THE WORLD WE LIVE IN

The Old Grey Bonnet

Sag Harbor, L. I.—Although the congregation of the First M. E. Church has but 200 members a celebration in honor of golden weddings disclosed seven couples among the congregation who had rounded out a half century in the double harness. Under a bridal arch the seven couples ranging from Mr. and Mrs. Packer, married 50 years to Mr. and Mrs. Hall, married 57, renewed their vows.

Button Up Your Neck

Louisville, Ky—Dr. R. C. Pearlman, plastic surgeon, told police he had sewed six pearl buttons in the slashed throat of Miss Ruth Scott, cut in a car accident. He said it was customary to sew in buttons to keep a plastic job in place.

Clothes Make Men

New York—As an experiment to make down-and-outers spruce up an 8-hour boat ride was offered derelicts who appeared shaved, sober and dressed as well as circumstances would permit. Dr. C. J. St. John, who planned the trip expects it to boost the morale of derelicts, especially as benefactors chipped in clothes and shaves.

Could See That Here

Washington—Dr. Paul McNally, head of the National Geographic-Georgetown University group which traveled to northern Asia to photograph the eclipse, had no luck. His report was, "We traveled 10,000 miles to see a rainstorm."

Bright Twins In Fishing Tie

Sutton, W. Va.—George Ernest and John Amos Bright, 5-year-old twins of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Bright had their first taste of fisherman's luck at the same instant. Fishing with their father John hooked a ten-inch bass just as George snagged a sunfish. And Mr. Bright was as busy as a man with two fishpoles in his hands as both lads crowed for help in landing their first catch.

Young Samson

Binghampton, N. Y.—Stephen Zapatosky, 3 years old, weight 70 pounds and noted for his feats of strength, surprised every one but his family when he took hold of the lawnmower and trimmed the grass. The young fellow can handle a man-sized wheelbarrow and pull a 150-pound brother around in a cart.

When Old Friends Meet

Dumont, N. J.—Desirous of having a few people of his own generation present at his birthday party Chauncey W. Johnson, 103-years old, sent special invitations to centenarians of adjoining towns, Mrs. Katie Huyler, 100 years old, and Mrs. Louise M. Hale, 102.

Nudist Gobblers

Grand Island, Neb.—Hearing that keys were a good means to combat a plague of grasshoppers a Hall county farmer imported a flock of 300 and turned them loose in his fields. That evening his daughter went out to round up the turkeys and found them very much exposed. The grasshoppers had eaten off all their feathers.

Trial in Working Hours

New York—Magistrate Gustave Wieboldt is putting a double edged crimp on bookmakers. Instead of trying arrested bookies in the morning he set the trials for 2 o'clock—the hour when races start and bookies do their business.

Timely Insurance

Washington—The Boy Scouts did not lose out on all fronts when their jamboree was called off last summer by President Roosevelt because of the epidemic of infantile paralysis. This week final payment of $308,000 was made by a company which sold a policy indemnifying against cancellation.

Can't Eat Money

Mahomat, Ill.—Grasshoppers destroy crops running into plenty of money but they won't eat money. Kenneth Mavis searching for a pocketbook lost in a cornfield found it after the hoppers discovered it first. They left uneated the metal clasp and a $5 bill.

Extra Passenger

Saybrook, Conn. — A motorist who withheld his name was startled by the unexpected appearance of a mouse on his steeling wheel. He let go of everything and the machine crashed into a fence. After the car was fixed up neither the man nor his wife would get back into the machine until the motor mechanic had shooed the mouse out.

His (X) Mark

White Plains, N. Y.—Asserting that fingerprints of a man were a better signature than a mere X Clerk of Surrogate's Court William E. Clark said he would admit Nick Romaniw's will to probate after a fingerprint expert had checked the will with prints taken from the dead man's hand.

Senator Motor Victim

Chippewa Falls, Wis.—United States Senator Louis Murphy of Iowa was killed when his automobile overturned after a blowout. The Senator's death leaves Iowa's politics in a turmoil as now two Senators must be elected in the fall and both sides must nominate Murphy's successor in a week.

Three-Word Summary

London—King Edward VIII had three words and no more for G. A. McMahon who flourished a revolver in a supposed attempt to assassinate England's monarch. "The damn fool," said the King and no more.

Mrs. Alice E. Wilmer Dies At 'Eversley'

Long Linked With Social Life Of County. Led Reading Clubs

Mrs. Alice Gray Emory Wilmer, widow of the late Harry Bond Wilmer and a member of a prominent Queen Anne's family, died at her home at "Eversley" Friday morning at 11 o'clock after a brief illness. She was 80 years old.

Mrs. Wilmer was born at Poplar Grove Farm, the daughter of the late Colonel John Register Emory and Alice Gray Bourke Emory on September 7, 1855. Of a family of five children she was the last survivor.

Throughout her life Mrs. Wilmer maintained her residence in Queen Anne's county. She was for many years a social leader and she was a lady of delightful personality and culture.

Possessing a fine intellect and good business judgment, Mrs. Wilmer at the age of 2# undertook the management of Eversley Farm, which she had inherited.

She was much interested in community affairs and on several occasions was at the head of reading clubs which were in vogue in the county a half century ago. Among these were the Eversley club whcih met at her home, and the Kingsley group.

She was married to Harry Bond Wilmer of Landsdowne in Queen Anne's county in 1883.

Surviving Mrs. Wilmer are a daughter, Mrs. Howard Wood, Jr., of Eversley; and three sons, Dr. Harry B. Wilmer, C. Van Bibber Wilmer, and Pere Wilmer, all of Philadelphia. Six children also remain.

Funeral services were held from St. Paul's Episcopal Church Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock with the Rev. Alward Chamberlaine, rector, officiating.

The bearers were J. R. E. Turpin, Howard Wood, III, Henry Bond Wilmer, Dr. Alexander Randall, Royden N. Powell and Caulk Kent.

Interment was in Chesterfield cemetery.

Fresh Air Work Is Progressing

Homes Opened to 16 Baltimore Youngsters

Arrangements have been made to receive sixteen Baltimore City children in Queen Anne's County homes for Fresh Air vacations, Mrs. Jewell Fesmeyer, Chairman of the group of Centreville women who are working to place the youngsters, said Wednesday, and she is much encouraged over the response being received.

A special request is made for some Centreville family to share a child with Mrs. James P. Keating, who has generously offered to board a boy or girl if the Committee will find a room for the little visitor. Anyone interested may communicate with Mrs. Fesmyer or Mrs. Vachel A. Downes.

Among those who have opened their homes to the children are Mrs. Ralph Baynard, Mrs. Edward Connolly, Miss Ruth Stant, of Church Hill, and Mrs. Keating. Mrs. Helena S. Raskob, Mrs. W. Hopper Gibson, Mrs. Alfred Green, Mrs. Alfred M. Green, Miss Clara Crabbe and Mrs. Vachel Downes have contributed to the work and two anonymous donations have been received.

Attachment Against Rudy Quashed At Non-Jury Term

Accepting a motion by State's Attorney Edwin H. Brown, Jr., Judge Thomas J. Keating on the bench at the non-jury term of Circuit Court Monday quashed an attachment for contempt issued against Walter R. Rudy, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

Rudy has been technically in custody of Sheriff Deogan of Baltimore since June at which time the attachment was issued because of the Commissioner's failure to appear to answer an appeal by Stevens Kimbles against a ruling revoking Kimbles' operator's license. Kimbles was not present Monday, being excused upon presentation of a physician's certificate.

The non-jury term was brief, lasting about an hour. It consisted of reading the docket and passing on motions.

E. Thomas Massey, 61, Dies At Chestertown

E Thomas Massey, member of a family prominent in Kent and Queen Anne's Counties, died of pneumonia in the hospital at Chestertown Tuesday night. Former president of the Kent County Farm Bureau and vice-president of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation, he had been ill for several weeks and was 61 years old. He was also a large landowner and insurance man. He is survived by his widow, one son, two sisters and a brother, all of Chestertown. Funeral services will be held there Friday.

Library To Close During Remodeling

During the period of remodeling the Centreville Public Library will be closed and the books stored for their protection and safe keeping. Any books that are still out may be returned to the home of the Librarian, Miss Matilda B. Keating.

The public is urged to bear this in mind as books are often lost or misplaced during the summer. Notice of the reopening of the library will be made later.

Thorn Hedge Is Soft Picking For Power Grader

Scene near Templeville where one of the new 60-ft roads is being graded. Relentless as a tank, a 69 h. p. Caterpillar tractor hooked onto an Austin-western grader marches down a thorn hedge, fence row, or uproots small trees with all the ease of a plow through loamy soil. The equipment runs day and night on two 11-hour shifts. In the picture above, Albert Potts, of Church Hill, is on the tractor; Luther Nelson operates the grader, and Millard Bull, of Sudlersville, is the foreman.

Woman Jailed On Vice Charge

Corinne Gardner Gets Six Months In Cut

Corrinne Gardner Weaver of Kent Island Narrows drew six months in the House of Correction on a charge of maintaining a bawdy house at a hearing before Magistrate J. West Thompson in Police Court Monday evening which attracted a crowd that overflowed the main courtroom in the Courthouse.

The woman was also fined $25 and costs for selling beer without a license and $5 and costs for maintaining a disorderly house. She was still in Centreville jail on Wednesday with ten days in which to appeal or accept the sentences.

The case was the outcome of complaints received by State's Attorney Edwin H. Brown about the woman's home at the Narrows. More or less salty testimony about conditons at the place were offered by Isabel Crim, self-confessed prostitute, and two 16-year old Caroline county girls. No defense was offered.

The trial of Winnie Smith of Willoughby on four charges including selling beer on Sunday and permitting dancing on Sunday was postponed until next Monday.

Wyoming To Play At Queenstown On Sunday

The Quenestown Terps, winner of eleven straight ball games and undefeated this season, will stack up against Wyoming, Del., Sunday afternoon at 2:30 on the Queenstown diamond. Wyoming has had a reputation for years of turning out strong ball clubs and the Terps expect to get a stiff test.

Meanwhile efforts are being made to book other outstanding teams. Federalsburg has already been scheduled. Challenges have been issued to Clayton and Milford. The Terps, with Jack Schelberg befuddling all opposition with his "Ghost Ball", are ready for all comers.

Hillsboro-Queen Anne Bank To Pay 10% More

The Hillsboro-Queen Anne Bank will pay 10% of the face amount of outstanding Certificates of Beneficial Interest on August 1, it has been announced by Cashier Howard P. Flowers.

This will mark the second 10% payment by the Hillsboro institution, the other having been paid last October. Charles Jarrell is President of the bank and Henry E. Morgan, vice-president.

Commissioners To Make Drive For Dirt Road Improvement

Gravel And Shells To Be Applied To Bad Spots Throughout County. Passable Year-Around Roads Is Goal. Work Starts

Determined that Queen Anne's Countians will not flounder helplessly in the mud like they did last winter and in years past, the Board of County Commissioners at their session Tuesday set wheels in motion to gravel or shell every known bad spot in the county before the onset of winter.

This does not mean, they took care to point out, that the county would get a batch of new gravel or oyster shell roads. The program embraces no new construction whatever.

The whole intent of the drive is to drain known mud holes or impassable sections and apply gravel. On Kent Island oyster shells will be used in many spots. On other roads where clay embankments have halted traffic in bad weather, the crests will be crowned.

Approximately 200 miles of roads have been designated for this sort of treatment. All available funds earmarked for this county by the State Roads Commission will be used. Latest figures from the Commission estimated that this county would have a cash balance of $23,991.42 at the end of the fiscal year on September 30 after deduction of present commitments and the cost set up for ordinary maintainence. The Board has authorized the State to expend this balance on widespread improvements.

The Commissioners some time back set aside a special bank fund of $4,000 from the county treasury to aid with the program. This will be used. At the same time the Commissioners expect to be in position to match Federal funds on any WPA or Farm-to-Market Roads that can be obtained. Reports from Washington indicate activity along that line by September or the early fall. Board members are to meet with District WPA Engineer Brady Dayton on two small projects in the vicinity of Grasonville which were not designated as county roads when the State took over maintenance three years ago.

On numerous roads in the county it is argued that graveling of short stretches would open up the entire area to travel throughout the year. A few bad spots in Spaniards Neck blocked that region last winter. The same condition exists toward Ruthsburg where mud holes forced travel to Centreville by way of Queen Anne.

Shaping up of the roads and drainage ready for gravel is now in progress and will continue steadily, according to State Roads Engineer Walter Blackwell. Other roads will be graveled in the fall as a part of maintenance.

Grading of the three-mile stretch of 60-foot road between Barclay and Templeville is expected to be completed within the next ten days. Many sections of the road have been relocated and straightened. After that is finished the equipment will move to Carmichael where rights-of-way for another of these wide roads have been obtained.

Barclay Homemakers Hold Picnic At Bookers

Combining a picnic with the regular July meeting the Barclay Homemakers and members of their families and other guests enjoyed an outing at Booker's Beach Friday afternoon. About twenty-five were present at the affair which was arranged by Mrs. Linwood Wallace, club president.

Bathing and a sumptuous lunch featured the afternoon together with a business session at which Mrs. Roy Phillips was admitted to membership.

Those present included Mrs. Wallace and family, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. John Ware and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Leary, Mrs. John Lane and family, Mrs. M. L. Ross, Mrs. Price of Wilmington, Mrs. Anna C. Morris, Mrs. E. S. Graham, Mrs. Lemuel McGinnis, Mrs. John Green, Mrs. John C. Hall and Miss Isabel Bewick.

PRICE LADIES TO PICNIC

The Price Homemakers Club will hold an outing with a picnic at Booker's Beach Tuesday afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock. The committee on arrangements includes Mrs. Frank Brower, Mrs. John McKenney and Miss Nancy Price.

Toonerville And Beer Truck Tangle

Two Hurt Near Wye Mills. Reckless Driving Charged

Two men were hurt in a grade crossing crash Monday morning at 8:30 when the B. & E. train and a beer truck out of Pottsville, Pa., tangled near Wye Mills.

The truck overturned into a cornfield with a smashed radiator, and the train, a combination locomotive and coach, had a twisted cowcatcher and disrupted air-brake system which forced it to be pushed into Queenstown for repairs.

John Michael, driver of the truck, sustained a broken nose and cuts about the head. His brother Lewis, had a severely wrenched back. Both were ordered to Easton Emergency hospital after examination by Dr. H. F. McPherson in Centreville. Thomas Kirk, third man on the Cambridge-bound truck, was uninjured.

Patrolman Albert F. Anderson of the State Police arrested Michael on a charge of reckless driving and he posted collateral of $11.45. He was released pending a hearing before Magistrate J. West Thompson.

The crash occurred in the midst of a hard shower.

Centreville Homemakers Hear Talk On Flowers

A talk on flower arrangement by Mrs. E. O. Willis and a report on the Rural Women's Short Course by Mrs. Franklin D. Day were the chief items on the program at a meeting of the Centreville Homemakers Club at the Courthouse Tueday afternoon.

Others present at the meeting were Mrs. Claude Anthony, Mrs. Carlton Shewbrooks, Mrs. Wendell Shawn, Mrs. Wayne Keith and Miss Isabel Bewick.

SHOWER FOR MISS HORNEY

Miss Eleanor Horney, who is to be married in August to Mr. Harold Norman of Middletown, N. Y., was given a miscellaneous shower at her home in Grasonville last Thursday evening.

Schelberg Pitches No Hit Game As Terps Twice Tame Cambridge

Only 2 Men Reach Second On Veteran, Both By Walks. Homers Account For 5 Of Queenstown's 6 Runs. Streak Goes To 11

John "Tug" Schelberg entered the Eastern Shore's hall of fame Sunday at Cambridge when he turned back the Coca Colas without a hit and nothing resembling a run. Two men got to first base during the day, the result of two bases on balls in the first round and a free ticket and a theft in the eighth, but that was the extent of the Cokes' offensive. Meanwhile the Terps coasted to a 6-0 victory. Until the sixth inning not a ball was hit out of the infield so potent was the veteran's mastery.

The recent phenomenal success of the wily 'Tug', the boys say, comes from the development of a "Ghost Ball". He has been practicing the new delivery for several weeks and now has it under complete control, as so well demonstrated. It's a combination of Christy Mathewson's "fadeway", Carl Hubbell's "sinker", Dizzy Dean's "fog ball", and Tommy Bridges' round house curve. The batters think they see it on its way to the plate, and then they don't—hence "Ghost Ball". Obviously no one can hit what they don't see.

All this happened in the first game

Colored School Girl Held In Fatal Stabbing

Girl Defending Sister Kills Josiah Wilkins With 10-Cent Knife

Gertrude Butler, 16-year old colored school girl was held for a hearing before Magistrate J. West Thompson in Police Court next Monday evening as the result of the fatal stabbing of Josiah Wilkins, 24-year old Negro, who was instantly killed with a ten-cent Barlow knife in a quarrel outside the dance hall at Union Church, a colored community between Church Hill and Chestertown Wednesday morning about 1 o'clock.

The girl was arrested by Sheriff T. Herbert Everett and Deputy Sheriff Louis Perkins Wednesday afternoon a few huors after a Coroner's jury had recommended that Etta Dodd be held for the Grand Jury for the killing. Suspecting the girl the officers detained her for questioning. She broke down and confessed.

According to sworn statements of the Butler girl and May Caulk, 22year old colored woman, Wilkins in a fit of jealousy had knocked down Etta Dodd, a former common law wife and was kicking her brutally when the Butler girl, her sister ran to a car for the knife. The younger girl told Wilkins to cease kicking Etta and when he continued she rushed at him.

In the scuffle Wilkins was stabbed twice, one 3-inch gash snipping the artery above the heart. Although the Negro died at once his body was carried to a Chestertown doctor who ordered it taken back to this county. The Butler girl went to Chestertown with the group and tosed the knife into the Chester River as she crossed the bridge.

A jury summonded by Coroner Thompson at 10:30 Wednesday morning found that Wilkins had met his death from stab wounds inflicted by an unknown person and recommended that Etta Dodd be held for the Grand Jury. The Butler girl appeared before the jury but did not hint at her part in the fatality.

The jury was composed of Harry C. Butler, foreman, Bob Robinson, Thomas Cook, Wendell Shawn, Nelson Fesmyer, John Cannon, Percy Arrington, M. M. Price, James Morgan, Charles S. Roe, Charles E. Smith and Thomas R. Seward.

Moffet Buys Another Farm

'Blakeford" Owner Acquires Powell's Point On Wye

George M. Moffett, President of the Corn Products Refining Company and owner of "Blakeford" near Queenstown, has bought another farm. He purchased "Powell's Point", 381-acre tract on the head of the Wye River, according to announcement by the Bay and River Estates Company of Centreville on Wednesday.

The farm is almost directly opposite two historic properties, "Cleghorn-on-Wye", the old Trimble estate now owned by Henry Lockhart, 3d, and Wye Plantation, ancestral home of Governor Paca, signer of the Declaration of Independence.

The original house on the property was destroyed by fire some years ago, but there is a frame house of nine rooms with barns and outbuildings as well as a five-room tenant house on the tract.

Forest Landing, another beautiful home of the Lockharts, King Emory's Manor belonging to Frank Dudley of Baltimore, the old Dr. DeCoursey place now owned by Leon Andrus and known as "Cheston - on - Wye", Presquille, Bruffs Island, and Wye House are all near.

Plans for development of the property were not announced. In addition to "Blakeford" ,it marks the third farm Mr. Moffett has purchased since coming to Queen Anne's County two years ago.

Breeders To Hold County Horse Show Labor Day

The Sixteenth Annual Queen Anne's County Horseshow will be held at the Racetrack near Centreville on Labor Day, Monday, September 7, under the auspices of the Queen Anne's Horse Breeders' Association. Charles S. president of the Association, is to be general chairman of the Show.

The program will contain the usual running races and show classes for hunters, saddle horses and draft horses.

Shore Agents Confer On Soil Program Here

Discuss Checkup On Compliance And Plans For 1937 Setup

Committeemen and county agents from five Eastern Shore counties met at the Courthouse Tuesday with representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture and the Extension Service at College Park for an all-day discussion of the soil conservation program and methods for checking compliance. The conference was called by Paul E. Nystrom of College Park in charge of the program in Maryland.

The various county agents reported a consistently high percentage of signups in their counties, including Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline, Talbot and Dorchester. Plans for the 1937 soil program were also discussed.

Those present included Ernest B. Brown and County Agent Kenneth W. Baker, Queen Anne's; C. T. Kimble, Miss Lillian N. Black and County Agent J. Z. Miller, Cecil; A. L. Beaston, County Agent J. D. McVean and Assistant County Agent Stanley B. Sutton, Kent; A. H. Dean and County Agent William R. McKnight, Dorchester; County Agent Royal S. Brown and J. Spencer Dyott, assistant in soil conservation, Talbot; and J. B. Jarrell and County Agent George Clendaniel, Caroline.

The Washington group consisted of W. E. Underhill, representative of the East Central division of the AAA! B. V. Joy, Department of Agriculture; and Reuben Brigham, also of the Department of Agriculture. The Extension Service was represented by Paul E. Nystrom, E. I. Oswald, County Agent leader, A. V. Krewach, district supervisor; W. B. Sorey, Eben Jenkins, and Mark Shoemaker.

Lions Romp At New Beach Site

Goldsborough Speaks At Club Crab Feast

The Queenstown Lions with their families, friends and ladies to the number of 200 dedicated the new Lion bathing beach at Blackbeard, the home of Harry Barton on the Chester River a mile from Queenstown with a picnic and crab feast Wednesday evening. Joseph W. A. Evans was host for the outing.

Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough in troduced by Guy E. Harmon, president of the Lions spoke on "Lionism." Joseph T. Moltz of Baltimore, district governor of the Lions Clubs made a brief address.

The entertainment committee included Joseph W. A. Evans, chairman, William K. Harrison, James R. Friel, Harry C. Onley, Jr., Benjamin Miller, Charles Chance and Harry Reynolds.

The new bathing beach carried out a plan of the Lions to provide a clean, safe bathing site for their families and friends. It has been equipped with two bath houses and tables under trees for picnic lunches.

Democrats To Have 2 Crab Feasts, Aug. 7-28

At a meeting of Democratic Organization leaders on Tuesday headed by Senator William R. Wilson plans were shaped and dates set for two crab feasts which are to be held in August.

The first of these affairs, to take the form of political rallies and serve as opening guns for the campaign, will be held at Rolph's Beach in upper Queen Anne's on August 7 from 5 to 8 p. m.

The other is scheduled for either Kent Narrows or Love Point on August 28 at the same hours. Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough is to be the guest of honor at both affairs.

TWO WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

Oscar Lord, Jr., of Templeville, has been awarded a four-year scholarship to St. John's College, and Carlton Gooden, of Marydel, will go to Western Maryland, according to announcements last week by Senator Wilmer Davis of Caroline County.

Lord was a member of this year's graduating class at Greensboro High School.

COMMANDER COPP VISITS

Commander Charles C. Copp of the U. S. Navy and Mrs. Copp, of Philadelphia, were visitors to Camp Gunston last Saturday where their son, Mr. Buport Copp, is an instructor. Later in the day they renewed acquaintances with Mr. Vernon Grant at "Picnic Point." The Copps and Mr. Grant met in Shanghai last year on a round-the-world cruise.
