THE EASTON STAR.

TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1888.

T. K. ROBSON, Editor.

THE Democrats in the legislature last Wednesday abandoned the bill providing for redistricting the State into Congressional districts. As there was no popular demand for the measure, and as the bill, if passed, would have caused much dissatisfaction in the Democratic party in Western Maryland, the engineers of the scheme did well to abandon it.

'Tilghman' is out again in last Saturday's Comet. The difference between 'Tilghman' and the STAR is, he wants the oyster tongers of Poplar Island Narrows protected at the expense of the School fund of this county; we think they should be protected at the expense of the State. The tongers of Charles, St. Mary's, Calvert, Anne Arundel, Kent, Queen Anne's, Dorchester, Wicomico and Somerset counties are all protected at the expense of the State out of the oyster fund, and there is no good reason why the State should not fully protect the tongers of Talbot county, including those of Poplar Island Narrows. It is enough for the State to support an oyster navy; the taxpayers of Talbot county have no desire to support another of their own.

Messrs. Seth and Tunis, the engineers of this Scheme to officer and man the Cambridge and Poplar Island boats at the expense of the School funds of Dorchester and Talbot counties, should understand that it is a dangerous business to fool with the public Schools of this county. John Bozman Kerr, when in the legislature in 1838, undertook to unsettle the School law of this county, and that fall the people rose in their might and overthrew Mr. Kerr and the Whig party of Talbot. Messrs. Seth and Tunis should be warned by the fate of Mr. Kerr. They can do as they please, of course. We simply want to keep the Democratic party correct on the record by putting in a protest against their appropriating any portion of the School funds of this county to a service, the expense of which should be met by the State. There are others interested in this question besides the oystermen, and it is with those that Senator Tunis must render an account if the bill becomes a law in the shape it was first reported in the Senate.

(Communicated.)

MR EDITOR:—I beg leave to address you upon the subject of a bill recently introduced to our Assembly by the Hon. T. Tunis, requiring members of clubs in Talbot county to testify in local option cases.

From the phraseology of the bill as well as from its intent, it appears probable that its sponsorship was forced upon Mr. Tunis by some of those masculine cranks and feminine fanatics, who not content with ordering their own lives according to their conscience, must needs attempt also to order those of other people. The Spanish Inquisition, it will be remembered, made the same attempt some centuries since.

That a member of a duly incorporated club has, within the precincts of that club, the same rights and privileges that he has within the walls of his own house is, or should be, patent to everybody. A club member possesses an absolute ownership in a certain portion of all the property of the club. To keep his interest good, it is plain, he must pay for what he withdraws, but how a man can purchase his own property of himself is, I think, not to be explained, and the process, even if explicable, would be contrary to common sense.

The advocates of such measures, however, set rational explanations and good common sense alike to one side, and rely upon blind votes, enough of which to carry their point, don't they may get? If it is not upon mere blind votes that they rely—if they repose upon any principle of right, of justice or of wise economy—why is the bill limited, in its application to Talbot county? They leave untilled a wide field open to the irritating scratching of their harrows.

Local option does not prevail in Baltimore city, but there are the excise laws. Yet in the Baltimore clubs, liquor may be obtained by members on Sundays when the law closes the saloons.

If the privacy of a club is to be invaded in the manner proposed in the bill under consideration, if a club-house is to be relegated to the position of a bar-room—why do not the advocates of the bill extend its provisions, and prosecute the Baltimore clubs for a violation of the excise law?

Because, Mr. Editor, they know they are wrong. They know that, even should they be able to bulldoze some members of the legislature into voting for the measure applied only to Talbot, those members would refuse point blank to vote for the same measure if their own constituents were to be outraged thereby. They believe, sir, that the bill may steal through, because it does not do violence to a very great percentage of the people of this State; and their political morality is, it seems to me, upon the exact plane of the personal morality of the young lady in the French opera, who hoped people would excuse her baby "because it was such a little one."

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

S.

EASTON, March 28th, 1888.

Death of the Editor of the New York Star.

Ex-Lieutenant Governor William Dorsheimer, the Proprietor and Editor of the New York Daily Star, died at Savannah, Georgia, last Tuesday, of pneumonia. He left New York on the first day of the blizzard for Florida in perfect health, took a bad cold which developed into pneumonia and terminated his valuable life before most of his friends in New York knew he was ill. The Star on Wednesday morning appeared in deep mourning for the loss of its editor, but said, 'the Star has been conducted by William Dorsheimer with the great purpose of maintaining Democratic principles and to defend the rights of the people. He never lacked the courage to assert a truth or combat an error. His death is a great loss to the paper to whose service he had unselfishly devoted his life. The Master is gone but his high purpose outlives him. The policy he defined will be carried out. The path he laid down will be followed. The Star will continue to be, as it has been, the exponent and defender of the great principles of liberty and justice which underlie all popular government.'

The surplus in the United States treasury by the first of next July will amount to $155,000,000; by next July twelve months it will be $250,000,000, if the taxes are not reduced. This will be bad for business.

Popular Sanitary Literature.

Until recently sanitary writings have been easily divisible into two distinct classes,—one, severely scientific, technical, accurate and exhaustive, but generally unintelligible to any but specialists who had devoted much study to sanitary matters. These works are valuable to students, but they are caviare to the multitude. On the other hand the books on hygiede belonging to the popular class were generally inaccurate as to facts and absurd as to inference, and much harm has been done by the false doctrines spread by them.

The American Public Health Association, a voluntary organization, comprising in its ranks physicians, clergymen, teachers, engineers, manufacturers,—in fact, intelligent men and women of all classes,—has labored for years to correct the evils growing out of the old order of things, and to bring home to the people the sort of knowledge that is needed to save life and avert disease. Heartily aided by the press, the Association has done much good work at its annual meetings held in different parts of the country. Still, only a small part of the country could be reached in this way. Three years ago, however, a philanthropic member of the Association, Mr. Henry Lomb, of Rochester, offered prizes for essays upon certain topics of vital interest to every intelligent person having any regard to the preservation of life and health. The subjects selected and the successful competitors for the prizes are as follows: (1) Healthy Homes and and Foods for the Working Classes, 62 pages by Prof. V. C. Vaughan, of the University of Michigan; (2) The Sanitary Conditions and Necessities of School-Hobees and School Life, 88 pages, by Dr. D. F. Lincoln, of Boston; (3) Disinfection and Individual Prophylaxis against Infectious Diseases, 40 pages, by Major G. M. Sternberg, Surgeon U. S. Army; and (4) The Preventable Causes of Disease, Injury and Death in American Manufactories and Workshops, and the Best Means and Appliances for Preventing and Avoiding Them, 19 pages, by Mr. George H. Ireland, of Springfield, Mass.

Although the treatment of the subjects in these essays is popular in tone, and easily understood by any one, the teaching is sound and thorough. There are no misstatements of fact and no false inferences contained in them, and while the most rigid scientific demands for accuracy are complied with, the whole matter is made clear and comprehensible to the most ordinary understanding.

Through the means furnished the Public Health Association, it is enabled to offer these valuable works at a price almost ridiculously low. They may be obtained at the book-stores, or of Dr. Irving A. Watson, Secretary, Concord, N. H., at the following rates: Single copies, No. 1, 10 cents; Nos. 2, 3, and 4, 5 cents each. The entire four essays in pamphlet form, twenty-five cents; or in cloth binding at fifty cents or seventy-five cents, according to style of binding and paper.

Dr. Sternberg's Essay has been published in German, French, and Flemish, and Dr Vaughn's in German.

About Free Wool.

The following article from the Philadelphia Times of last Thursday, a high tariff paper, looks very much as if light was breaking on the benighted City of Brotherly Love on the tariff question. It is refreshing to hear the Times talk in this strain.

From the Philadelphia Times.

Some of the public journals which play the role of organ and seldom meet public issues with candor have defended or excused the proposition to make wool free by publishing figures to show that the price of wool has declined under high duties for its protection. If such arguments, or pretended arguments, mean anything it must be that the price of wool would not be reduced by placing wool on the free list. Of course, such discussion of the question is picturesque absurdity

The avowed purpose of putting wool, ores, lumber, salt, etc., on the free list, is to cheapen them to manufacturers and consumers. Hides were made free some fifteen years ago at a loss of about $1.50 per hide to every farmer who butchered his own beef, and it was done avowedly to cheapen the raw material needed by our leather and shoe industry. The result was the rapid growth of the leather and shoe industry till now we make all our own shoes, furnish them cheaper and of better quality, and export from eight to ten millions of our products, while the farmers who lost a few dollars on their hides, have gained vastly more by cheapened and better shoes and leather. No one would now think of restoring the duty on foreign hides, as it would greatly cripple one of our most important and successful industries.

Putting wool on the free list must necessarily cheapen the price of wool, and every farmer who grows sheep would lose more or less by the reduction of price just as they lost by the reduction of the price of hides; but everybody wears woolens from hat to socks, farmers included, and the articles most worn by industrial people, farmers, mechanics and workingmen generally, are most taxed. If they would be more benefited by free wool in the reduced cost of their hats, blankets, clothing, etc., than are the wool-growers by the duty on wool, it must be obvious that wool should be on the free list.

There was no need of free wool ten years ago, and twenty years ago a high tax upon wool and all woolen goods worn was a necessity for revenue; but now our manufacturers are confronted by a new condition that demands the cheapest production of fabrics in common use, and free wool has become a practical necessity to aid our productive industries and cheapen the necessaries of life. Large wool-growers would lose more than they could gain by free wool, but the average farmer wool-grower would be more than compensated by cheapened articles which he must consume, and the great mass of the people, and especially of industrial people, would largely profit by it. This is the plain, practical presentation of the question, and the changed necessities of the present clearly demand the largest free list of raw materials for our productive industries.

Newspapers in 1888.

From the edition of Geo. P. Rowell & Co.'s 'American Newspaper Directory,' published April 2d (its twentieth year), it appears that the Newspapers and Periodicals of all kinds issued in the United States and Canada now number 16,310, showing a gain of 790 during the last 12 months and of 7,136 in 10 years.

The publishers of the Directory assert that the impression that when the proprietor of a newspaper undertakes to state what has been his exact circulation, he does not generally tell the exact truth is an erroneous one: and they conspicuously offer a reward of $100 for every instance in their book for this year, where it can be shown that the detailed report received from a publisher was untrue.

'Godey' for April.

The ladies who fail to see the April number of Godey's Lady's Book will miss a rich treat. The leading article, by Mrs. Croly, is on 'The Business Outlook for Woman,' and is full of practical suggestions as to how women who mean business can get along in the world. Other very valuable articles for women are 'The First Woman Editor,' and 'Out-door Athletics for American Women.' These show how women can be both helpful and healthy. 'My Millenial Club, by Kate Sanborn, will call forth the earnest approval of many a woman whose husband has been kept out late; as well as thousands who have become utterly weary of the stuffy abomination known as a 'course dinner.' Lillian Rice's story, 'How Easter Came to Milligan's,' is in a novel line of interest. Aunt Amanda continues her 'Home and Society Manners,' which are pleasing and instructive to many young people. 'Some American Magazine Writers' carries us back to sundry dear writers of half a century ago, and awakens delightful recollections. The Fashion Notes and Illustrations tell in pleasing style what to wear for spring. The minor departments are, as usual, full of sparkle and snap. The music, 'Boulanger's March,' will be played with delight by every lady who owns a piano. The continued stories compel attention, and prove to be of decided merit. The price of Godey is only two dollars a year, with sundry attractive inducements in the premium line and in offers to clubs. To learn all about these write to the publishers of Godey's Lady's Book, 1224 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The collections of internal revenue for the first eight months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1888, aggregate $80,760,467, an increase of $6 511,599 over the collections during the corresponding period of the last fiscal year. The collections on spirits were $44.984,052, an increase of $3,787,604; on tobacco, $20,328,076, an increase of $1,602,412; on fermented liquors, $14,845,161, an increase of $1,212 247; on oleomargarine, 489,152, an increase of $77,113; on bank notes, $355, a decrease of $2 645; on miscellaneous items, $113 672, a decrease of $65,133. The receipts for February last were $959,074 greater than those for February of last year.

He was a hero in every sense of the word

We refer to Engineer Robert Gardner, who died at his locomotive throttle, on Sunday night week in the railroad collision near Huntington, Pa. He could have saved himself, but he was charged with the safety of many passengers and he died at his post to save those whose lives were entrusted to his fidelity. His last words, after being fatally injured, were: 'None of the passengers killed? That's good; lay me down; good-bye, boys.'

The Art of Preserving

SEASON OF 1888.

The Standard Bred Stallion

FORTUNATUS, 484.

Half-brother of Orange Bud, 2 21¼.
Half-brother of Orange Blossom, 2 26½.
Got by Forager, 483.
Dam, Nelly Post, by American Star, 14
(Nelly Post is the dam of Orange Bud and Orange Blossom.)
Forager, by Alexander's Edwin Forrest, 49
Dam, Medoca, by Pilot, Jr., 12.
(Medoca is full sister of John Morgan, 2 21.)

Fortunatus will make the season of 1888 in Talbot county. He is a grey horse, 15½ hands, weight 1050 lbs. He has never been trained, but trotted a trial at Baltimore, in his 4 year old form, in 2.35, timed by Hon. H. B. Holton. He is as sound as a bullet, of excellent disposition, and very sure, as the residents of Frederick county, Md., can attest, he having made several seasons there, and his colts are of great beauty and promise.

Breeding trotters in Maryland is just in its infancy, and the great desideratum to breeders is brood-mares of speed-producing blood lines. In this respect, there is no horse in Maryland combining the brood-mare blood element as does Fortunatus. Out of an American Star mare (Nelly Post, the dam of Orange Bud, 2 21¼, and Orange Blossom, 2 26½), his sire by Edwin Forrest, out of Medoca, by Pilot, Jr. A more potent line of brood-mare blood element would be hard to find. Note the combination—American Star, Pilot, Jr., and Edwin Forrest. American Star got four 2.30 trotters and the dams of forty-two 2.30 performers, including the dams of Dexter, Nettie, Robert McGregor, &c. Pilot, Jr., got eight 2.30 horses and the dams of Maud S., Jay-Eye-See, and twenty-two others. Edwin Forrest got four 2.30 trotters and the dams of Sonso, 2 17¼, London, 2 20½, Mambrino Dudley, 2.19½, and seven others.

Figures do not lie, and if the student of Horse Literature can get mathematics to show more brood-mare trotting-horse blood than is combined in Fortunatus, he can take the cake for his champion.

Fortunatus can be seen at Mr. Frank Wright's, Easton.

TERMS—$15 the Season; $30 Insurance.

Pancoast sold for $28,000 at public auction, the highest price ever obtained for a trotter or runner at public auction.

Woodford Mambrino also sired Princeps, who is the sire of seventeen in the 2 30 list, making him the leading sire of 2.30 trotters that ever lived, of his age. The great mare Trinket, 2.14, is one of his get.

Marshal Ney was sired by Mambrino Pilot, 2.27½; he by Mambrino Chief, sire of Woodford Mambrino 2.21½, Lady Thorne 2.18¼, &c.

Marshal Ney's dam, Lady Waltemyer, was also the dam of Strathmore, the sire of Santa Claus 2.17½, Tucker 2.19½, and 15 others in the 2 30 list.

GLAUCUS will make the Spring season 1888 at $20 the season, payable August 1st, with usual privilege of return free of charge in case of failure.

He will be put in training at close of season. No groom fee.

THE
Imported "Cleveland Bay" Stallion,
TALBOT.

Registry No. 14, Cleveland Bay Society of America.

Foaled 1882. Sire—K. L. All, No. 361 (English stud book). Dam by Tottenham.
Height, 16 hands. Weight, 1200 pounds.

His colts (the oldest are 2 years old) are all bays, and are very promising for large size, fine action, with splendid manes and tails. Speed is not expected, but the get of such horses will average better prices for city, coach and draft horses, after only breeding to harness, than colts of most trotting sires. The Cleveland Bay is a very old breed in England, and before the days of Railroads horses of this breed were principally used there for stage coaches. In many districts and cities of the west they are taking the place of the heavier Clydesdale and Percheron, because of superior hardiness, soundness in feet, and ability to stand heat.

This stallion will make the season of 1888 in Talbot county, at $20 the season, payable August 1st, with privilege of return free of charge in case of failure.

No groom fee.

HANNIBAL, No. 2191,

By the great Woodford Mambrino, No. 345; dam Lady McKenny, standard under rule 5

His sire, dam and grand sire, are noted throughout the country as trotters and producers of the gamest breed of trotters the world has ever seen. (No dunghills in the lot.)

He has but two colts that have been trained, and they for a short time; and it is conceded that they both will beat 2.30 this season if trained, (the dams are common farm mares,) viz.: Grey mare Rosa Lee, 4 years old, trotted the Easton track last fall in 2.41; the track was eight seconds slow; timed by Dr. Smithers, Thomas A. Dudley and Mark New. The other, Lennies, was turned out at pasture last summer and taken up in the fall, and in two weeks turned half mile track in 1.17. His best colts, out of well-bred dams, are too young to show their quality yet.

Will make the season of 1888 at $30, with privilege of return next season free, in case of failure.

Will insure for $35—$10 cash, the balance when mare proves in foal. Parties parting with insured mares will forfeit insurance.

Groom fee, 50 cents.
