NEW-YORK, April 6.

We are informed, that in consequence of several impositions in the sale of goods, as imported into the United States from Great-Britain, the following clause is now inserted in all Italian and American policies, at Lloyd's:

"In case the ship or cargo receive damage on the voyage, the goods shall be inspected by one or more British merchants uninterested in the same, and that in the presence of the captain; and if it shall then appear, by their certificate on oath, the goods have received damage by sea or water, that such goods only as may be damaged, shall be sold for account of the underwriters."

Riot at the State Prison.

From a report made to the inspectors of the state prison, by captain Pray the principal keeper, it appeares that Daniel M'Donald, who was convicted at Albany for horse-stealing, and sentenced for seven years to hard labor in the state prison, was the ringleader in the attempt of the prisoners to escape from that building on Monday last. On one of the keepers going into the shoemaker's apartment that afternoon, he was informed of their intentions by M'Donald, who assured him that he should not be hurt; that he had been unjustly punished, and that he would escape over the walls of the prison that night. Several of the prisoners then proceeded to put their plan into execution; but it appears that they were by no means generally disposed to follow the example of their leader. On the rioters entering the yard, the smiths and nailers at work there, almost to a man refused to join them; but came forward to the keepers, and offered to protect them at the risque of their lives. On the alarm being given the guard of the prison stood ready to oppose them. The prisoners were then mounting the wall by the help of the scaffold, and on the guards calling on them to desist, they in return received very abusive language; and had brick-bats and hammers thrown at them.

Finding that coercive measures must be taken, they fired, and killed Isaac Lytle, from Washington county, who at the instant of the firing put his head out of a window, though not concerned in the riot; mortally wounded a man by the name of John Palmer (since dead) and wounded three others, viz. Henry Massenburg, —— Gilbert, and David Buck, all of them dangerously. During the riot the prisoners set fire to one of the rooms, but it was put out before any injury had been sustained.

PHILADELPHA, April 7.

Extract of a letter from Aux-Cayes, dated 10th March, 1803.

"In my last I gave you a sketch of what passed until then. Things have taken a much more unfavorable turn since that time; the brigands of the west having broken the cordon, penetrated to Arquin, which they burned, after having massacred all the sick in the hospital, and taking a circuitous route by L'Azil, reached our quarter, and formed a junction with those with whom we had already to contend. This obliged the different adjacent camps and parishes to retire into town, when they were immediately besieged. On Sunday last general La Plume made a sortie, but was obliged to retreat into town, with the loss of 2 or 3 killed, and several wounded. The loss of the brigands could not be ascertained; but I presume (having been present at the action) that it must have been much more considerable, although we were not victorious. This skirmish animated them considerably, and in the morning general La Plume received a summons to surrender in two hours, threatening, in case of refusal to storm the town, and put every soul to death. They were answered by two coups de canon, which dispersed them.

We were, however, attacked the next morning, a la diare but they were routed with great slaughter, leaving between two and three hundred killed. A part of their wounded they carried off. In their flight they left nearly 300 muskets, which have been since found, and it is supposed that many more were lost, as we find them continually in the ditches and among the bushes, canes, &c. Our victory was so complete that they raised the siege next morning. This may however have been owing to another reason—the arrival of 800 troops at Tiberoon, under gen. Sarazin, of which I presume they were apprised at the time of attack, or at least soon after their defeat. The news reached us yesterday, and we expect them here tomorrow. Gen. Rochambeau is daily expected with 4 or 5000 men. Should he arrive with such a reinforcement, we shall be perfectly secure."

Arrived, schooner Liberty, Dove, Charleston, 10 days.

Schooner Jefferson, Watkins, from hence, has arrived at Surrinam.

American vessels at Aux-Cayes, March 13.

Schooner Messenger, Burrows, of Philadelphia, to sail in 6 or 7 days; and sloop James, Kerney, of ditto; brig Friendship, Wellman, and brig Plymouth, Bradshaw, of Salem; captain Rob, in a brig, and captain Long, in a schooner both of Baltimore; captain Chase, in a schooner from New-York; brig Washington Guiller, of Charleston.

FEDERAL GAZETTE.

FRIDAY, April 8.

A letter, we learn, is in town, from Barbados, dated the 7th March, stating that the merchants and traders of Barbados had petitioned the legislature for the exclusion of all foreign vessels from an intercourse with the island, which, it was expected, would be granted.

Yesterday morning a great number of our citizens went in search of the body of Mr. Waybel, of Elk-Ridge, supposed to have been murdered on his way from this city to his home, on Wednesday evening, the 30th ult. After a search throughout the day, they returned without finding the body. Some things, however, were found, which gave rise to suspicion, and two negroes were in consequence, brought before Robert Gorsuch, esquire, who after a strict enquiry, were committed to goal for further examination.

Mr. Cooper, it is said, is to receive 500 guineas per annum, and a benefit, which is computed to be worth 1000 guineas, for his performance at Drury Lane theatre.

The Marquis La Fayette.—A late London paper mentions that M. La Fayette had broken his thigh, from a fall on the ice, as he was coming out from the office of the minister of marine.

We understand that several citizens of the United States have taken up their residence at Owhyhee, the king of which is particularly friendly to the people of this country; and in his visit in his boat to the vessels which arrive at the island, always has an American ensign hoisted. A native, who has been at Boston, is treated with peculiar marks of distinction.

[Boston paper.]

The pope has exempted from the duty of customs all foreign oil which shall be imported into his dominions during the year 1803.

Departed this life at Barbados, on the 4th March last, Mr. Bennet Neale, in the 23d year of his age, formerly merchant of this city. His parents, brothers and friends have to bemoan the untimely death of this promising young man, whose loss to them and the last impressions of his sincere esteem shall never be extinct from the memory of the writer hereof.

His complaint, which was of a pulmonary kind, gave him warning of the end alloted for man—to which it may be truly said that but few submitted with more resignation and fortitude.

As is very common for a person of his age, he wished to arrest the gloomy day of death, as long as was possible—to effect which he had repaired to the different springs, and on his return to Baltimore, was advised by the first medical gentlemen to try Barbados—but all, alas, poor youth, was in vain. A few minutes before his exit, he called his friends near him, returned them many thanks for the trouble he had caused them, and then setting up in his bed, he bade them adieu, and the lamp of life was extinguished without a groan. Too much cannot be said in praise of Mr. James Philips, merchant, at Barbados, to whom Mr. Bennet Neale was addressed—and of his humane kindness rendered on every occasion, his relations and friends will never be unmindful.

Extract of a letter, dated Madrid, December 21, 1802.

"Your ships are refused an entry, owing to the fear of the yellow-fever. Some arrangements ought to be made between the two governments. Your charge des affaires, Mr. Graham, is remonstrating. He is an active and well informed man, I cannot say as much for his principal (Mr. Pinckney) who is gone to amuse himself in Italy. Your citizens are falling in from all parts of the Spanish dominions to claim for injuries done. They will spend much money, and nothing will be done for them. Many are from the river Plata."

IMPORTANT!

LETTER from the honorable A. C. HANSON, Esquire, chancellor of the state of Maryland—

To the Editor of the Maryland Gazette.

SIR—For the good of the public, as well as from a desire to do justice to a man of merit and genius, I request you to publish the following cases:

A young man in my family, who had read Dr. Hamilton's advertisement, and who had, for some time, as he says, experienced the symptoms described by doctor, as indicating the presence of worms in the human stomach or intestines, resolved, without consulting any person whatever, to try the doctor's remedy.

He accordingly procured a box of the Lozenges. Last evening he took 4 of the yellow, and this morning he took an equal number of the brown kind. They did not, as he says, operate harshly, except one stool, when he felt considerable griping, and when there came from him a worm, perfectly white, about a yard in length, as broad as his little finger, and having a number of joints, about an inch or 1¼ of an inch distant from each other.

Besides this worm, he says there came from him a considerable number of flat worms, about ¾ of an inch in length, and nearly the same in breadth. He did not think of counting them, but he says there were more than 20.

I regret extremely that I had not an opportunity of seeing the tape worm; the young man not having, as he ought to have done, taken measures for preserving it, and the simple servant girl who attended his chamber, having, before I had heard of his taking the medicine, thrown it and the other worms into the necessary, not thinking it of consequence to take care of them. This girl, however, and another servant concur with him respecting the worms which appeared in the vessel; and the tape worm, they say, was alive, so far as to have motion after it came from him.

It is needless to describe his symptoms, as he says they were exactly such as are described by the doctor.

Another young man of my family also, without any consultation or advice, one evening and morning, about three months ago, took seven Lozenges, which operated powerfully. No worm came from him; but in the course of two or three days, he was quite well, and has since had a considerable accession of flesh and strength.

In short, although I, like many others, have been incredulous with respect the virtue of Hamilton's Lozenges; I am, at length perfectly convinced of their great efficacy and utility.

As I cannot reasonably be supposed to have any motive, except a consideration for public good, for publishing these cases, I flatter myself that I shall not incur ridicule or censure from thinking men, for adding my second-hand testimony to the evidence of the numerous respectable characters, who have aimed to render justice to Dr. Hamilton (with whom I have not the slightest acquaintance) and to give important information to their fellow creatures.

I think it not amiss to add, that, from the healthy appearance of the young man, who has been so greatly and quickly relieved, I should have ridiculed his symptoms and apprehensions, had he communicated them to me before he took the Lozenges. The fact, I am persuaded, is, that most young persons, who are, from time to time, disordered without a visible or apparent cause, are afflicted by worms.

A. C. HANSON.

Annapolis, Sept. 18, 1802.

THE Medicine above alluded to has received the approbation of respectable gentlemen in every situation in life, and in all parts of the United States: it has stood the test of 5 years extensive experience, and, it is believed on good grounds, that nearly Two Hundred Thousand persons have received benefit therefrom—from the infant to the aged of both sexes, and under every circumstance; and notwithstanding the attempts of several envious persons to impose counterfeits on the public, yet the present demand for HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES is much greater than it has been at any former period; and it is probable that no advertised medicine ever acquired an equal reputation.
