open until 9.45 o'clock in the evening, and on Saturday night until 12 o'clock. Our force of salesmen will be supplemented, and best attention given to buyers, who will find mornings the best time to make selections. Every article sold will be guaranteed as represented, or money will be refunded.

Parties coming together from country towns, within forty miles of the city, purchasing at MARBLE HALL, will receive, besides the great bargains, the price of a Railroad Ticket to return home.

WARTMAN'S TONIC BITTERS.

IS made after the recipe of the late Dr. J. P. JONES, who by its constant use in a long and successful practice, proved it to be a positive cure for all cases of uncomplicated DYSPEPSIA, as well as a SURE PREVENTIVE OF CHILLS AND FEVER.

As an Invigorator of the System, to the debilitated by disease or climate, or for creating an appetite, it is unequalled. As a General Tonic its effect is unsurpassed where tonic effect is required—such as Weakness of the Stomach, Loss of Appetite, or General Debility of the System.

MANUFACTURED BY M. WARTMAN,
(Successor to Dr. J. P. Jones,)
2 Howell's Block, Camden St., Baltimore.

CERTIFICATES:

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3, 1873.

We have examined the formula by which M. Wartman compounds his "Tonic Bitters," and can cheerfully recommend it as an excellent Tonic for the Debilitated Stomach, (Dyspepsia), or for the system generally. As a preventive for Malarious Diseases, specially Ague and Fever, it is one of the best prescriptions.

A. S. LINTHICUM, M. D.
F. W. PEARSON, M. D.

Having been shown the recipe of Wartman's Tonic Bitters, I can recommend the preparation as safe and reliable in that class of Diseases requiring a Vegetable Tonic.

FOUTZ'S CELEBRATED
Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines. It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

CONSUMPTION

which can be cured by a timely resort to this standard preparation, as has been proved by the hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors. It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c. Wistar's Balsam does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.
