Welfare Board Adds 13 To Old Age Pension List

Making a final clearance of the applications for Old Age pensions which piled up at the inauguration of the program the Queen Anne's county Welfare Board added thirteen names to the rolls at their meeting last Wednesday and settled down definitely on a current basis.

The additions brought the totals of those receiving pensions up to 244, as compared with 231 in June. However, it is understood that a few of those added to the list at the recent meeting will not receive checks this month. Eleven applications are on the current list and it is understood that several of these are already slated for rejection.

CORRECTION

The name of the successor to the firm of Lowe and Bartlett was erroneously stated in last week's issue of the Record. The correct name is the Bartlett Hardware Company of which F. Asbury Bartlett is sole owner. The Record regrets the error.
