THE EASTON STAR.

TWENTY one years after Sherman—Jeff Davis marching through Georgia—from Montgomery to Savannah. Sherman's march was attended by fire and desolation and shame—Davis' by the shouts of welcome from a loving people.

THE House committee on territories has reported against the Senate bill to divide the territory of Dakota and admit the Southern part as a State, and has reported a bill providing for the admission of the whole territory as a State. It is not likely that the Senate and House will agree upon a bill this session for the admission of Dakota.

San Francisco Beats Baltimore.

While Baltimore's $500,000 fire was raging Friday evening, and the Baltimoreans were believing it the biggest fire of the season, San Francisco had a $750,000 fire blazing at the same time. At the San Francisco fire several lives were lost, while none were lost at the Baltimore fire.

WHEN Gov. McLane proposed an eight hour law, it was said he was too fast; "such a law would never do." Now, pretty much the whole mechanical force of the country is up in arms and eager for an eight hour regulation. When he returns to the United States this month, he can congratulate the working people on the progress they are making.

Resignation of the Post Master of Baltimore City.

Post Master Veasey, of Baltimore, has resigned, and Hon. Frank Brown has been appointed to succeed him. The resignation of Mr. Veasey and the appointment of his successor was a great surprise to the city. Even the ubiquitous Sun did not get hold of the contemplated appointment of Mr. Brown until the fun was all over.

Removal of [illegible]

The New York Star has removed to its splendid new office in the Star Building, corner of Broadway and Park Place, New York, and is on the top wave of a flood tide to an immense circulation. It is a democratic to the core, able and true, and is fast forging to the forefront of the New York daily press. May its light penetrate and illuminate the night of Republican darkness.

JEFFERSON DAVIS, ex-president of the Southern Confederacy, received an ovation at Montgomery, Alabama, last Wednesday. He made a brief address before the assembled multitude, collected together to lay the corner stone of a monument to the Confederate dead. From Montgomery Mr. Davis went to Savannah, Georgia. Everywhere he is received with the respect due to his age and dignity. He is in excellent health.

THE workingmen have made a mistake to undertake to settle the eight hour question, and the question of wages, at the same time. The time question should be settled first, and the question of wages adjusted afterwards. When the ten hour system was first introduced, there was as much opposition to it as there is now to the eight hour demand. After ten hours was conceded, the wage question settled itself by the law of demand and supply. So it will be after the eight hour question is settled.

Commander of the Oyster Navy.

The Board of Public Works last Thursday elected Mr. Jacob Plowman, of Harford county, commander of the State Fishery Force, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Capt. James I. Waddell. The commanders of the steamers and sailing vessels were not made on Thursday. They are shortly to be elected. It is not thought that many changes will be made. Capt. Hedge Thompson, commander of the steamer Gov. McLane, and Capt. Joseph E. Fairbank, commander of the Eliza Hayward, are pretty certain to be retained, as they are both capable and efficient officers.

Big Blaze in Baltimore.

Baltimore city had a big blaze last Friday night, which destroyed $500,000 worth of property, $160,000 of which was real estate. The fire broke out in the large notion store of S. W. Floss & Co., 318 West Baltimore st., and destroyed the whole block of buildings, situate between Liberty and Howard streets, and Baltimore and Garrett streets. Among the largest sufferers are the following well known dealers: S. W. Floss & Co.; M. S. Levy & Sons; R. King & Son; Imwold & Herring; Cross & Dunbracco; Frank & Adler; Weltz Bledner & Co.; Lawrence Berry & Co.; John A. Horney & Co.; Frank & Hammerslough; Wolfsheimer & Son; Hecht & Futsel; F. A. Dillinham; J. H. Medairy & Co.; Albert Brothers; Wm. King & Bros.; J. C. Heath & Co., and the Marseilles Manufacturing Co.

Artificial Butter.

Butterine is a product made of hog's lard. The agricultural papers of the north declare it unfit to eat, because its chief ingredient is lard. Good sausage is made wholly of hog meat, and sausage gravy is nothing but hogs lard, flavored by the seasoning that is put in the sausage. Did any body ever hear of any body being injured by eating buckwheat cakes and sausage gravy?—the Eastern Shore diet for the winter season. We never did, unless it was dilapidated dyspeptics, and they can not even eat such light diet as mince pies. If, then, sausage gravy is wholesome, and palatable, why should not butterine be wholesome and palatable? The outcry against the new product is all bosh. And so of oleomargarine. It is made of beef suet, and is of the same substance as butter, and we cannot see why it should not be as wholesome as butter, if honestly and cleanly made out of pure, sound suet. If our argument is not sound we should like to know the reason of it.

Senator Van Wyck's speech in the Senate last Monday week on Jay Gould was a clever piece of humor. He reviewed Gould's history of himself, wherein he showed that he had preceded two great schemes of rascality by fervent prayers. Mr. Van Wyck concluded by saying:

Early in life, when hard pressed for dinner, he adopted his sister's method, and went behind the blacksmith shop to pray. The blessing came in great measure. In a few years the tanning business in which he was engaged was in financial straits so overwhelmingly that his partner was driven to suicide, while he himself bought a railroad. The whole matter he committed to God. The committee was doubtless dazed as much by Gould's recital as by reading the exploits of Jack the Giant-Killer, or Kidd, the pirate. Modesty induced Gould to refrain from telling one feature of the history of that time. At Kansas City he was overtaken with another religious spasm, and prayed a second time in [illegible] telling the [illegible] how happy he [illegible] more money. He [illegible] the Missouri Pacific only for [illegible] mankind and should use it only [illegible] the benefit of the [illegible] contemplating [illegible] easily of another installment of divine grace: so he went "short" on the promise by pretending that he would not benefit himself by the blessing. It was to be hoped he would not indulge in a third prayer, for should he, in the end, secure an entrance into the new Jerusalem, he would soon be conspiring there, from force of habit, to buy a railroad, and when he should have torn up the shining avenues the angels could not restrain him from stealing the golden pavement.

Col. Charles S. Spencer, the New York lawyer, gets about $400,000 of Goulard's millions.

Prohibition was overwhelmingly defeated at the local option elections held last week in Richmond and Lynchburg, Virginia, and Annapolis and Brooklyn, Anne Arundel county, Maryland. The majorities for the "wet ticket" were so large in the cities named, it is supposed there will be an end of the agitation in them on the local option question.

Miles River Farmer's Club.

The Miles River Farmer's Club met pursuant to adjournment, at the farm of Mr. Owen Norris, on Wednesday the 22nd of April, at 12 M. After some friendly, but earnest criticism of the proposed change in location of the dwelling soon to be erected, the attention of the club was directed to the condition of the farm and buildings. Fine fields of grass and clover were visible on every side, and the farm teams in the stables and cattle in the yard, gave evidence of good care and feeding. There was no occasion for adverse criticism of any kind.

The club then proceeded to the house occupied by Mr. Norris in Tunis Mills and was called to order at 1.30 P. M. with President Lowndes in the chair and all the members present except Col. Oswald Tilghman.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, Mr. Wheeler, chairman of the committee on Constitution, made his report.

At this point the meeting was interrupted by a summons to the adjoining apartment, where it was speedily demonstrated that the enforced narrowness of Mr. Norris' quarters had by no means set bounds to his hospitality. The choicest viands furnished by the farm and its adjoining waters, most admirably served, provided a repast that was enjoyed by the club to the fullest extent.

When business was resumed, the constitution submitted was considered article by article, and after various slight changes, was adopted, and the committee was discharged. Upon information received from Senator Tuck the following resolution was unanimously adopted by the club.

RESOLVED, That the Secretary be directed to communicate to the Governor of the State, the hearty endorsement by this association of the name of Dr. L. L. Adkins as candidate for the position of commissioner from the Eastern Shore, created by the Act, authorizing an Experiment Station Commission for the State of Maryland.

An animated discussion of the topic assigned for this meeting then followed, viz: The best time and method of applying barn yard manure. The subject was introduced by Dr. Lowndes and all of the members participated in the discussion. After some argument the majority seem convinced that August is the best time to haul manure on the land, to be put in corn the following spring. Top dressing wheat with well rotted manure was a capital thing for the wheat, and almost insured a good stand of clover. The value of absorbents in the stable, and the advantage of hauling at once from the stable to the field, were also dwelt upon.

The discussion was as it should be, the most valuable feature of an exceedingly interesting meeting.

The association adjourned to meet on the 3rd Wednesday in May, at the house of Mr. Francis Barry.

Topic for consideration: Best method of cultivating the corn crop. Discussion to be introduced by Mr. Barry.

O. F. EASTMAN, Secretary, pro tem.

PUBLIC BUSINESS.

County Commissioners.

The Board of county Commissioners met Tuesday. The examiners on the New Bridge road in Easton district, made report in favor of making a road, continuing the New Bridge road to Ratcliffe lane, thence by said lane to the Bayside road, with a bridge over Third Haven creek; and recommend that a cross road be built from the New Bridge to the Easton Point road, through by Joseph H. White's brickyard.

They granted permission to the Island City Telephone Company to put up telephone poles along, but outside the road from St. Michaels to Island City, on Tilghman's Island.

Orphans' Court.

The orphans court met on Tuesday, and passed the final account of F. A. Benson, adm. of Ella B. Didier, and a distribution of the estate. A release from the guardian of the distributees was filed in the case.

Joseph S. Golt, adm. of Alex. Innes passed his final account of administration.

In the matter of the sale of the real estate of William H. Leonard, deceased, Wilfred Bateman, Esq., solicitor for the complainants, filed a petition for leave to amend the bill of complaint heretofore filed. The court passed an order granting the petition, the amended bill was filed, and a subpoena issued to the defendants to answer.

Lippincott's Monthly Magazine.

In Lippincott's Monthly Magazine for May, the serial story, "Taken by Siege," takes the reader to one of the famous masked balls at the New York Academy of Music. "A Bachelor's Blunder" is as bright and clever and interesting as ever. This promises to be the best of Mr. Norris's novels. In the Experience Meeting, a department of unusual promise, Mrs. Cora Urquhart Potter, the lady whose recitation of "Ostler Joe" excited so much controversy, gives her "Experiences as an Amateur Elocutionist," while Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in her "Literary Confessions of a Western Poetess," not only gives a great deal of curious information about herself, but manages also to criticise her critics with unsparing severity.

The May Century.

"Hawthorne's Philosophy" is the the article which will first catch the attention of readers of the May Century, [illegible] personality is one of [illegible] and also for the reason that [illegible] writes the paper, has an intimate philosophical way of appreciating the [illegible] frontispiece portrait, [illegible] we have the novelist as he appeared, with clean-shaven face, in 1840, while he was surveyor in Salem Custom-House. With this article appears, also a portrait from a photograph taken about 1860. Of peculiar literary interest besides are Clarence King's vivacious account of a hunt in Spain for an old barber's basin, such as is known to readers of Cervantes as "The Helmet of Mambrino"; and the third chapter of "Zweibak; or Notes of a Professional Exile."

The Rev. T. T. Munger, who a year ago contributed an essay on "Immortality and Modern Thought," writes in this number with equal [illegible] of "Evolution and [illegible]" [illegible] profusely illustrated articles, [illegible] in their order are [illegible] chapter of "American Country [illegible]" by Mrs. Schuyler van Rensselaer [illegible] Minneapolis, [illegible] "A Californian's Gift [illegible] Lick Observatory by Taliesin Evans, and "The Breeding of [illegible]" which is [illegible] beauty of the [illegible] knowledge of the [illegible]

The Directors of the Easton Water Works Company let the contracts to construct the works last Wednesday. There were many bids, and a number of bidders from abroad were present. The following are the contracts awarded: The carpenter's work was given to Col. Edward Roberts, of Easton; for excavating, to R. F. Walker, of Easton; for the piping, to the McNeal Pipe and Foundry Company of Burlington, N. J.; for the pumping machine and engine, to the Holly Manufacturing Company, of New York; for the stand pipe, to R. Tippets & Son, of New York; for the hydrants and valves, to the Union Hydraulic Works of Philadelphia; for the artesian wells, to Shanahan & Wrightson, of Easton. The estimated cost of the works will be $80,600. Work will begin about the middle of May.

Death of Hon. Thomas F. Garey.

Mr. Thomas F. Garey, ex-State Senator and ex-clerk of the circuit court, of Caroline county, and one of the wealthiest citizens of [illegible] county, died suddenly at his place near Denton, last Sunday morning. He awaked at his usual hour and told his wife what he wanted for breakfast. She went into the kitchen to superintend the preparation of the food, and when she returned to his room, she found him dead. These are all the particulars we have received of the sad event.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,

THE NE PLUS ULTRA OF THE TRADE.

NOT AN EXPERIMENT, BUT A DEMONSTRATED FACT.

We Challenge the World to Equal It!

The Champion Steel Self-Binding Harvester, for the harvest of 1886, will show the greatest advancement in neat, novel and practical mechanism known since the first attempts were made to cut grain by horse power. The labor of harvesting the crops is now reduced to the lightest task of all farm work. You can take a pair of ordinary farm horses and easily clip down a twenty acre field of wheat or oats, and bind every bundle as easily as you can go to market. Think of it! A Champion Steel Binder will cut your crops for ten years and then be a better machine than half of the rattle-trap productions offered for sale to-day. You cannot afford to put your good money into those old-fashioned machines, when the latest and newest type of a Harvester is offered you substantially at the same price.

BUY ONE NOW.

You may not find them if you wait till near harvest. Each one goes out with the strongest warranty that was ever given with a machine, and if it is not broad enough to suit you, write out what you want a Champion to do and we will sign your own demands, and give you the machine on trial to prove we mean just what we say.
