It is reported that Hon. T. S. Hodson accepts the Republican nomination for Congress, all reports to the contrary. He may be ambitious to ventilate his scheme of oyster planting monopoly of Maryland oyster beds in the next congress. Maryland oysterbeds for Maryland oystermen, in opposition to the northern oyster planting monopoly business is the Democratic platform for the tidewater counties of the Chesapake bay and its tributaries.

An Irishman was asked for his marriage certificate. He lifted his hair revealing a large scar on the head, evidently done by a flat iron. This evidence was to the point. Our certificates are the praises of those who have experienced wonderful cures by the use of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Salvation Oil is the greatest cure on earth for pain. It affords instant relief and speedy cure to all sufferers from rheumatism, neuralgia, headache, sore throat, cuts, bruises, &c. Price 25 cents.

The public should keep in mind the democratic meeting next Saturday afternoon at the Court House in Easton. Hon. Charles E. Gibson, our candidate for Congress, will be present to give an account of his stewardship, and we are sure our citizens generally, Democrats and Republicans, white and colored, will want to hear him. Come out and give him a rousing reception. Other speakers will be present to entertain you. The Democrats especially should turn out in full force, and show by their presence that they intend to keep the democratic banner floating in Talbot, with victory inscribed upon its folds.

While the copy of the exhibits of the Talbot fair was in our printers' hands last week, one page was accidentally found in the office. It probably blew out of the window. Just as the outside was going to press, we tried to supply the missing items from memory, but one exhibit was overlooked, and consequently is did not appear in the last issue of the paper. We refer to the exhibit of fine boots by MONROE H. Higgins, shoe dealer, at the corner of Washington and Dover streets. He had an exhibit of boots, shoes and slippers for men and women, very tastefully arranged, that would have done credit to any shoe house in Baltimore. The display of patent leather goods was the finest we ever saw, and was one of the chief attractions of the exhibition hall. The same shoes of others have been sold by certainly equally as good can be had by any of our readers, if they will call at Mr. Higgins store, and we are quite sure that he will be pleased to show them and give the prices.

Hon. John B. Boyle is expected to speak at the Democratic meeting next Saturday.

Hon. Charles H. Gibson will please accept the thanks of the STAR for public documents.

Thomas T. Eaton, upholsterer, at Mason & Son's, gives notice to housekeepers, that he puts down carpets at short notice and in the best manner. To wear well and look well a carpet ought to be put down properly.

Commodore's new wharf.

a notable improvement by the Maryland Steamboat Company.

The Maryland Steamboat Company's extensive improvements on their new wharf property, foot of High street, Cambridge, are nearing completion. The company will occupy the property on October 1, and will on that date vacate their present wharf, the property of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The new wharf is undoubtedly the finest piece of wharf property in the State. The improvements, which add greatly to the beauty of Cambridge, as well as being a great credit to a progressive company, have necessitated a large outlay of money. Gen. Howard B. Esings, president of the company, personally designed the improvements, and the work has been done under the superintendance of Col. George W. Parsons, of Wicomico county. The wharf begins at the foot of High street, the boundary line between the town and county, and runs out on its upper side a distance of 507 feet. The frontage of 503 feet runs in at an angle of about 45 feet. At the end of the lower side there will be a width of 100 feet frontage exclusively for the company's use, and next to it, towards shore, are a dock 100 feet square, a wharf of 100 feet frontage, a landing of 40 feet frontage, and other wharves and landings. The extreme width of the property is about four hundred one eighty or ninety feet. It is filled in with oyster shells, and the water around it has been dredged to a good depth.

The building improvements consist of an ornamental story-and-a-half-high building, 36 feet wide by 76 feet long. It is divided into a ladies' room, a ladies' dressing-room, a gentlemen's room, a clerk's office, a large package room, and a freight room 36 by 40 feet. The equipments are of the best, and stained and ground glass is used. Surmounting the building is a large two-story cupola. The first story is to be used as a belfry, and Messrs. J. Regester & Sons are now moulding an 800 pound bell for it, so that the sound may be transmitted across the river to the Talbot shore, a distance of five miles. The second story of the cupola or tower is fitted up as a lighthouse, and is supplied with all the different kinds of lights, and projecting from the top is a thirty-six feet flagstaff, with a large gilded ball on the end. The roof of the building is painted red, with the incorporate name of the company in white letters three feet long. A large oyster-house, 102 feet long, on the wharf, is now in operation, and is conducted by Mr. James L. Woolford. Foundation piles have also been driven for a coal and ice-house, and for another oyster-house. General Ensign takes great pride in his work, and both he and Colonel Parsons have been congratulated upon every hand for the excellence of the improvements.

PUBLIC BUSINESS.

County Commissioners.

The Board of County Commissioners met on Tuesday, September 21st, and transacted the usual routine business.

The Board met again on last Tuesday, the 28th of September. The Examiners appointed to lay down a new road in Trappe district, from somewhere about Trappe station, in Oxford Neck, across Trippe's creek, to the Easton and Trappe road, somewhere near the Bailey's Neck road, reported against making the road on account of the cost of bridging Trippe's creek. They estimated that the road and bridge would cost not less than $3,000, and the advantages of it would not justify so large an outlay at this time.

Orphans' Court.

The orphans court met on Tuesday, 21st of September and passed the final account of N. C. Fitzjarrell, adm. of Wesley McLuney and a distribution of the balance of the estate. Mr. Fitzjarrell, also passed his final account as adm. of William McLuney, and a distribution of the balance of the estate.

An adjourned meeting of the diocesan convention of the Diocese of Easton, was held at St. Paul's church, Centreville, on Wednesday, the 29th of September, to elect a Bishop to succeed the late Right Rev. Henry C. Lay, as Bishop of Easton. Services were held in St. Paul's church at 10½ o'clock A. M., which was conducted by Rev. Oliver H. Murphy, Rev. Junius L. Bryan and Rev. S. D. Hall. Rev. On the reassembling of the convention the committee appointed to the morning reported resolutions expressing sorrow at the death of Rev. A. J. Drysdale, which were read and unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

A second ballot for Bishop was then ordered, Result: Coit 14 clerical and 10 lay; Fair 9 clerical and 14 lay; Seabrease 1 clerical. No election. THE NEW BISHOP OF EASTON.

From the Baltimore Sun.

Bishop John Henry Ducachet Wingfield, D. D., LL. D., is a native of Portsmouth, Va. He was born September 24, 1853, and was graduated at St. Timothy's College Maryland, in 1850, and at the College of William and Mary, Virginia, in 1823. He had been a tutor at St. Timothy's before he went to William and Mary, and after his graduation at the latter college returned to St. Timothy's and taught for a year. In 1854 he became a tutor at the Churchill Military Academy, Sing Sing, N. Y. The following year he entered the Theological Seminary of Virginia. He became principal of Ashley Institute, Little Rock, Arkansas, in 1856. He was ordained deacon January 17, 1858, and in July of the same year became assistant minister to his father, Rev. Dr. John H. Wingfield, rector of Trinity Church, Portsmouth, Va. When Gen. Ben. Butler occupied Portsmouth during the war, Rev. Mr. Wingfield was made a prisoner and placed in a squad of men, with a cannon ball chained to his leg, to sweep the streets. In 1864 he left Virginia and became rector of Christ Church, Rock Spring, Harford county, Md. Returning to Virginia in 1866 he again became assistant minister of Trinity Church, Portsmouth. In 1868 he became rector of St. Paul's Church, Petersburg, Va., and three years later, founding St. Paul's School for Young Ladies, became its rector and professor. William and Mary College conferred upon him the degree of D. D. in 1869 and that of LL. D. in 1874. In the latter year he became rector of Trinity Church, San Francisco, California. In that year he was elected the first bishop of the missionary diocese of Northern California, and was consecrated in St. Paul's Church, Petersburg, Va., December 2, 1874, by Bishops John Johns, of Virginia, Thomas Atkinson, of North Carolina, Henry C. Lay, of Easton, Wm. Pinkney, of Maryland, and Theodore B. Lyman, the then assistant bishop, but now Bishop of North Carolina. Of his consecrators but one, Bishop Lyman, survives, and Bishop Wingfield has been called to succeed one Bishop Lay. He remained in charge of his old parish at Petersburg, Va., until April 1, 1875, and became president of the Missionary College of St. Augustine, Benicia, on his removal to his jurisdiction. In 1876 he became rector of "St. Mary's of the Pacific," a school for girls at Benicia, and rector of St. Paul's Church, Benicia. He was elected assistant bishop of Mississippi in 1882, but declined the office.

His predecessor in the Diocese of Easton, Bishop Lay, was missionary Bishop of the Northwest when elected, and was translated to Easton, such a proceeding being permitted in the case of missionary bishops. Bishop Wingfield is said to resemble Bishop Lay as a thinker, writer, preacher and a man, and is generally regarded as a conservative high-churchman. If he accepts the office his confirmation will rest with the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, which meets next week at Chicago, Ill., instead of with a majority of the bishops and the standing committees of the several dioceses, as would be the case if the convention were not about to be held.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for October

Opens with a lively and timely article, "The Tragic Opera of a Strange Reign," the story of Louis II. of Bavaria, well told and illustrated. "Trout Fishing in Maine Lakes" avers more of our land, and is a necessary subject; and the picture of a three days catch will send many to such profitable waters. The picturesque career of Herman Cortes lends itself to a brilliant article, "A Wall in the Forest" is a bit of travel in an unfrequented group. All who love pets will enjoy "Parrots I Have Met," as sportsmen will appreciate "Hunting the Chamois." The charming "Walks About London" capitally illustrated, is as good as an actual visit to the vicinity of Hampton Court and Kew, while "Summer Sauntering About Lake George" makes one long for the mountains. In all that is grand and romantic and interesting. Altogether this number is one that, in variety of topics, choice of subjects and fineness of illustration, is unmistakably a hit. The plate, in gold and colors, is exquisite.

Rev. Dr. Campbell Fair returned from Europe last week. And since his return Gen. Seth has received a letter from him, in which he speaks in the highest terms of praise of the Bishop elect of Easton. He says Bishop Wingfield is a great man, and the diocese will be most fortunate if he accepts.

The Campaign Opened in Talbot.

Hon. Charles H. Gibson opened the campaign in Talbot on last Saturday week at Cordova. There was a large attendance of the Democratic Club of Chapel district to hear him, and he entertained the meeting by a speech of an hour and a quarter; and his address was received with enthusiasm. He discussed the tariff, civil service reform and other topics of interest. He will speak at Easton today, and at Easton next Saturday afternoon. We hope there will be a good attendance.

CLOTHING.

This is a question that we ask ourselves at least once a year, and as least we answer for fall clothes I think I shall try Jarrell & Nichols, they have the finest line of clothes and cassimers in the town, and their ready-made clothing is unsurpassed. They have a large room on the second floor and it is just full of choice suits and overcoats, and their prices are lower than many others who sell similar goods.
