THE subscriber begs leave to return his most sincere thanks to the public, and particularly those gentlemen who kindly favored him with their patronage during the time he kept a public house at No. 4, South Gay-street. He has been deceived, inasmuch as several persons whom he viewed as friends have turned out traitors, who were leading him into the most destructive paths in this world, to the injury of both his character and small property However, he has found them out, though too late for his good. He is unfortunately a stranger in this country, but in a particular manner he is a stranger to the laws of this city—and not knowing the decree or decrees of the honorable mayor and city council, he has been obliged to pay and repay fines, occasioned by certain low, bad intentioned fellows. He therefore gives public notice, that from this day declines keeping a public house, and hereafter none but his friends, and gentlemen for their peaceable amusement, shall play at his PRIVATE BILLIARD TABLE. He does promise that he will prevent common sort of persons from making free as they would at a public house.

To please his friends he will provide news from the north and south, &c. and shall do all in his power to accommodate them, and all he asks in return, is their esteem and good will.

The public's obedient and humble servant,
I. G. SEGERSTROM.*

N. B. All those indebted are requested to make payment, as he must pay those to whom he is indebted—at least, they will please to call and make settlements to prevent bad consequences.
