SHIPWRECK.

On Friday, Auguſt 19, the Swediſh galliot Friendſchaft, capt. Kaſten, off Beachy Head, fell in with the American ſchooner Montequeller, of Boſton, Albert Reitie, maſter, from Bremen, bound to St. Lucar, laden with linen. The ſchooner was then keel uppermoſt, having been ſome time before been upſet by a violent ſquall, and two of her crew drowned. The following perſons were taken from her bottom a few minutes before ſhe foundered, and were brought into Plymouth, (Eng.) by the Swediſh galliot on the 22d Auguſt: Albert Reitie, captain; Thomas Fergufon, mate, Seth Bloſſam, Deiderick Texter, John C. Behrens, and N. F. Peterſon, ſeamen; and John Sude, man, merchant. Had it not been for the providential appearance of the Friendſchaft, the whole of the crew muſt have periſhed, for there was but juſt time to take them from the bottom before the Montequeller ſunk.

Captain Ray of the ſhip Commerce, has handed for publication the following extracts from his Log-Book:

Auguſt 19th, was boarded by the Britiſh ſloop of Hazard, and after a ſhort detention was ſuffered to proceed. Auguſt 25, ſpoke a Guernſey privateer, was ordered aboard of her with my papers, notwithſtanding a rough ſea made it imprudent for a boat to paſs—had in company a French ſchooner prize from the grand bank with fiſh. The captain of the privateer related having fallen in 12 days before with a Spaniſh ſhip from the river de la Plata, into which he had fired a broadſide and ſent her into Guernſey. He had on board the privateer, the ſupercargo and part of the crew.

Auguſt 16th, was boarded by a Liverpool privateer, treated politely, and diſmiſſed; boarded again by the ſame privateer on the 29th of Auguſt, in company with a privateer from Briſtol. On the ſame day, ſpoke a Britiſh cutter, but was not boarded. September 21ſt, ſpoke the ſch'r Induſtry, Jonathan, 5 days from Marblehead, bound to the banks of Newfoundland. September 26th, ſpoke the ſloop Suſan, Hodge, from St. Lucie for Newburyport.

On the 28th September, was brought too by a Britiſh privateer, after firing 4 ſhots at us, diſmiſſed us without boarding Same night, ſpoke a ſchooner from Berbice, for Portland. September 30, off Cape-May, ſpoke a ſchooner from Newport, for Baltimore.

Ship Sir Hyde Parker, from La Plata, arrived at Falmouth, the 20th Auguſt

The following liſt of Philadelphia veſſels, left at St Thomas, by the ſloop Mary, on the 10th September, was politely forwarded us from the Lazaretto, by captain Swain.

The ſhip Active, Tremels; brig Sarah and Eliza, Whitehead; ſchooner Thetis, Geddes; Olive Branch, Bibren; ——, M'Cutchen, time of ſailing uncertain; and a number of others belonging to the different ſtates. The day he ſailed, a French privateer came in, in co. with an Engliſh privateer, of Tortola, which ſhe had captured after a ſhort action. Two men killed on board the Engliſh privateer.

From the Supplement to the Royal Gazette.

PORT ROYAL, Sept. 2.—Sailed, ſchrs. Mary, Knox, Philadelphia; Nancy, Le Bontillier, ditto; ſhip Hannah, Abbott, do. ſchr. Ann and Mary, Coulter, do. Diana, Moodie, New-Orleans.

KINGSTON, Sept. 3. Arrived ſchooner Rhoda, Green, from New-Orleans; Americana, Johnſon, Philadelphia; brig Lark, Holams, do. brig Jane, Logan, do.

The Racoon ſloop of war, capt. Biſſel, arrived at Montego-Bay on the 22d ultimo. On the 17th, near St. Jago de Cuba, captain Biſſell fell in with the French National brig Mutine, a very fine large veſſel, carrying eighteen long nine-pounders, and full of men, commanded by M. Raibaud, lieutenant de vaiſſeau, making her eſcape from Port-au-Paix to St. Jago. The Mutine attempted to croſs the Racoon's hawſe, but was prevented, and compelled to run on ſhore on the rocks in a ſmall bay near St. Jago, when ſhe ſtruck her colors, and was left a perfect wreck full of water. Two lieutenants and forty-two men, belonging to the Racoon, were abſent in prizes, at the time of the action. Several boats full of armed men were landed from the Mutine ſoon after ſhe ran aſhore. No accident happened to the crew of the Racoon, nor was any damage done to the rigging or ſails. The Racoon during her cruiſe, captured ten veſſels of different deſcriptions, ſeveral of which were allowed to depart with the paſſengers—four ſchrs. and a ſloop have been ſent into Port-Royal.

COUNTERFEIT BANK NOTES & EAGLES.

Extract of a letter from Lexington, Virginia, dated September 10.

"Yeſterday were apprehended in this town, for paſſing counterfeit notes on the bank of the United States, John Ramſay and Andrew Lattimore Love, both from the county of York, in South-Carolina. The notes are very well executed, and no material difference can be perceived between the preſident's name of the genuine and thoſe of the counterfeit—In Simpſon, the caſhier's name, the letter O is too high, and if ſtrictly examined the initial G. is too clumſily formed at the end, as it ends blunt and not carving out like the genuine. The Eagle is imperfect, its head and legs being ſo faint that they are ſcarcely viſible. They are all dated in 1799, 1800, & 1801; and ſome of the lateſt dates are affixed to the ſmalleſt numbers. The aggregate of the notes found in their poſſeſſion, including thoſe they had paſſed in the neighborhood which were immediately recovered, amounted to 1050 dollars---They are all 10 dollar notes, except two or three, which are of five and twenty---Five American eagles were likewiſe found with them, but the fraud may be eaſily diſcovered; they are in the firſt place too light weighing only about ſeventeen dollars and an half; and their being ſomewhat thicker in the middle than the edge, together with the badneſs of their execution, contribute to convince a perſon immediately that they are counterfeit; if theſe are not deemed ſufficient proofs, by taking a needle or ſome other ſharp-pointed inſtrument and ſcratching the gold on ſome prominent part of the coin the copper will diſtinctly appear.

A court will be called on Saturday the 17th inſtant, for examination of the above mentioned perſons."

From the CHARLESTON TIMES.

COMMERCIALLY IMPORTANT.

Doubts having gone abroad reſpecting the kind of protection a certificate obtained in America, would afford to a bankrupt on his removal to a foreign country, the following caſe was in conſequence made out, and tranſmitted to London; it has been lately returned, and together with the opinion of an eminent barriſter there, is now publiſhed for the information of the trading part of the community.

CASE.

A merchant reſident in one of the principal cities in the United States of America, becomes in the courſe of an extenſive commerce, largely indebted to a mercantile houſe in London; but through ſudden and heavy loſſes in trade, is reduced to bankruptcy. Conformably to the general law of the United States, he is called upon to diſcover the whole of his eſtate and effects whatſoever, and to aſſign the ſame over to truſtees, for the benefit of his creditors, receiving from them a certificate or diſcharge ſimilar to that granted to bankrupts by the law of England. The Britiſh creditor, by his attorney on the ſpot, refuſes to prove his debt, or come in under the commiſſion in America. It is aſked, whether the certificate obtained in America, in the city where the trader was domiciliated, duly authenticated by the commiſſioners, and by the court having juriſdiction in ſuch caſes, will not operate as a bar to the demand of the Britiſh creditor, in England, and elſewhere?

Anſwer "I am of opinion that the certificate which has been obtained in America, will operate as a bar to the demand of the Britiſh creditor; eſpecially as it appears he had an opportunity of benefitting with the reſt of the creditors."
