Under the Waves.

In his cheeks my brave love bore roses;
Life-warm the grasp of his hand,
The warmth that a true heart discloses,
And true hearts understand.

How then should I think of my lover,
And how of his dear face speak,
If not with the smiles dancing over,
The roses set in his check?

Still red in his checks are the roses
'Mid the sea-winds roughly blown;
Still my hand in his hand reposes,
While the hot tears fall—my own!

So, how should I dream of my lover,
Nor dream of his love and truth?
And how should my fancy discover
A vision of Death in youth?

And yet, fool, oh, fool! my brave lover
Is lying the waves below;
And their weight sweeps cruelly over
The red roses turned to snow!

BAKED INDIA PUDDING.—Take two quarts of sweet milk, and boil one quart, and while boiling stir in as much fine Indian meal as will make a very stiff batter; add a teaspoonful of salt, and make very sweet with molasses. Butter a pan, and pour the remaining quart of cold milk over it. Cut little bits of butter and put on the top, and bake two hours in a moderate oven.

A correspondent, speaking of the difficulty of swine driving, says it is as easy as whistling after you know how, to wit: To the end of a stout cord, tie an ear of corn; drop it in front of the pig, to within five or six inches of his nose, and commence walking away slowly in the direction you wish him to propel. If his pigship shows evidence of blighted hopes or abberration of mind by the singular conduct of the corn, persuade him it is all right by letting him have a brief nibble at it, and then resume your line of march. In this way, the most obdurate pig may be decoyed any reasonable distance.

THE FARMERS' CLUB.

FEEDING GRAIN TO SHEEP.—A farmer asked whether oats were good for them. F. D. Curtis said there was no better feed for sheep than oats; by beginning moderately, a quart a day would do no harm, but a great deal of good. Wheat-bran mixed with the oats makes a very useful change of feed, as also oil-cake meal. Mr. Wolf, from the Rocky Mountains, said what he knew about sheep was that rye was the best grain to feed them with. If he had rye for his sheep he would engage to bring them out fit for the butcher in the Spring with no additional feed but wheat straw. A farmer from Pennsylvania said in his State rye and buckwheat were the chief grains fed to sheep, and occasionally a little corn, with wheat bran or oats mixed, was given for a change. Sheep did better on a variety of feed; their appetite was thus better kept up when on dry feed.

SHOULD SEED BE CHANGED?—H. C. Dickinson, Pa., inquired whether it was necessary to procure a change of seed on a farm to improve the crops. F. D. Curtis said not at all; good soil will make good crops, and seed will not deteriorate. H. Stewart differed with Mr. Curtis. There was an influence exerted by the climate. California wheat could not be made to retain its peculiarities in the Eastern States. New Brunswick oats, which weighed forty-seven pounds to the bushel, had in Pennsylvania deteriorated very much in weight; but when the light oats had been sent to Canada it regained its plumpness and weight; the same was true of Early Rose potatoes, and this was the experience of most farmers. Corn seemed to be an exception, but wheat, oats and potato seed ought to be changed occasionally.

TREE-PEDDLERS AND "HOSPITAL STOCK."—H. B. Zarnell, Illinois, Pa., asked what remedy there was against the tree-peddlers who swindled farmers. P. T. Quinn said farmers should not purchase from them, but send orders direct to the nurserymen, who, valuing their reputation, would not send out poor stock, nor any man that was not true to name. Nurserymen had sometimes trees which were poor, or whose labels had become lost. These were lumped together as "hospital stock," and sold to the peddlers at low prices, and farmers who got them were swindled. F. D. Curtis said here was the cause of the "milk in the cocoanut." It was well that farmers understood this. It would then be seen that nurserymen were to blame in selling this inferior stock, which should be destroyed, and not put into circulation by peddlers, who had to shoulder the blame. Farmers were not posted as business men, and if it were not for peddlers there would be fewer orchards; but nurserymen should not make them scapegoats for their own sins.

CLIPPING HORSES.—This subject was brought before the Club by F. D. Curtis, who supported the appplication of Mr. Bergh to the Legislature for an act to prevent the practice, as being a cruelty to animals. H. Stewart protested on behalf of those farmers and other owners of horses who felt that clipping was necessary for the comfort and health of a class of animals which were burdened with an excessively heavy coat. Some horses needed to be clipped on this account, and it was an infringement of their owners' liberty to prevent them managing their horses in a way they knew and were advised by respectable veterinary surgeons to be proper. P. T. Quinn had had his ideas on this subject changed since he visited a large livery establishment in Newark, where he was assured without this practice many horses were lost this Winter, but since it had been adopted there was no disease or loss in the stable. Dr. Crowley said he should continue to clip his horse and take the consequences.

SUNDEY MATTERS.—An Illinois farmer was advised not to plant cranberries, the climate there was unsuitable. J. M. Weeks was advised to give his heifer, which had the distemper, warm mashes of wheat bran and barley malt twice a day, and a quart of tar-water every night. A farmer who asked if milk could be churned as well as the cream, was informed that it could, but that the practice had long ago been discarded as taking up too much time. A. S. Fuller said cherries should be grafted before the buds began to swell, and the scions should be carefully set. F. D. Curtis said the only preventive of sheep eating their wool was to shear them. L. A. Morrell, author of American Shepherd, said it was a practice incident to dry feed and confinement. Dr. Crowell had found linseed meal the best preventive of constipation in cattle or horses. F. D. Curtis said pure Suffolk hogs should have no black hairs; hogs invariably white should have no black about them. It was stated that one hundred and fifty pounds Peruvian guano and two hundred pounds of bone-dust would make an excellent dressing for grass lands.

Indiana papers tell of a broken-hearted widower, who has erected a pine-slab over the new-made grave of his wife, and has presented a costly piano to a young lady "who was very kind to him in his great affliction.

A VERY sad story of parental cruelty is reported from Poughkeepsie. An inquest was held on a young girl who died of "exposure," according to the verdict. THE EARTHQUAKE.—California newspapers contain voluminous dispatches relating to the earthquake, the axis of which was in the south-eastern part of the State. A Visalia dispatch says that fully 1,000 distinct shocks were felt. At Tibbet's Ranch, 15 miles above Independence, 40 acres of ground sank about seven feet below the surface of the surrounding country. Big Owen's Lake has risen four feet since the first shock. Owen's River runs over its bank, depositing shoals of fish on shore; afterward it receded. For a distance of three or four miles through Lone Pine the earth is cracked. One side remained stationary, while the other sank seven or eight feet, leaving a wall of earth, extending over three miles in length, where formerly was a level plain. Innumerable cracks were made throughout the valley. Kern and Owen's rivers turned and ran up stream for several minutes, leaving their beds dry; finally they returned with largely increased volumes of water. Some of the shocks were preceded by a deafening report, as though the mountains were being rent in two, while others were accompained by a low, continuous rumble, as of a train of cars running underground. None of the sufferers ever experienced anything so frightful in all their earthquake experience. At the last accounts the explosions and heavings still continue, though not so violently.

CRUEL TREATMENT.—The body of a young girl named Mary Long, was exhumed at Poughkeepsie New York, at the solicitation of her friends. When she died her body was left alone and one eye and the nose were torn away by rats. She was buried next day after her death in a secret manner, no funeral service being performed. The testimony at the inquest showed that for several years past her father, Edward Long, treated her in a brutal manner. He acknowledged that he sometimes tied her hands behind her and used a gag on her. One witness testified to seeing her bare headed, bare-shouldered, and barefooted, driving a team of horses for her father before a harrow in a field. The father walked behind her sowing seed and swinging a stout black whip with which he at times would lash the girl over the shoulders and legs, always using the but end of the whip on her shoulders. It was also stated that he tied her hands behind her and threw her into a creek. The verdict of the Coroner's jury stated that she died of exposure, but did not in any way refer to her father.

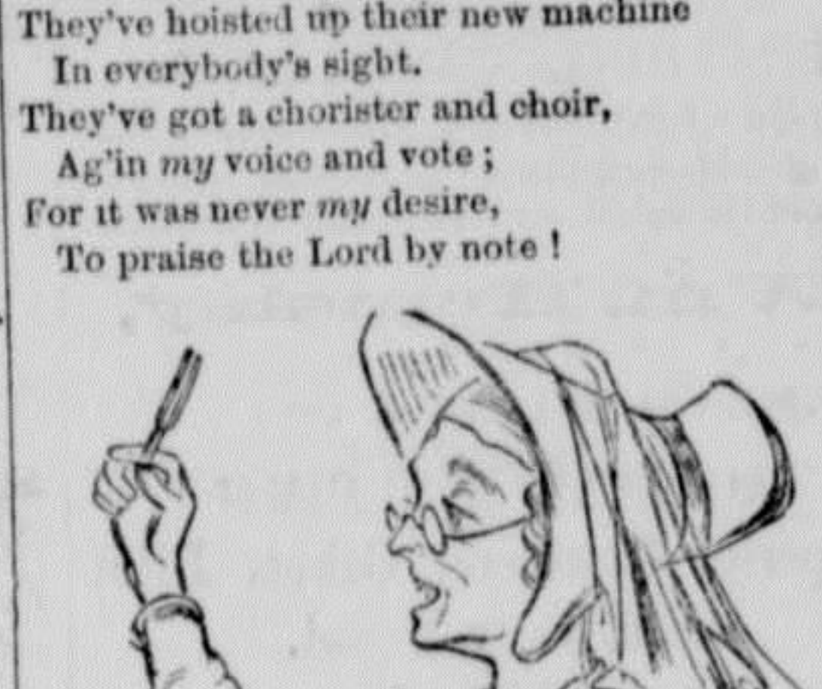

PAYING GENERALS.—The great Prussian generals have been receiving their douceurs for war services. Prince Frederick Charles, Count Moltke, and Gens. Von Roon and Manteuffel got $245,000 each; five others $150,000, and five more $75,000. Frugal Prussia thinks this rather too much of a good thing, but compared with the gold showered upon Marlborough and Wellington, it is the merest trifling. The places and pensions alone of the former and his wife amounted to $315,000 a year, and this did not include divers grants and allowances for building Blenheim. Wellington received grants to the amount of $3,500,000, and held appointments and pensions equal to at least $50,000 a year besides. Very few merchants have found business so paying a trade as these generals found war.

The New Church Organ.

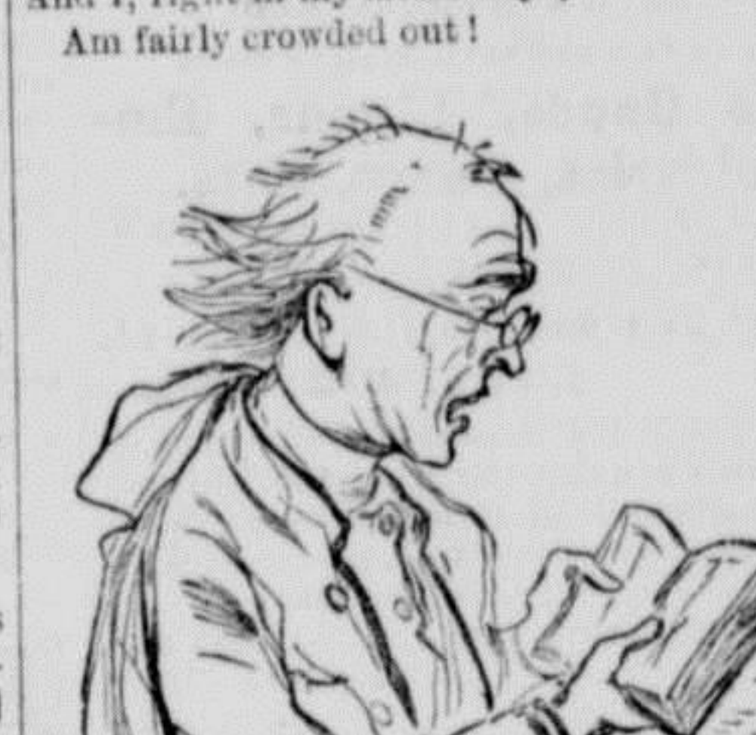

BY WILL M. CARLETON.

They've got a bran new organ, Sue,
For all their fuss and search;
They've done just as they said they'd do,
And fetched it into church.
They're bound the critter shall be seen,
And on the preacher's right,
They've hoisted up their new machine
In everybody's sight.
They've got a chorister and choir,
Ag'in my voice and vote;
For it was never my desire,
To praise the Lord by note!

And twice, when Deacon Tubbs was sick, I took the fork an' led!

I've been a sister good an' true
For five an' thirty year;
I've done what seemed my part to do,
An' prayed my duty clear;
I've sung the hymns both slow and quick,
Just as the preacher read,
And twice, when Deacon Tubbs was sick,
I took the fork an' led!
And now, their bold, new-fangled ways
Is comin' all about;
And I, right in my latter days,
Am fairly crowded out!

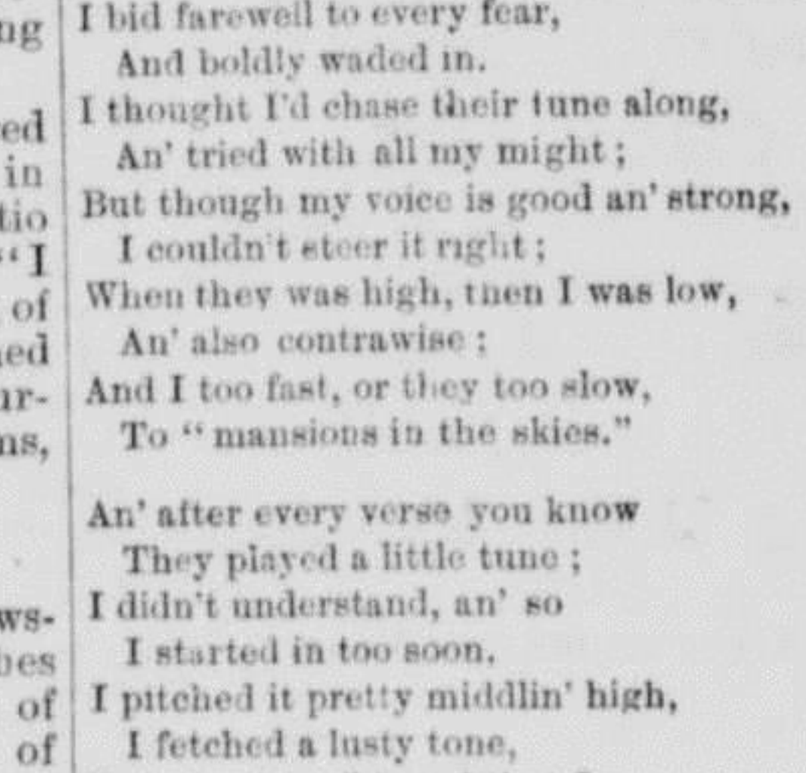

To-day the preacher, good old dear, With tears all in his eyes,

To-day the preacher, good old dear,
With tears all in his eyes,
Read —— "I can read my title clear
To mansions in the skies."
I allays liked that blessed hymn—
I s'pose I al'ays will;
It somehow gratifies my whim,
In good old Ortonville;
But when that choir got up to sing,
I couldn't catch a word;
They sung the most dog-gondest thing
A body ever heard!

Some worldly chaps was standin' near,
An' when I seed them grin,
I bid farewell to every fear,
And boldly waded in.
I thought I'd chase their tune along,
An' tried with all my might;
But though my voice is good an' strong,
I couldn't steer it right;
When they was high, then I was low,
An' also contrawise;
And I too fast, or they too slow,
To "mansions in the skies."

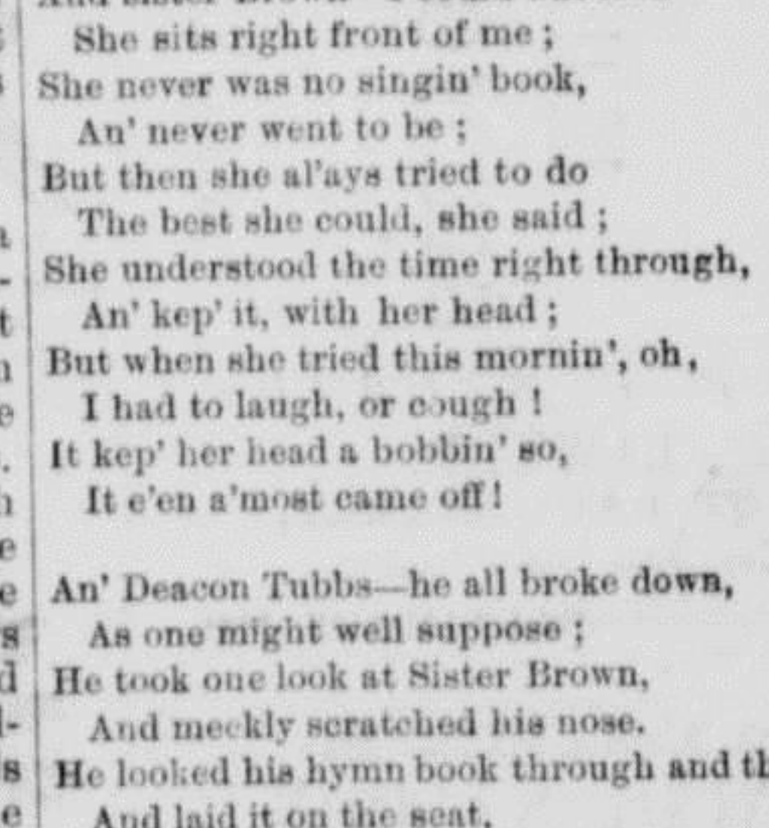

An' after every verse you know
They played a little tune;
I didn't understand, an' so
I started in too soon.
I pitched it pretty middlin' high,
I fetched a lusty tone,
But oh, alas! I found that I
Was singin' there alone!
They laughed a little, I am told;
But I had done my best;
And not a wave of trouble rolled
Across my peaceful breast.

She understood the time right through. An' kep' it, with her head;

And sister Brown—I could but look—
She sits right front of me;
She never was no singin' book,
An' never went to be;
But then she al'ays tried to do
The best she could, she said;
She understood the time right through,
An' kep' it, with her head;
But when she tried this mornin', oh,
I had to laugh, or cough!
It kep' her head a bobbin' so,
It e'en a'most came off!

An' Deacon Tubbs—he all broke down,
As one might well suppose;
He took one look at Sister Brown,
And meekly scratched his nose.
He looked his hymn book through and through
And laid it on the seat,
And then a pensive sigh he drew,
And looked completely beat.
An' when they took another bout,
He didn't even rise;
But drawed his red bandanner out,
An' wiped his weepin' eyes.

But drawed his red bandanner out, An' wiped his weepin' eyes.

I've been a sister, good an' true,
For five an' thirty year;
I've done what seemed my part to do,
An' prayed my duty clear;
But death will stop my voice, I know,
For he is on my track;
And some day, I to church will go,
And never more come back,
And when the folks get up to sing—
Whene'er that time shall be—
I do not want no patent thing
A squealin' over me!

Blood Diseases.

[The following we extract from a little book on Chronic Diseases, by R. V. PIERCE, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y. Our readers can receive this interesting and useful little book, post-paid, by enclosing one postage stamp to the doctor.]

ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, RINGWORMS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, ERUPTIONS, ROUGH SKIN, BOILS, CARBUNCLES, SCROFULA, FEVER SORES, WHITE SWELLINGS, TUMORS, OLD SORES OR ULCERS.

"The blood is the life." This is as true as a mathematical or any other scientific proposition, and one that should influence every physician. From the blood we derive our strength and mental capabilities. When this source is corrupted, the painful and sorrow-producing effects are visible in many shapes. From the blood our systems are built up and kept in repair. The strength of our constitutions, and our powers of endurance, and withstanding disease-producing agencies with impunity, depends largely upon the condition in which our blood is kept. If it holds in suspension or solution vile festering poisons, all organic functions are weakened thereby. Settling upon vital and important organs as the brain, lungs, liver and kidneys, the effect of these poisons in the blood is many times most disastrous. Hence, it behooves every one to keep their blood in a perfectly healthy condition. For when you purify your blood to cure Salt Rheum or an Erysipelas humor, you not only cure these diseases, but you put your system in such an improved condition that you are not so liable to any other disease. In other words, you thereby fortify your systems against the encroachments of disease of all kinds. No matter what the external or exciting cause may be, the real direct cause of a large proportion of all chronic or lingering diseases is bad blood. The multifarious forms in which it manifests itself, would form subjects upon which I might write volumes. But as all the varied forms of disease which depend upon bad blood are cured, or best treated, by such medicines as take up from this fluid and excrete from the system the noxious elements, it is not of practical importance that I should describe each minutely. For instance, medical authors describe about fifty varieties of skin disease, but as they all require for their cure very similar treatment, it is of no practical utility to know just what name to apply to a certain form of skin disease, so you know how best to cure it. Then again, I might go on and describe various kinds of scrofulous sores, fever sores, white swellings, enlarged glands, and ulcers of varying appearances; but as all these various appearing manifestations of bad blood are cured by uniform means, I deem such a course unnecessary. Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the great fountain of life, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will all return to us.

The liver is the great depurating or blood cleansing organ of the system. Set the great housekeeper of our health at work, and the foul corruptions which gender in the blood, rot out, as it were, the machinery of life, are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is pre-eminently the article needed. It cures every kind of humor, from the worst scrofula to the common pimple, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kindly heal under its mighty curative influence. Virulent poisons that lurk in the system are by it robbed of their terrors, and by a persevering and somewhat protracted use of it, the most tainted systems may be completely renovated and built up anew.

Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings, dwindle away and disappear under the influence of this great resolvent. The system being put under its influence for a few weeks, the skin becomes smooth, clear, soft and velvety, and being illuminated with the glow of perfect health from within, true beauty stands forth in all its glory. The effects of all medicines which operate upon the system through the medium of the blood are necessarily somewhat slow, no matter how good the remedy employed. While one to three bottles will clear the skin of pimples, a dozen, or even a dozen and a half may be required to cure some cases where the system is rotten with scrofulous or other poisons. The cure of all these diseases, however, from the common pimple to the worst scrofula, is, with the use of this most potent agent, only a matter of time.

How to Ornament the Hair.

All that art can accomplish in beautifying, strengthening, thickening, and perpetuating the human hair, is effected by the use of BURNETT'S COCOAINE. There is a stimulating property in this preparation, which literally compels a rapid growth of the fibres, while its emollient action renders them silky and elastic. It is the best and cheapest hair-dressing and invigorator in the world. So say the masses who use it. Your druggist has it.

PUBLIC SPEAKERS and singers will find "Brown's Bronchial Troches," beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after any exertion of the vocal organs. For Coughs and Colds the Troches are effectual.—Com.

THE purest and sweetest Cod-Liver Oil in the world is HAZARD & CASWELL'S, made on the sea-shore, from fresh, selected livers, by CASWELL, HAZARD & Co., New York. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have decided it superior to any of the other oils in market.—Com.

A Sad Falling Out.—It is indeed a sad falling out when, after years of the closest intimacy, the hair parts company with the head. Fortunately the lamentable separation may be easily prevented and the twain more closely united than ever by a timely and systematic use of LYON'S KATHAIRON, the most potent invigorant of the hair and promoter of its growth and beauty known to modern pharmacy. It completely obviates the dry and parched condition of the roots of the hair, which is preliminary to its coming out, by supplying the precise degree of moisture requisite to its preservation in a healthy state. It is the only true dissolvent and evaporant of dandruff and other impurities of the scalp, whose presence is injurious to the hair. As a beautifier of the head the Kathairon has no equal. It not only increases the quantity of the hair, but improves its quality immediately, imparting a lustrous appearance and silky texture which are exceedingly attractive.

If a man wants a Bottle of Whiskey, let him buy it and take it home like a man, and not sneak home with a bottle of "Bitters," or "Cordial," and pretend that it is medicine. If he wants a tonic that is something better than a temporary stimulant, he should get a bottle of Peruvian Syrup, (an Iron Tonic,) that will vitalize the blood and give durable strength to the system.

WINNING GOLDEN OPINIONS.—Perhaps no man living has won more golden opinions that Dr. Walker, as the enormous and widely increasing sale of his CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS attests. We never look into one of our exchanges, but there is a panegyric of the Bitters staring us in the face. Our readers will say there must be a reason for all this praise. They are right. The efficacy of this celebrated medicine is established by evidence which it is impossible to doubt. Among the thousands who have borne testimony to its excellence, there is not one dissentient voice. In very many phases of inorganic disease it seems to be unfailing. All diseases arising from a vitiated state of the blood are surely eradicated by it. It is an effectual remedy for pulmonary complaints, billious, remittent and intermittent fevers, rheumatism and dyspepsia. It purges the body of all unhealthy humors, gives tone to the system, and where the vital powers are enfeebled, restores their functions to vigorous and healthy action. All this it does the more effectually because its operation is not interfered with by the presence of alcohol. The VINEGAR BITTERS is perfectly free from any such hurtful ingredient. We have always believed that plants contain the true remedies for disease, and all the remedies necessary. Dr. Walker is on the line of progress and we hope that he will not rest on his present discoveries.—Com.

RUPTURE can be cured without suffering. Elastic Trusses are superseding all others. Before buying Metal Trusses or Supporters, send for a discriptive circular to the Elastic Truss Co., 683 Broadway, N. Y.—Com.

HOW CAN YOU STOP IT? WHERE IS THE REMEDY?

Allen's Lung Balsam can produce more evidence of real merit than any other article for the purpose. It is sold everywhere by Druggists and general store-keepers.

Read the following extract from a letter received from Mr. S. E. Burwell, a well-known merchant of Ontario:

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON.—

Dear Sirs,—Last autumn I was suffering from a severe cold which settled on my Lungs and produced a distressing cough for which I gave trial to a number of Cough Medicines without any benefit. I at last tried one bottle of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, which I am happy to be able to state gave almost immediate relief, and performed a perfect cure in a short time.

Yours truly,
S. E. BURWELL.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL is the inventor of several medical preparations which have become very popular and have been liberally used. Among his inventions are "Hall's Balsam for the Lungs" and "Liverwort and Tar." For the past ten years a better Lung remedy has been offered to the public. Read the following letter from DR. SCOVILL referring to it:

Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & Co.—

Gents,—I make the following statement from a perfect conviction and knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated PULMONARY CONSUMPTION! I have witnessed its effects on the young and the old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the phlegm and matter to raise, without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs), and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops the night-sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours, respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

How Not to Die.

Thousands fall a prey to disease not because the maladies that affect them are necessarily fatal, but because they lack the requisite amount of active vitality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy. It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to "fend off" the germs of epidemic and other disorders, and to baffle the evil influence of damp miasma and sudden thermometrical changes. There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted to this purpose, and for the simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world. During the twenty years that it has been in general use, ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class, and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age, its introduction into every civilized portion of the western hemisphere, and an annual sale which dwarfs into insignificance the demand for all its would-be competitors.

The record upon which its popularity rests is a curiosity in medical literature, for it includes an almost unlimited variety of human ailments and disabilities. In fact, no other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues, and it is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine.

CULINARY PREPARATIONS
INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDER
FLAVORING EXTRACTS
LEMON VANILLA ROSE &C
SUGAR of LEMONS
PORTABLE LEMONADE
OFFICE 77 STATE ST.
BOSTON.

The subscribers were the originators of the articles named above, and have made them for a quarter of a century and they claim that they are as good as any, if not the best.

The cooking or flavoring extracts are pure and healthful, and are the true flavors of the articles they represent.

The Infallible Yeast Powders are the oldest, the strongest, the best and consequently the cheapest.

The Sugar of Lemons is made from the fruit and pure sugar, and flavored with the lemon peel, and is well adapted for the sick, for travelers, voyagers, and others who cannot readily procure the fresh fruit.

Since these goods have been introduced to the public a host of imitators have sprung up, and so many worthless or hurtful articles have been sold as "Extract," "Baking Powder," and "Lemonade Powder," as to bring discredit upon all. Our old customers will find that our goods are as good in quality as when we first made them.
