At a special meeting of the Jefferson Democratic Club, held this Monday evening, Nov. 26th, 1888, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased an All-Wise Providence to take from amongst us Hon. Thomas Kemp Robson, who was a member and first vice president of this club, we, his survivors, desire to place on record a testimonial of his worth as a democrat and as a man, and give expression to the great loss which that state has sustained in his decease. Therefore be it

Resolved, By the Jefferson Democratic Club of Easton, Talbot county, Maryland, that in the death of our vice-president, Thomas Kemp Robson, this club has sustained an irreparable loss and democracy has been deprived of one of its most fearless champions.

Resolved, That as editor of the Easton STAR, a position which he filled with ability for a period of nearly forty years, no sacrifice was too great, no labor was too onerous, nor was any responsibility too heavy for him to bear when his party called him, but he was willing to sacrifice his all, even to his life to the advancement and upholding of those principles which are dear to all true democrats.

Resolved, That we in common with the people of Talbot county who have long known the deceased in social and journalistic circles extend to his family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of distress and sorrow.

THE STORY OF A DAY.

Capt. Marshall Resigns—Capt. Groome Keeps in Charge.

Since last week's fight the police sloop E. B. Groome has been lying at Taylor's Island without a commander, Capt. John Marshall having resigned. As soon as these facts became known to Commander Plowman, he sent his secretary, Mr. Billings Steele, to Cambridge to organize a crew for the Groome for thirty days, during which time the Board of Public Works will look into the question, appoint a captain and make provision for a more thorough equipment of the whole force. Mr. Steele was here during the early part of the week and proceeded upon Capt. Benj Keene, who is an applicant for the appointment as commander for two years, to take charge of the Groome and man her until the State authorities act in the matter. It is likely that Capt. Keene is aboard the Groome by this time and we may at any time expect to hear of another battle, as he is a young man of determination and bravery.

The applicants for the commandership o the Groome for the term of two years which commences in January may now be said to be narrowed down to two, Capt. Benjamin Keene, of Parson's Creek, and Capt. Charles Frazier, of the Neck. Both are men of experience in the oyster navy and both have good and substantial recommendations from the leading men of the county. The Neck district claims the place because heretofore the sloop has been commanded by captains from Parson's Creek district, and, it is claimed, the Neck has not had a fair share of the subordinate positions. The new commander will probably be appointed next week, and, but for Thanksgiving, the appointment might have been made last Thursday. Capt. Chas. Cator and most of the crew who were in last week's fight, we learn, have refused to go back on duty. The man who takes charge of the E. B. Groome will have a pretty tough time for a while, but a determined stand and bold measures will soon have the desired effect. Secretary of State, E. W. LeCompte, Esq., went to Washington last week for the purpose of procuring some cannon for the oyster navy and, we hear, succeeded in getting five. One of these, a small one, will be put on the Groome, and the next battle, we predict, will terminate more disastrously to the dredgers than that of last week.—Cambridge Democrat and News.

Need of Earlier Precautions at Sea.

Sitting at a table during the past week in the public room of the steamer City of Richmond with an unbroken walls of glass around either side of it a broad expanse of ocean, to overstand imagination by an old sea dog, no survey is well qualified to advance an opinion upon the subject, of the causes of collision at sea. To quote him: "It is all owing to the 'open bridge system.' You are a man in any and all kinds of weather and since immersed to the storm upon the open bridge of a steamship from which the course of the ship is directed by electric signals to the man at the wheel, and what does he do? Now, self-preservation is the first law of nature, and your eyes are quick and forth with wind and storm, snow or sleet in his eyes, coat collar up, head averted, and the first thing he knows down comes a ship undiscovered until it is too late to avoid disaster. Take, for example, the recent collision off Halifax between the Thingvalla and the Geiser. The investigations elicited the fact that it was 4 o'clock of a rainy morning, no log, everything comparatively clear, yet the two ships approached undiscovered and met at full speed. The question is, could all this be avoided by such a system of protecting the pilots and wheelsmen in a warm, covered wheelhouse like this, situated forward and above the decks, as is the rule on our American steamers?"—Lewiston Journal.

THE BACKMOH.

A curious case of credulity has just come to light in Carlisle. For three weeks a band of gypsies were encamped near Littlestown, a village just across the Cumberland line, in Adams county, and on Wednesday Jacob Felker, an old farmer, conferred with them and was told that any money he might hide on a certain spot on his farm would double itself in a night. To test the matter he placed $10 in deposit and the next morning found as predicted, $20. This so elated him that he went to the Littlestown bank, drew out $300 and under a like deposit, but next morning to his dismay, the $600 were gone and so were the gypsies. The gypsies were captured and four of their number lodged in jail in Adams county.—Philadelphia Times.

The Boss Western Gambling Town.

Douglas now claims to be the Cheyenne of 1878-80. They have six monte games running, from which the town derives $300 revenue per month. There is no town of the same size in the west outside of one or two Colorado mining camps, where there is so much gambling money is staked and many money changes hands on the turn of a card than in Douglass. Where the money comes from is a mystery, but it is there, and it is chanced at every opportunity. There seems to be no strings on it. The six monte games have been rolling in shirt that aggregate $3,000.—Laramie Boomerang.

FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES.

St. Nicholas for 1889.

PEOPLE who have the idea that St. Nicholas Magazine is only for little children, should look over the prospectus of that magazine for 1889, and they will discover that it is for children of all ages, "from five to eighty-five," as some one recently said of it. Indeed, while St. Nicholas is designed for girls and boys, it might almost be called a "family magazine," for the grown-up members of a household will find much to interest them in every number.

The editor, Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, calls the next volume an "all-round-the-world year," because it is to contain so many illustrated papers about the world in general—not dry geographical papers, but stories and sketches and tales of travel and adventure by land and sea—and all illustrated by the best artists. The features will include a serial story, "How We Made the Farthest North," by Gen. A. W. Greely, the well-known commander of the Greely Expedition; a serial about Canada, by Mrs. Catherwood, who is writing a serial story for The Century this year; "Indians of the Amazon," by Mrs. Frank R. Stockton. There are many papers about Europe, including a Christmas story of life in Norway, by H. H. Boyesen; articles on Holland and the Dutch, by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge; "The Queen's Navy," by Lieut. F. Harrison Smith, U. S. N., with illustrations of many of England's finest war ships; "The Winchester School," illustrated by Joseph Pennell; "English Railway Trains," by Wm. H. Rideing, etc., etc. The French papers include "Ferdinand de Lesseps and his two Ship Canals," and there are several interesting contributions on German, Italian and Russian subjects.

Under "Asia," comes "Boys and Girls in China," by Yan Phou Lee (a recent graduate of Yale); "Home Life in the East," by Mrs. Holman Hunt, and a number of papers about Japan. Under "Africa" there is a sketch of Henry M. Stanley, by Noah Brooks, and several stories about Egypt. Australia is not forgotten, nor the islands of the sea, and there are even to be stories of under the sea.

Of course the bulk of the contents will relate to American subjects, as usual. Mrs. Burnett, the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," contributes a story of New York called "Little Saint Elizabeth;" there will be papers describing how the government offices are conducted, papers about athletes, amateur photography, etc. The full prospectus will be sent to any one who wishes to see it, by the publishers, The Century Co., of New York.

The Graphic recently said of St. Nicholas, "the family without it is only half-blessed."

BLACKSMITHING.

Having built a first class Blacksmith shop on Federal street, Easton, opposite the stables of Mr. Solomon Pippin, and secured the services of Mr. Jacob Cools, I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmithing in the best manner and at reasonable rates.

HORSE SHOEING.

I have just secured the services of a first-class city horse shoer, and using none but my own hand-made work, will guarantee all work done in this line, as I intend to make it the special feature of my business.

I would like to see all my old friends and customers, and have no doubt they will be pleased with my work, which they may favor me with. Asking a call, I am the public's obedient servant.
PATRICK RYAN.
