Shoremen Will Take Diamond With Old Cast

Turner And White, Queen Anne's Talent In College Line-Up

When weather conditions fully permit Tom Kibler's Washington College baseball team to trot on the field the personnel of the starting nine will be just the same as that which performed so notably on the diamond for the Shore college last spring. But the cast will be slightly shifted.

Most striking of changes will be that which sends Hobart Tignor to third base from his former post in left field. The burly Nanticoke boy, who can play any position on the team, had a hankering to try the hot corner spot, a position which gave Kibler some little trouble last season. With Tignor at third it gives the Washington mentor an opportunity to cram more of the potential hitting power he has sitting around into the lineup. With Tignor on third Bilancioni wil likely perform in left with Nicholson in center and Eddie Turner, Centreville youth, in right. Salter, who played third for the Shoremen last year, will be a reserve outfielder along with Webb, a newcomer who has shown to an advantage.

Evans will be at first for Washington when he isn't taking his turn on the mound and with Rinehart at second and Berry at short will complete the infield arrangement.

Huffman and Pfund, the latter a freshman, will likely share the catching while Fountain, White and Zebrowski, with the help of Evans, will handle the pitching. White, a Stevensville youth, has been slated a starting pitcher with other twirlers likely to see duty.

Washington College Athletic Director

Rules Changed

Slight changes, recommended by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, were made in basketball rules for next season by the National Basketball Rules Committee, meeting recently.

The mentors suggested five changes in all. Three were adopted, one was tabled and the fifth was voted down.

The changes instituted at the suggestion of the coaches are:

1) To place a restraining circle six feet in radius around the center circle of the court to prevent over-crowding at the center jump.

2) To permit substitutes to communicate with their teammates immediately after reporting to the scorer.

3) To permit four "times out" during a game instead of three.

The coaches had suggested an eight-foot circle at the center mark but the committee thought one of six feet would be ample.

The suggestion tabled was one to have all jump balls to take place in the nearest of three circles. This will be experimented with during the next season and the results brought before the meeting next year.

The suggestion voted down had to do with a modification of the three second rule to permit an offensive player without the ball to stand in the back part of the foul circle as long as he wished. The committee's opinion was that the three second rule had worked out well and should not be changed.

Clarify Rules

Other changes were largely in the matter of interpretation. The rule on face guarding will be rewritten to make it clearer and the rules regulating the work of scorers and timers will be changed to permit electric timing.

A note will be added to the rule which will clarify the question of whether a man commits a foul if he touches a ball in his opponent's hand and at the same time makes contact with his fingers or hand.

The blocking rule was discussed at great length and the committee agreed, as the coaches had, to adhere strictly to the rule as written.

The committee put over until next year decision on the matter of whether or not the ball should be continued to be put in play by center ump after a successful goal.

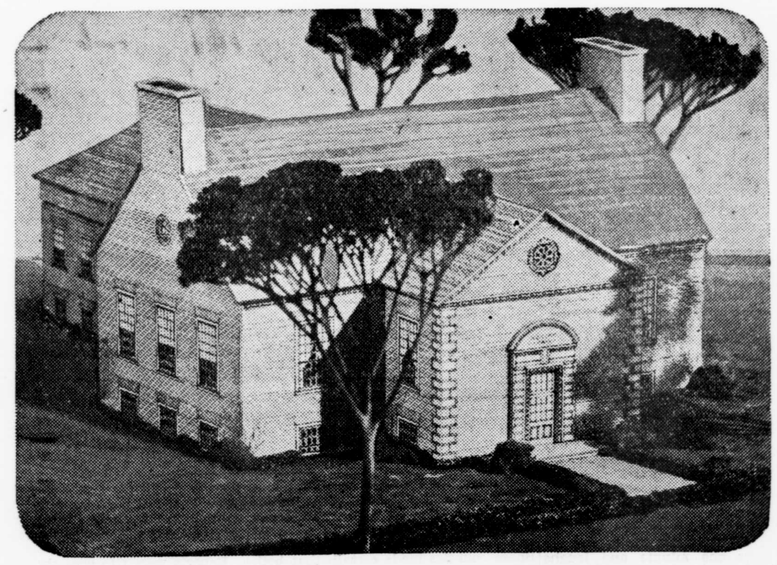

All in all the changes in the rules will only slightly alter the game from a player's standpoint and not at all as far as the spectator is concerned.

Bad Weather

Inclement weather, the bane of all spring sports and particularly baseball, has been taking its usual toll. Up here at Washington College we were "rained out" of our first two ball games and probably will feel the same sting again several times during the season.

That perhaps, has had a lot to do with the growing lack of interest in past years in college baseball. The season is short and when unseasonable weather prevails there is little time for practicing or playing.

Artist's Sketch Of Hodson Hall

Work will soon be started at Washington College, Chestertown, Md., on Hodson Hall. the new social and dining hall to be erected as a memorial to the late Col. Hodson, a former member of the board of Visitors and Governors of the college, who died in 1928. The building will cost $53,000, approximately half of which was the gift of the Hodson Trust and the widow of the former board member. Contract for erection of the structure will be awarded on April 25 by the Board of Governors.

STEVENSVILLE HIGH-LIGHTS

JUNIOR HAPPENINGS

John Palmer, Mary Ruth Frampton, Reba Jones and Emma K. Bullen have been very sick with the measles.

The boys of the Junior Class have been selling lunches and have shown the girls of the Junior Class how to earn money.

SOPHOMORE NOTES

The plague didn't hit us last week but struck with full force this week. Many are absent while a few have just recovered from an attack. Yes, we're speaking of the measles.

In English grammar we have been drilled in business letters. At first we were rather inexperienced but after a week of constant drilling on orders, claims, requests, and many others under the expert eye of Miss Sewell, who wouldn't know how to write a a business letter?

FRESHMAN NEWS

Because of measles many pupils have been absent from class. Also the eighth grade teacher, Mr. Rhodes has just recovered from a case of measles. Mrs. Emily Denny was substituting for Mr. Rhodes.

SOCIAL NOTES

Charlotte Spry was guest of honor at a dinner given by Edna Cockey Sunday evening. Those present besides Charlotte and Edna were Clara Bryan, Eva Chance, and Lois Southard.

Charlotte is moving to Hillsboro. Good luck, Charlotte!

AAA TO PAY $750,000

Maryland farmers will receive payments totaling $750,000 under agricultural adjustment programs in effect prior to January 6, 1936, according to an estimate from the AAA.

It is expected that practically all of these payments will be completed by the end of June, 1936.

We better give up the things we can't keep for the things we can't lose.

BIG SPELLING CONTEST
Lauretta Hall, '37

The Fourth Annual Interstate spelling contest which is sponsored by Goldey College will be held on April 18th. Charlotte Price, Mabel Hall, and Ann Hollingsworth were sent last year and we shall send either one or two teams this year.

Half an hour has been set aside each morning for the purpose of training the spellers. On Thursday, the final school contest will be held. This will determine the six best spellers and they will represent the school.

Those who have entered the school contest are:

Seniors—Norman Dudley, Ruth Harrington, Laura Watts, Margaret Jester, Elizabeth Bamberger, Ann Hollingsworth, Marie Storey.

Juniors—Catherine Councell, Boswell Childs, Raymond Eareckson.

Sophomores—Peggy Robinson, Hodge Coleman, Pauline Kendall, Naomi Ewing.

Freshmen—Marion Coleman, Marion Sparks, Betty Storey, Samuel McGinnis.

ATHLETICS
Catherine Councell, '37

Some equation in Alegbra are difficult and very unpleasant to solve but an equation recently found by some of our students is very easy.

"April equals Athletic Period."

Thusrday we started our regular Athletic Periods and everyone did his part toward making some sort of team. Those wishing to play Volley Ball reported to the court and those who wished to play Hit Ball and run relays gathered with Miss Chambers in the Home Economics Room for a conference.

Several pupils were stiffer than their "Grandparents" on Friday but Monday were ready for real work again.

AROUND THE TRAININNG CAMP
With Ray Eareckson

The boys are loking better every day and while the rain has slowed us up some we are getting in better condition every day. Although this lineup isn't definite it is an idea—Stant, P; Atkinson, or Hurtt, C; Childs, 1b; Downs or Eareckson, 2b; Skinner, 3b; and MacFarland, ss.

In the outfield Normie Dudley is the only one sure of his berth, which leaves Francis Hall, Charlie Walls and Phil Dudley fighting it out for the other two positions. It is a sweet proposition to decide between the last three as all are fair-to-middling fly-chasers.

In the infield second base and catching are the problems. While Hurtt is untried at catching in a regular league game he is really making Ed Atkinson work for his position. Hurtt has got a peg down to second something like a "mule's kick". However, Ed is a brainy catcher and isn't easily rattled in a pinch.

—o—

The girls had better get busy and learn how to play volley-ball. The boys at the present time hold the advantage in games by a wide majority. I think us "all stars'" have only lost two games. I hope we have as much luck in baseball. If the rest of the girls would play like Ruth Harrignton and Laura Watts, Church Hill would have some team. Laura hits a volley ball something like Hurtt throws a baseball.

—o—

Bits About 'Em—Normie (Babe Ruth) Dudley: Normie is a senior and captain of this year's team. He has two monograms and should get his third this year. The "Babe" has played baseball since his freshman year and soccer for three years, being captain of last year's team which finished second in the county championship last fall. He bats and throws right-hand. Normie is an honor student and one of the most popular persons in school.

Boswell (Flash) Childs—Flash is a junior and another honor student. This will be his second year of baseball. He also was left fullback on our runner-up soccer team last fall. Has one monogram and hopes to get another. Likes the ladies but don't we all?

The most enduring love is between those of the same sex.
