NEW-YORK, October 25.

Captain Bunker left Malaga the 14th September, and informs, the last accounts from Cadiz stated the combined fleets were in port, and were blockaded by a British fleet; the Carthagenea fleet were also in port; and captain B. understood that our affairs were likely to be adjusted with Spain. The United States frigate Constellation sailed in co. with captain Bunker, for the United States.

Captain Hammond, from St. Petersburg, informs, that the Russians were making every preparation for war—that five sail of the line were hauled outside of the mole at Cronstadt, and ready to sail at a moment's warning that there were in the harbor about 20 sail of the line, most of which were getting ready for sea—that one ship of the line and two frigates were launched at Petersburg the latter part of July—that three Russian frigates were cruizing in the Baltic and, that at present, the Russian army consisted of 600,000 men. A war with France was considered inevitable. A number of British ships had been taken up for the conveyance of troops to Lubec.

We have carefully examined our files of Bordeaux papers, by the Louisiana, which are to the 12th of September; and, though we have not discovered that a continental coalition had been formed at that date, or that was had actually broken out between France and the powers supposed to have coalesced, yet, from the articles we have translated, the reader will perceive that such an event is apparently not very remote. France has withdrawn into the interior to act as circumstances may render necessary, a great part of the troops originally intended for the invasion of England; Russia is marching her hordes towards the Austrian territories; and the emperor of Germany is embodying his legions in great numbers, to co-operate, as it is supposed, with Russia. all is bustle and warlike preparation; a few days later intelligence from Europe will most assuredly furnish us with matters of high political importance.

(Translated for the Mercantile Advertiser.)

PARIS, September 1.

The count de Cabentzel, ambassador from Austria, is expected to leave here daily.

They write from Madrid that the king has rendered public the recipe of Doctor Lafuente against the yellow-fever; it consists of taking from eight to ten ounces of quinquina, within the first 48 hours after the attack; the disorder thereby loses all its malignity. The doctor has given a volume of cases attested by the public authorities.

The immediate return of the emperor to St. Cloud is announced, but it is not believed that he will remain long there.

September 2

His excellency the minister of foreign affairs arrived at the imperial camp at Boulogne in the night between the 11th & 12th Fructidor, and on the morning of the 12th transacted business with the emperor.

That part of the imperial guard stationed at Paris, has departed for Strasburg; the companies of chasseurs will march to-day, and the grenadiers to-morrow.

His excellency marshal Massena is gone to Italy, to take the command of the French army.

It is reported that a body of French troops has entered Naples.

September 3.

Yesterday, at 2 o'clock, an extraordinary sitting of the conversative senate was held under the presidency of the arch-chancellor of the empire.

His majesty the emperor arrived at Malmaison this morning.

September 4.

It is generally believed that the senate on Monday discussed the propriety of restoring the old Calendar after the 1st day of January next.

September 5.

The division under gen. Oudinot, of 8000 grenadiers, composing the advanced guard, passed, by forced marches, on the 2d instant, through Cambrai, and was followed by four other divisions of 9000 men each.

By an imperial decree of the 9th Messidor, the island of Elba is re-united to the department of Corsica.

The combined squadrons left Ferrol on the 16th Thermidor, and entered Cadiz on the 4th Fructidor. Admiral Collingwood, with four ships and a frigate, entered the roads the same morning.

On the 14th inst. (Sept. 1st) the first division of the armed body commanded by marshal Davoust, arrived at Lille, and continued on the day following their march towards the Rhine. Three regiments of horse chasseurs and two regiments of hussars have also passed thro' that city on the same destination.

STRASBURG, August 30.

The new organization of the Austrian troops has been successfully effected. All the regiments of infantry will be composed of five battalions, and one of grenadiers. The last will have 600, and each of the other battalions 900 men.

According to the German papers the negociations between France and Austria continue without interruption. The same papers speak continually of the great movements making by the Russian troops in ci-devant Poland.—They state as certain that an army is forming there; but of its number, its object, or by whom it is to be commanded, they are uninformed.

September 1.

They write from Ratisbon, that the French charge d'affaires, on the 25th Aug. transmitted to the ministers and envoys resident in that city, a note the substance of which is that the emperor of the French has found it necessary to direct his attention to the movements of the troops and re-assembling the armies in Tyrol and on the frontiers of Italy; that he wishes to preserve his confidence in the pacific sentiments of Austria, but that he cannot dispense with demanding an explanation of the movements which are in agitation; that if this explanation should be unsatisfactory, a French army shall pass the Rhine, but that the princes and states of Germany may reckon upon the friendship of France, which has been manifested upon every occasion, and of which so many proofs have been given, &c.

We are assured that the note by which these explanations have been demanded has been presented to the court of Vienna, whose answer we wait for with the utmost anxiety.—In the mean time we know generally that the Austrian army formed at Wells, near Linz, in Upper Austria, has crossed the Inn, and taken military positions in Bavaria. We know know also, that the court of Munich has been officially informed of this measure.

PETERSBURG, August 10.

It is confirmed that our troops are taking a direction towards the provinces dependent on the house of Austria, and in particular towards Galicia and Silesia, and that they are assembling in the environs of Troppau and Jagerndorf. They speak also of bodies of troops which will be embarked, and that they will be joined by a foreign force.

FLORENCE, August 17.

An Austrian courier arrived here from Naples, brings intelligence that the court had quitted the capital, and had retired to Palermo. At the departure of the same courier a considerable fleet lay before Naples, but he was ignorant to what nation it belonged. The armed force under the orders of gen. Saint Cyr is concentrated in the two Abruzzes.

We are assured that the king of the Two Sicilies on being solicited to take a part in the differences which exist between France and England, has renewed his former declaration that he will observe the most scrupulous neutrality. Several couriers passed through this city within these few days, from Petersburg for Naples, with all possible expedition.

GENOA, August 24.

We have received news from Toulon of the arrival in that port of the squadron under the orders of M. Jerome Bonaparte. His progress has been retarded by tempestuous weather.

BOULOGNE, August 31.

That part of the French army on the sea coast, which has departed for the Rhine, marched in columns, in the same order which is practised in the camps; so that, when they arrive on the theatre of war, they will be found all formed and disposed for the operations of the campaign. A finer army was never seen, one more impatient for battle, or animated with the presage of certain victory.

The Western mail of last evening adds nothing to the general returns of election, we shall therefore postpone publishing it, till something further is received.

Unpleasant News.

The Huntingdon Gazette of the 19th inst. says—"The Post-rider informs us a malignant fever prevails in the vicinity and town of Mifflin, in Mifflin county.
