A CARD.

H. O. HEBERT (from Philadelphia) ſolicits the attention of the citizens of Baltimore in general, and invalids in particular, to his "Air Pump Vapo Bath," a machine conſtructed on true philoſophical principles, the efficacy of which in gout, rheumatiſm, palſy, contractions and enlargements of joints, withered and enlarged limbs, cutaneous and many other diſeaſes, both chronic and acute, can be teſtified by many reſpectable perſons who have had recourſe to it.

This machine comprehends and combines the application of fermentation and the cupping glaſs, two of the moſt powerful external applications for the removal of diſeaſe, and that on a plan more extenſive than was ever before known.

As many perſons who have never ſeen the apparatus might be deterred from uſing it, either from the reports of prejudiced perſons, or fear, they are reſpectfully aſſured that its application is not attended with either pain or inconvenience—it poſſeſſes all the good effects of warm bathing, without its attendant conſequences, debility and relaxation; on the contrary, it invigorates and ſtrengthens the whole ſyſtem, but particularly the part to which the machine is applied. Perſons deſirous of further information reſpecting the nature and effects of this machine, will pleaſe to apply to the proprietor, at Bryden's hotel.

N. B. "The Air Pump Vapor Bath" is particularly adapted for the removal of all obſtructions occaſioned by violent colds, which are the forerunners of conſumptions, &c.

Complaints peculiarly incident to females, which too generally baffle the remedies hitherto applied, and to which they frequently fall victims in the prime of life, are readily and effectually removed by the application of this machine.

FOR PUBLISHING BY SUBSCRIPTION,

That rare and celebrated work,

The Life of Lorenzo De' Medici,

CALLED THE MAGNIFICENT.

By WILLIAM ROSCOE.

CONDITIONS.

The work will be elegantly printed on a handſome type and ſuperfine paper, and will be compriſed in three octavo volumes, of about 450 pages each.

It ſhall be embelliſhed with ſeventeen handſome engravings, one of which is an elegant likeneſs of Lorenzo.

The price to ſubſcribers will be two dollars and twenty-five cents a volume, in boards, to be paid on delivery. The London octavo edition ſells for twelve dollars, and can ſcarcely be procured in this country.

The firſt volume will be put to preſs as ſoon as two hundred and fifty ſubſcribers are obtained, and will be finiſhed with all poſſible diſpatch. The other volumes will be finiſhed at intervals of one month.

Subſcriptions will be received at the office of the Gazette of the United States, and at the principal book-ſtores in the United States.

N. B. This edition will be printed from the fourth and laſt London edition, corrected.

Character of the work, extracted from the Purſuits of Literature, dialogue 3, line 257, and the note.

" But hark what ſolemn ſtrains from Arno's vales
Breathe raptures wafted on the Tuſcan gales!
Lorenzo rears again his awful head,
And feels his ancient glories round him ſpread;
The Muſes ſtarting from their trance revive,
And at their Roſcoe's bidding wake and live."

Note. " See 'The life of Lorenzo de' Medici, called the Magnificent, by William Roſcoe,' I cannot but congratulate the public upon this great and important addition to claſſical hiſtory, which I regard as a phenomenon in literature, in every point of view. For my own part, I have not terms ſufficient to expreſs my admiration of this author's genius and erudition, or my gratitude for the amuſement and information I have received. I ſhall not violate the dignity of the work by ſlight objections to ſome modes of expreſſion, or to a few words, or to ſome occaſional ſentiments in the Hiſtorian of a Republic. But I recommend it to our country as a work of unqueſtionable genius and of uncommon merit. It adds the name of Roſcoe to the very firſt rank of Hiſtorians."
