THE EASTON STAR.

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1885.

T. H. ROBSON, Editor.

J. TAFT MILBOURNE & CO., Managers Academy of Music, Baltimore, Md., are authorized to contract for entertainments for THE STAR, at our best rates.

MATTHEW QUAY, the Pennsylvania Republican Boss, announces himself as a candidate for the nomination of State Treasurer. Chris. Magee, the other Republican Boss, is specially busy with a man named James A. McDevitt of Lancaster.

CAN the State of Maryland afford to keep Lloyd Lowndes in the Governor's office? The expense is very heavy, and the overwhelming question to determine whether the pecuniary or the spec'fic side pays the expense? A pro rata on all of the steamers will quite likely have to go.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the best medicine that can be employed to correct irregularities of the stomach and bowels. Gentle yet thorough in their action, they cure constipation, quickly relieve the liver and the kidneys, and restore health and strength to the system.

SENATOR EUSTIS, of Louisiana, has made a violent attack on the administration for its tardiness in removing the obstinate Republican Federal officials in the South. The speech of Senator Eustis has caused no little excitement in political circles in New York and Washington.

THE reception of the Prince and Princess of Wales in Ireland proved much more cordial than they expected it would, and so pleased are they with it, that the Prince is going to buy a palace in Ireland and establish his oldest son there. The Prince and Princes have returned to London.

IT is reported that the Brisson Cabinet in France is going to allow the utmost clemency for exiled political offenders. This will be good news for the convicted socialists, who came so near destroying the beauty of Paris during their short lived reign in that city during the Franco-German war.

THE President has appointed Dr. J. Ernest Meiere, of Colorado, to be consul of the United States at Nagaski, Japan. Dr. Meiere married a daughter of the late Admiral F. Buchanan, of this county, and was in the Confederate service during the war. Dr. and Mrs. Meiere have been expected for several years.

PENSION COMMISSIONER BLACK has unearthed a large number of frauds on the pension rolls in Philadelphia, and has not yet even broken through the crust of the great pension frauds. Payment has been stopped, and proceedings instituted for the recovery of the money out of which the government has been defrauded.

THE oyster law question is to go to the Court of Appeals for settlement. Capt. Insley was indicted at Annapolis for violating the law, and the counsel in the case have agreed to take the case to the Court of Appeals on a pro forma judgment. The Court of Appeals will decide whether Judge Bond's law is sound or otherwise.

MESSRS. BARKER AND PORTER, owners of the marine observatory and signal station on Federal Hill, Baltimore, have been notified by the Park Commissioners of that city, that they must remove the observatory, the premises having been taking for park purposes. This is one of the oldest landmarks of the city, and its unsightliness is given as the reason for its removal.

SHALL we have a constitutional convention, to reform the State constitution? That is the important question for the next legislature to decide. If the legislature decides not to call a convention, will it attempt to reform the constitution by passing constitutional amendments, in the manner provided in the constitution? This is another important question? What do the people think about the matter.

BOTH parties in New York appear to be in a state over the gubernatorial question, and both parties are preparing for a big fight. How many of the Democrats who voted last fall against Cleveland will come back, and how many of the independent Republicans who voted for him will stick, are the all important questions. It is too early yet to form any idea as to which party will win in November.

SECRETARY OF STATE BAYARD has decided that Jules B. Santos is a naturalized citizen of the United States and entitled to American protection, and his trial on release has been demanded of Ecuador, and the United States Steamer Wachusetts has been ordered to Guayaquil to enforce the demand. Santos' case was one of deliberate robbery, and the authorities of Ecuador should be forced promptly to make restitution.

Peace at Panama.

Alzpuru has surrendered unconditionally to the government forces at Panama and delivered up his arms. This ends the war there, and the United States marines will soon be recalled. The United States forces prevented a fight in the city of Panama, and thus saved much valuable property from destruction. Their presence and action and forbearance have had a most healthy effect on the people and authorities of the isthmus.

It is said England consents to compromise with Russia, by agreeing on the Lessar line as the boundary between Russia and Afghanistan. Lessar is a Russian engineer, and it is his position that has led to most delicate boundary line Russia has ever had to run, on account of strategical reasons. It was run without any regard to previous maps, and Russia's insisting on this line of division proves that she has ulterior designs on Afghanistan and India. England acceptance of the Lessar line will be a Russian victory.

COM. CORNELIUS R. GARRISON, the New York capitalists, died last week. He was born at Garrison, on the Hudson river, opposite West Point, March 1st 1809. He commenced life as a cabin boy on a Hudson river boat, and died worth $5,000,000. He was at one time Mayor of San Francisco. From his 16th to his 19th year, he studied architecture and then went to Canada, where he lived several years. When he left Canada, he went to steamboating on the Lower Mississippi. [illegible] and established a banking house at Panama, which proved a pecuniary success. From Panama he went to San Francisco, to manage the affairs of the Nicaragua steamship line, which paid him a salary of $5,000 a year. After remaining in California some six or seven years and making a fortune, he returned to New York, where he became prominent as one of the pioneers in building the elevated railroads. About eight years ago he suffered from an attack of paralysis, from the effects of which he was entirely recovered.

MR. ANTHONY M. KELLEY has been appointed Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Austro-Hungary, which relieves him from going to Rome against the protests of the Italians. The New York World says the Republican senate will reject his nomination, but this is mere guess work. Considerable fuss has been made over this man Kelley since his appointment as minister to Rome, and Mr. Secretary Bayard has been much criticised for appointing such a nobody to such important stations. If Mr. Kelley has any special fitness for a first class foreign mission the country has been happily ignorant of it until now.

JUDGE BOND in the United States circuit court, has rendered his decision in the habeas corpus case of Capt. George H. Insley, of Crisfield, Md. against the State, and declares the Oyster law of 1884, chapter 518, unconstitutional, so far as it imposes a license tax on vessels engaged in carrying oysters which have been licensed by the United States to trade in the navigable waters of the United States, and for the further reason that said law imposes a tonnage tax on vessels without the consent of congress. Judge Bond therefore ordered the discharge of Capt. Insley from the custody of the sheriff of Anne-Arundel county, who held him under sentence for having violated the oyster law in trading with his vessel without dredger's license.

MR GLADSTONE is preeminently the great Peace Statesman of Europe. The general belief has been, that he could not be kicked into a war with one of the great European powers. He knows very well, and no man knows better than Mr. Gladstone, that the prosperity of England greatly depends upon the maintainance of the peace of Europe, and no English statesman will consent to sacrifice more than he to prevent war. But it is a great mistake to suppose that he will not be for war when the honor of the British empire demands war. His last speech in the House of Commons, when he asked for a credit of $55,000,000 for war purposes, with Russia pressing towards India in Afganistan, and France howling over the Bosphore Egyptien affair, and the Soudan war still waging, and Ireland almost in revolt, and Bell raising an insurrection in the British possessions in America, was such a surprise to European rulers and statesmen as they have not experienced in a life time. It demoustated that when circumstances demanded it, Mr. Gladstone could not only fight, but that he would be a dangerous man to fight; that if compelled to go to war, he meant to wage war on a large scale. France was quick to amicably settle the Egyptian question, and Russia being satisfied that she could not press her aggressions in Afghanistan without having to fight England, called a halt, and now seems willing to accept the boundary line offered by England. If the peace is preserved, it will be Mr. Gladstone's work. It was the greatest speech that he ever made in Parliament, and certainly no speech ever uttered in that distinguished body ever produced a more powerful effect upon the world. Notwithstanding that there is a longing desire in certain quarters for a war between England and Russia, humanity shudders at the destruction of human life which would result from such a conflict, which should be averted if it can possibly be done without sacrificing the honor of the parties to the controversy.

Dynamitism vs. Nihilism.

EASTON, April 30th, 1885.

Of late years dynamite has begun to be handled with reckless familiarity under the very nose of royalty in England. It is getting uncomfortable, not to say dangerous. All the clues of all the police and special detectives lead to nothing, and the dynamiters smile and wait for another chance to try it again. In the meantime the slumbers of royalty are disturbed by dreams of sudden and unpremeditated trips through space towards the barren regions of the moon, or the inhospitable realms of the north star. Something must be done. Our prime minister must solve the problem or else give place to some primer minister.

In Russia, too, the late Czar was most mercilessly bomb-shelled. Nihilism thinks nothing of slaying its royal master at the end of his day's sleighing. And the present Czar spent some time and thought, before trying on his crown, in endeavors to determine whether the probable losses might not overbalance the possible profits of the experiment. In this, however, he succeeded beyond his most sanguine anticipations. Still at meal times there is a lurking uneasiness in the royal bosom as to the safety of dining-rooms, not to mention the grave doubts and suspicions of the digestible nature of the viands served therein. Our vice-autocrat must make it more pleasant for royalty to take its walks abroad or else rusticate among the breezy, ice-clad hills of Siberia. What is to be done? Let the above-mentioned prime minister and the aforesaid vice-autocrat lay their heads together and hatch out a solution to the double problem.

Eureka! They have found it! They will array the dynamiters against the nihilists in a war of extermination, until kilkenny-cat-like, they will destroy one another. But what shall they fight about?

Mr. Gladstone will be very glad to put a chip on a mere chap of an Afghan's head and tell him that if Gen Komaroff will dare to come up and knock her off, he will gladly knock off the head of Mr. Komaroff. Gen. Komaroff would rather steal a sheep than take a dare; so off goes the chip from the Afghan chap's head. But Mr. Komaroff says it was all the Afghan's fault for having a chip on his head so near the supposed boundary line. Then Sir Peter Lumsden deliberately says that Gen. Komaroff is another. Whereupon the vice-minister and the prime-autocrat fiercely tell each other to go there themselves.

Now any reasonable man who could not be satisfied with a pretty little quarrel like that, must be a very fastidious person indeed, and exceedingly hard to please. So the Czar rushes off to Moscow and writes an ultimatum; mobilizes his nihilists and buys up coal. Mr Gladstone sits up of nights to get his speech by heart, then calls for fifty-odd millions cash and summons his reserve force of dynamiters. As soon as the mobilized and the reserves have each other by the throat, things at home will be peaceful and happy; and royal families will enjoy their mutton chops in comparative quiet and comfort.

What Parents Fear.

Many persons—especially parents—object to many quack nostrums as likely to engender or encourage a love for strong drink. They are right. Better die of disease than of drunkenness. The use of Parker's Tonic does not involve this danger. It not only builds up the system, curing all ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, but it stimulates without intoxicating and absolutely cures the appetite for liquor.

A Permanent Cure.

Mr. John Lucabaugh and wife, Westminster, Md., writes, June 10, 1884: "At the suggestion of a friend I was induced to try "Aromauna," the Great Dyspepsia Cure and Kidney and Liver Regulator, and it gave great satisfaction. My wife had a severe attack of asthma, and was treated by one of our best physicians until we considered a cure was effected, but it soon made its appearance again. DuLac's "Swiss Balsam" was recommended, we began its use, and believe it has made a permanent cure. We take great pleasure in recommended "Aromauna" and "Swis Balsam," believing them to be genuine. They are the only proprietary goods that we ever used that done what they claimed to do." Price 25 and 75 cts. sold by all Druggists and Dealers.

HAIR RENEWER

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.
