committee aforesaid, also their agreement to the first of the two resolutions referred to them on Friday last, with sundry amendments; and further, that the said committee of the whole house, not having time to go through the whole of the business referred to them, had directed him to move the house for leave to sit again.

On the question, that the committee of the whole house have leave to sit again,

It passed in the negative.

Ordered, That the report of the committee of the whole house do lie on the table.

Saturday, January 11.

The house proceeded to consider the report of the committee of the whole house made yesterday, on the report of the committee to whom was referred the message and communication from the president of the United States, of the 6th of December last, and sundry resolutions of the 3d and 7th instant—whereupon,

The resolution contained in the report of the committee on the president's message aforesaid being read in the words following, to wit:

"Resolved, That such number of troops, not exceeding as the president of the United States shall deem sufficient to protect the southern frontiers of the U. S. from Spanish inroad and insult, and to chastise the same, be immediately raised,"

The question was taken that the house do agree with the committee of the whole house in their disagreement to the same.

FEDERAL GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, APRIL 3.

One of the carts employed in filling out Chuch-street was yesterday overset by the meeting of another cart near the corner of Church-street and St. Paul's lane, when a little black boy who was riding in it was killed on the spot.

The Minerva, Price, hence, has arrived at Boston.

In the ship Young Factor, from Liverpool, came passenger B. Randall, late a seaman belonging to the ship Venus, Watts, of Baltimore from Amsterdam for the Isle of May which vessel was lost on the 15th of January on Goodwin Sands. One man perished with her. The captain and crew, after being seven hours in the longboat, were picked up by a British armed brig, and carried into North-Yarmouth.

[N. Y. paper.]

In Conway church yard, is the following inscription:—Here lies the body of William Hook, gent. the one and fortieth child of Nicholas Hook, esq. by Alice his wife; and father of twenty-seven children himself,—[London paper.]

A very great house in Hamburg, of the firm of Davids, has failed, the effects of which, it was feared, would be severely felt both in England and on the continent.

COMMUNICATION.

Every thing, says Madam Savigne, must have its time, even to the roasting of an egg. It appears from late proceedings in congress, that some of the friends of the people think it time to begin to roast the president.

The jacobins (for we still have a few of this ferocious tribe among us, notwithstanding the lessons they have received from France,) insinuate, that Mr. Randolph's attack upon the president proceeded from disappointment. It is not for us to say, good or bad, of Otho or Vitellius.* We may, however, be permitted to conjecture, that something has been done degrading to the nation.

At length, every body knows Mr. Jefferson to be—what the democrats themselves will soon call him.

It is said, the president has recently propounded the following question to the secretary of state, and means to communicate the answer to congress, in a confidential message, viz. "Whether, besides the real right of actual wrong, there be any other wrong necessary to cause the right to be." Mr. Gallatin, who was consulted by Mr. Madison, declared the question to be absolute nonsense; whereupon, the little man, taking up his hat, and making a bow to the Genevan, referred it to Mr. Dearborn, who has asked for time to consider it.

There are men possessed of less sagacity than a foundered horse, that will always look before he leaps. One clerk of the house of representatives has run headlong into a denunciation of the post-master-general, for a supposed attempt to hire a press to abuse certain measures and members of congress; without once reflecting, that a former secretary of state, aided by a member of congress, (both at present occupying high stations in the government,) not only employed a press to abuse and vilify certain measures and members of congress, but also contrived to pay its conductor, in part for these services, out of the public money.

* Mihi Galba, Otho, Vitellius, nec beneficio, nec injuriâ cogniti. Tacit.

Arrived, ship John and James, Langford, 24 days from Port-de-Paix—coffee—John and James Thompson. The ship Warren, Sterett, and schooner Luna, Betty, had arrived at Gonaives, from the Cape. On the coast experienced heavy gales, which compelled her to throw eight of her guns overboard. Saw a large armed ship off the Capes, which captain L. supposed, in all probability, was the American, Jones, from Port-au-Prince, for Philadelphia.

From the Telegraphe.

Mr. Dobbin,

A paragraph inserted in your paper of yesterday, extracted from a Kentucky paper of the 8th ult. is altogether destitute of foundation. My letters from St. Louis, are dated 1st of March, at which time the utmost harmony prevailed in that town. In fact, not more than six or eight disaffected inhabitants are to be found in all the territory of Upper Louisiana. How destitute of humanity must that heart be, that was capable of fabricating the savage paragraph above alluded to!
